REFORM OF THE SENATE

Mr. Hardy Moves His Resolution in the Legislature.

A Keen Debate Listened to by a Large Crowd.

Mr. Whitney's Amendment—Mr. Ross in Reply—An Adjournment at Midnight.

Toronto, March 17.—The fact that great public interest is taken in the question of senate reform was shown by the crowd that occupied the galleries of the legislature yesterday, when the premier moved the resolution of which he gave notice some days ago. Mr. Hardy's address in support of the resolution was worthy of the importance of the subject and the seriousness of the occasion. It was logical and convincing, and supported by an invincible array of facts. Mr. Whitney spoke at some length, twitting the government with being the mouthpiece of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. He moved an amendment expressing approval of the action of the senate in regard to the Yukon and Dr. Ross followed. Mr. Hardy's speech was listened to with delight by crowded galleries. The minister of education was in his happiest form, and his deliverance was, as usual, eloquent and witty, and scathing in its arraignment of the case advanced by the opposition side. Mr. Carscallen followed, but had not concluded when the house adjourned.

Mr. Hardy's resolution was as follows: "That in the opinion of this house the provisions of the British North America Act respecting the constitution and powers of the Senate of Canada are at variance with the well-understood principles of representative government, and should be brought more into harmony with those principles by an amendment to the said act, substantially providing that in case of disagreement between the House of Commons and the Senate, the point of difference shall be decided by a majority of the members of the two houses present and voting in a joint meeting."

Further, that it is the opinion of this house that the British North America Act should be so amended as to provide that the appointment of senators should be for a limited term of years, and not for life, as at present."

Premier Hardy, in speaking to the resolution said that after thirty years' experience, the system adopted at confederation had broken down; it had lost the confidence of the people, and become useless. The expectation of the fathers of confederation had been that a series of rapidly changing governments would produce an equilibrium. They did not foresee that one party would dominate for 25 years, and the other party for five years. The question was now how to bring the senate more in harmony with responsible government. Mr. Hardy thought that there were useful functions for a properly constituted senate. He claimed that this was not solely a Dominion question, but in part a provincial question, because the senate was originally established to preserve and protect the interests of the provinces. He quoted Sir John Macdonald to that effect. Hon. George Brown at confederation said that the appointment of senators for life would necessitate at some time an alteration in the law. There was not in any civilized constitutionally-governed country a body constituted just as was the senate of Canada. The essence of free government was responsibility to the people, direct or indirect. A trace of such responsibility could nowhere be found in the constitution of the senate. He referred to the resolution passed by the Ontario House in 1888, suggesting that half the senators, as vacancies occurred from time to time, should be appointed by the provincial legislatures. The present resolution did not close the door to such reforms. There were differences of opinion on both sides of the house, and therefore the government was forced to ask for a mild reform. The senate, as constituted today, with absolute power, could be more of a tyrant than any monarch or despot of modern times. The day has arrived, continued the speaker, when the senate must either be reformed or abolished by power in this country or by the people of this country. It cannot live; it cannot perpetuate itself as it now exists. That storm which was predicted at confederation will, if this resolution or something similar to it is not given heed to, burst upon this country. "I mean," continued Mr. Hardy, "the abolition of the senate by constitutional means, or I will not be certain that the people will not take the matter into their own hands, and reform it by some other means."

It seemed to be the pride of the present leader of the opposition, who was Mr. Hardy, to set himself up against the senate, to set himself up against the people. They had seen two great measures passed by the Commons rejected from party motives in the senate, and other measures introduced, or which would have been introduced withdrawn under compulsion. He concluded by reiterating that the senate must either be reformed or abolished.

Mr. Whitney followed in opposition to the resolution. He characterized it as revolutionary. Mr. Hardy was simply the mouthpiece of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and Mr. Hardy joy in his position as marionette and jumping-jack to the people at Ottawa. However, he gave Mr. Hardy credit for making some resistance to the pressure upon him from Ottawa.

Mr. Hardy—The honorable gentleman need not give me credit. There is no foundation for his remark. Mr. Whitney maintained that Mr. Hardy had unwillingly brought down the resolution. No doubt the senate had become an obstruction. It has become an obstruction to those who wish to exploit the treasury of the Dominion. He could not remember a single measure which the senate had stopped which should not have been stopped, with regard to the last year or two. If the senate of Canada in the thirty odd years of its existence had only done two good acts, namely, the rejection of the Yukon bill and the Drummond county railway bill, it would have been a distinct advantage to the people of Canada for all time to come. He denied that the government had any mandate to deal with senate reform.

The house adjourned at 6 o'clock. In the evening the galleries were packed. Mr. Whitney resumed his speech. The motion, he said, would never be received by the people of Canada or the British Parliament, to which an appeal might be made. The reign of the Liberal party in this country was a succession of failures. Party spirit was responsible for this attack on the senate. In conclusion, Mr. Whitney moved in amendment, seconded by Col. Matheson, that this house desires to express its hearty appreciation of the great public services rendered by the senate of Canada with reference to the Yukon bill and the Drummond county railway bill.

Mr. Ross replied in a brilliant address, a fuller report of which will be given tomorrow. He spoke for over two hours, and was followed by Mr. Carscallen, who talked till midnight. The house then adjourned.

YOUNGESTERS TAKE POISON

Got Hold of Deadly Medicines—One Dead.

Mr. Duncan Campbell, of Mayfair, Loses His Left Arm in a Cutting Box—Dead Infant Found Near Denfield.

Battle Creek, March 17.—Chauncey Gardner Harvey, aged 8 years, found some arsenic pills in the barn of Dr. Woolsey, a neighbor, and, supposing they were candies, ate them and died within a few hours. He is a son of Dr. Harvey.

Reading, Mich., March 17.—Late Wednesday evening the 2-year-old son of Andy Beem got hold of an aconite bottle and swallowed some of the contents. Physicians worked over him nearly all night, and there is some hope of his recovery.

STRUCK BY A FALLING TREE. As Daniel Taylor, reeve of Mosa, was working in the woods on Saturday, a tree he was felling became lodged in another one. The top of the falling tree was broken off and thrown back, striking Mr. Taylor on the top of the head. The injured man was taken home and Dr. McKillop summoned. Mr. Taylor now lies at the point of death, and, it is said, there is no hope of recovery.

CHEWED BY HORSES.

Dresden, March 17.—A fish peddler named John Wickert, who has been living at the home of Charles Shaw, lot 24, con. 7, Chatham township, was found dead in the barn last Monday, where he had gone to attend to his horses. When found he had been badly bitten on the head and neck by the horses. Dr. Wiley was called and examined the body. Crown Attorney Douglass, of Chatham, was notified of the matter. The man is supposed to have a brother residing near Kingston, but cannot be found.

SAD ACCIDENT AT MAYFAIR.

A sad accident happened on Tuesday afternoon to Duncan Campbell, the well-known sheep breeder of Mayfair, and brother of the provincial road commissioner. Mr. Campbell was feeding a steam fodder cutter, when his left hand got caught in the feeding rolls and was drawn into the knives, which cut it off inch by inch up to the wrist. Mr. Campbell managed to throw the machine out of gear, thus saving himself from a horrible death, as the engine was unable to hear the signal to stop the engine. Mr. Campbell was driven to Glencoe and Drs. Couss and McIntyre amputated the arm a couple of inches below the elbow.

BABY FOUND DEAD IN THE WOODS.

On Thursday the body of a dead infant, apparently about 10 days old, was found in the woods of Mr. Harry Boyd, a farmer living about one mile from Denfield. The discovery was made by a dog, which attracted the attention of a boy. The child had evidently been smothered, as its mouth was stuffed with a scarf, which also had been wrapped about the neck. The remains were inclosed in a rubber coat. Suspicion falls upon a strange man and woman, who were seen in the neighborhood. The man wore a grapher and a Persian lamb or black imitation fur cap. The woman was stout, with a black shawl or scarf over her head. Both were dark and apparently foreigners. They carried several bundles and valises. High Constable McLeod, of London, last night telephoned to the police of border cities and towns to apprehend the pair.

THE OLD WAY.

Of Treating Dyspepsia and Indigestion by Dieting a Dangerous and Useless One.

We say the old way, but really it is a very common one at present time, and many dyspeptics and physicians as well consider the first step to take in attempting to cure indigestion is to diet, either by selling the worst cases of dyspepsia, or to greatly diminish the quantity usually taken; in other words, the starvation plan is by many supposed to be the first essential.

The almost certain failure of the starvation cure for dyspepsia has been proven time and again, but still the moment dyspepsia makes its appearance a course of dieting is at once advised.

All this is radically wrong. It is foolish and unscientific to recommend dieting or starvation to a man suffering from dyspepsia, because indigestion itself starves every organ and every nerve and every fiber in the body.

What the dyspeptic wants is abundant nutrition, which means plenty of good, wholesome, well-cooked food and something to assist the weak stomach to digest it. This is exactly the purpose for which Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are adapted, and this is the method by which they cure the worst cases of dyspepsia. In other words, the patient eats plenty of wholesome food and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets digest it for him. In this way the system is nourished and the overworked stomach rested, and the food whether the stomach works or not. One of these tablets will digest 3,000 grains of meat or eggs.

Your druggist will tell you that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the best and safest remedy for stomach troubles, and every trial makes one more friend for this excellent preparation. Sold at 50 cents for full-sized package at all drug stores.

No man is so ignorant that he doesn't know what he would do if he were in your place. Discovered by a Woman. Another great discovery has been made, and that, too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery by purchasing a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking the first dose that she slept all night; and with two bottles has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus write W. C. Ham-nick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Sold by all druggists at 50 cents and $1. Every bottle guaranteed. For sale by W. T. Strong & Co.

The Case of Mr. James Brayley,

One of Hamilton's Enterprising Manufacturers, Causing a Great Deal of Comment.

He Had Made Up His Mind to Suffer Torture to His Dying Day, But Doan's Kidney Pills Have Made a Complete Cure.

The way in which Doane's Kidney Pills are curing the most severe cases of kidney complaint and urinary diseases in Hamilton, Ont., has set the whole city talking about them. People are asking for DOAN'S, and the druggists are kept busy supplying the demand.

One of the most remarkable cures by these pills is that of Mr. James Brayley, 58 King William street, the well-known manufacturer of saddlery hardware, punches, dies, etc.

Mr. Brayley states that for years he had been troubled with gravel and weakness of the kidneys. To pass water was excruciating agony, and the pain in his back was intense. He continued going from bad to worse till an operation had to be performed. Nothing seemed to do him any good, and, as he says himself, "I had made up my mind to suffer torture to my dying day."

But one day Mr. Brayley saw an advertisement of Doan's Kidney Pills, and he determined to give them a trial. He took one box, then another, then another, till he finished four boxes. By that time he began to get decided relief, and he continued taking them until all the pain had left his back.

"Now I am as limber as an eel," says he. "Instead of getting up a dozen times at night, I never get up more than once. My urine was thick with mucus, but now it is perfectly clear, and has no sediment of any kind. I am delighted to testify on behalf of Doan's Kidney Pills, as they cured me after the last ray of hope had fled." Doan's Kidney Pills are sold by all dealers at 50c. a box, or 3 for $1.25. Ask for Doan's and refuse all others.

Dr. Parmlee's Vegetable Pills are wonderful correctives of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and convey the food partaken of into healthy nutriment.

They are just the medicine to take if troubled with indigestion.
