

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Suggestions for the Housewife.

Cold cereals can be fried the same as mush; serve with gravy.

Nickel may be kept bright by being rubbed with wool saturated with ammonia.

Kid shoes may be kept soft and free from cracks by rubbing them once a week with a little pure glycerine or castor oil.

When brushing a room sweep toward the fireplace, otherwise the draft from the chimney draws the dust in that direction.

Table or other linen that is stained with raw egg should be well soaked in cold water first, as the hot water would set the egg.

It is said that syrup or cream will not drop from a pitcher on to the tablecloth if the nose of the pitcher is rubbed with butter.

After sponging patent leather with warm water and letting it dry while warm rub just a little sweet oil in it, then rub it well out with the finger.

To keep the hair in curl dissolve a lump or two of sugar in tea and with this moisten the hair slightly before putting it into the curling pins.

If possible change the furniture of a room about. This not only gives the room a fresh appearance, but saves wear on particular spots in carpets or rugs.

Take iron mold out of marble thus: Wet the spots with lemon juice or with oil of vitriol, let it remain for a quarter of an hour, then rub dry with a soft cloth.

A recipe for paste that will never dry or turn sour is one teaspoonful of powdered alum and ten drops of clove oil, added to a pint of smooth thick paste.

Picture wire may be used instead of tape to gather curtains on. Double back the end and the wire will run smoothly. Curtains run on wire do not sag in the middle.

To brighten a mirror rub with a clean cloth dipped in a cream made of white and cold water, to which a few drops of ammonia are added; polish well with old newspapers.

To remove a glass stopper catch the head of the stopper in the hinged space of the doorway, closing the door sufficiently to make it grasp the stopper firmly. Carefully turn the bottle.

Instead of putting pieces of potato into bottles to clean them and experience difficulty in taking out the potatoes, pour the water off of boiled potatoes into the bottles; let them soak, then wash in hot suds.

Try wet tea leaves as a means of destroying cockroaches. Just squeeze these with the hands and lay on sheets of paper near the hearth when shutting up for the night; the cockroaches go to the leaves and the tannin kills them.

Concerning Women.

Berlin has the distinction of having a hospital whose entire staff is composed of women. The hospital, as one might expect, is the outgrowth of a feminine mind. There is a similar institution in Savannah—the Telfair Hospital. Miss Mary Telfair left a fund sufficient to endow this institution, which has now upward of fifty beds.

An Egyptian princess, daughter of a former khedive of Egypt, is said to be anxious to go on the stage. In an offer she made to play, she said she would provide $500,000 of jewels, but in most plays something else than lavish display of jewelry is thought to be necessary, and this young woman does not seem to have offered to provide.

Miss Violet Hawk, the novelist, says that people pass their time not in enjoying the red-haired girl, but in explaining her, and that this must be stopped. Mrs. Ellnor Glyn thinks that red-haired women are always unhappy, and in the meantime the girl herself calls her hair auburn and is generally blissfully unconscious that she needs any sympathy.

A sociologist who has made a study of the wages paid the 5,000,000 women working for a living says that the low standard is due to a great extent to the fact that many women who live at home and have no need to work for their living, and consequently are making pin money and consequently cut down the wages of those needing the money.

The middle-class housewife is said to be the hardest-working woman in the country, as she not only does all her housework as a general thing but sews for her children, helps them with their studies and wastes her strength in many ways that life may be more enjoyable for them. She is usually broken down at an early age, and the fact that she is can be accounted for often by the fact that she has not learned the first principle of economy—that energy must not be wasted.

There have been many ingenious forms of honeymoon since the young couple in Mark Twain's story took theirs separately, but none more odd than that of Mr. and Mrs. Gourd, who on their wedding day in 1906 started to walk around the world. Last week they left Dover for Calais, having traversed Europe, Siberia, Japan, North America, South America and Africa—a distance of 60,000 miles. It sounds more than twice the distance necessary to cover before settling down to housekeeping and domesticity. It was Puck who used to put a girdle round the earth; this time it is Cupid.

Women Undertakers.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—Articles of incorporation are to be submitted today to five well-known women of Oakland, who will constitute the board of the California Women's Undertaking Company. The only mere man who figures in the organization is an attorney, whose services will not be needed after organization. The business will be entirely under the direction of women.

AT MURRAY'S.

It is generally accepted that the costumes on the stage are the greatest attraction for the ladies who go to see society plays. The actress at Murray's yesterday went a long way to confirm this impression.

The occasion was the introduction to Toronto of a novelty from Paris, which should become the talk of afternoon tea circles this week.

A stage has been constructed on the costume floor, and when the curtain is drawn a pretty reception room is shown to which from the entrance hall behind enter a group of young ladies attired in the very latest fashions.

The costumes vary from $300 imported models of coats and dresses to the more modestly priced creations of the firm, which are not less tasteful and beautiful in the materials selected.

Between three and five in the afternoon during the week Murray's have arranged to continue the display and daily refreshments are served in the china section from 4 till 5.30 daily.

There are six groups of costumes shown with a new set each day. The four ladies who wear the hats and gowns and wraps and other beautiful habits are brought from New York, and have been chosen for their skill in the art of correct dressing.

When the curtain was drawn yesterday on the stage, the model was shown standing in an evening wrap as the just returned home.

One after another of the exquisite costumes, including dresses, wraps, and evening costumes from Berlin, Paris and Vienna.

The invitations sent out are works of art in themselves and fittingly herald the novel and interesting exhibition provided.

NEW STYLE AEROPLANE.

Dayton. Stenographer Successful With His New Machine.

DAYTON, Ohio, Oct. 28.—Frank J. Heinelt has made a successful flight of 500 feet with an aeroplane materialized different from that of the Wright Brothers, in that in this machine the single plane principle is used, the Wright machine having double plane surfaces.

Altogether unknown in the aeronautic world, Heinelt has built three previous machines, paying his expenses out of his slender salary as a stenographer. His motor was given him by a friend, who took it out of an old automobile.

The flight was terminated by a lack of skill on the part of the manipulator, who brought the machine to the ground suddenly, breaking one of the wings.

Thru respect for their old comrade, Major Howard (better known as Gattling Gun Howard), who so nobly assisted in the battle of Batoche, and was afterwards killed in action in the South African war, the committee have arranged that the unveiling of the tablet will be held at 15 war veterans to be present at the unveiling.

Public Amusements

Frank M. Stammers, the capable stage director of the Imperial Opera Company, has gained a great success in "The Wedding Day," this week at the Royal Alexandra. When this magnificent opera was first produced by the De Angellis Opera Company in New York, seven weeks' continual rehearsal was required before the piece was in shape to submit to the public, yet Mr. Stammers was able to accomplish the same feat with equal perfection and merit in the limited space of five days. "The Wedding Day" is exceptionally rendered by the Imperials as it has been at any time in the history of the production. Nor is this all the indebtedness of Mr. Stammers has accumulated, within the same time he has mastered the role of Polycop and appears personally in the production.

Frank Daniels, who has never been known to fail in putting his audiences in good humor, comes to the theatre next week under the direction of Charles Frohman. His role under these new circumstances is that of the amusing old Dutch brewer, "Pick of Holland." Musically, this piece is one of the gems of recent plays and it is one of the handsomest productions Mr. Frohman has made, with a superb and well-drilled chorus and a fine cast of principals. Paul A. Rubens and Austen Hargrove are responsible for the catchy music and the merry book. The locale of the two acts presents the cheese market of Amsterdam and the interior of the Hock Dieler's. A material and a return of there is nothing lacking in quaintness and beauty.

Another big vaudeville bill is promised at Enoch's Theatre for next week. Angela Dolores and Company, a newcomer to Shea's will be the headline presenting "Cupid at Home." The special attraction will be Maggie Cline, "The Irish Queen." Other acts are The Three Graces, Selma Bratz, Paton City Four, Wood Brothers and the Kinetograph.

Wright Lormer, and his own big company, will present the famous Biblical drama, "The Shepherd King," at the Grand next week, the first time anywhere at less than the regular prices. There are many books of the Bible whose stories lend themselves readily to the weaving of intensely interesting dramatic tales. Foremost among them stands the history of David, Saul and Jonathan, and the successive tragic episode in the madness of Saul, the flight and return of David and the final death of Saul, offer to the modern playwright an outline about which can be built a drama as intensely interesting as any modern theme. Such is found in "The Shepherd King." During the week the usual matinees will be given on Wednesday and Saturday.

The Star is having well-deserved patronage this week, as the "Yankee Doodle Girls" are far above the average in the burlesque field. The vaudeville numbers are one of the big features. Friday night directly after the evening performance the amateur will have his and her weekly try. Next week the greatest of all favorites, "Billy Watson," is due.

"Messenger Boy No. 42," a sensational melodrama, in which a troupe of acting dogs assume important parts, comes to the Majestic Theatre next week, opening with a performance on Monday afternoon and giving the usual daily matinees. Also there are exciting scenes, the story is plausible and the action devoid of straining for climaxes.

Weber and Rush's "Parisian Widows" come to the Gaiety next week. A refreshing and varied program is promised, consisting of the burlesque, "The Boarding House," followed by vaudeville acts, including "The Auto Race," Mary Ann Brown, Monte Hilton, Sauber & Bentley, Julia Sinclair, Burns & McConne and Ben Pierce. The closing number is called "Busy Day." The extra attraction will be Ed Matkey in character impersonations of Harry Lauder and the special feature will be the Bronze Poses.

The opportunity of seeing Robert Ganthony at Massey Hall on Friday and Saturday evening should not be missed by those who enjoy a program of genuine humor and musical travesty presented in a variety of character sketches as original as they are amusing in their variety. In his repertoire he will be assisted by Miss Hazel Stammers, an English actress who has been winning golden opinions as "The Tyranny of Tears," and other artists. In his entertainment tour from Montreal to the Pacific and back he has scored a triumph success, as a few abbreviated notices will testify. "A very bright evening's entertainment," Montreal Star. "Delighted everyone," Daily Herald. "Enthusiastically endorsed by a large and fashionable audience," the Evening Bulletin. "His humor is irresistibly funny and his variety amazing," Journal. "Goes with a dash and swing productive of the greatest merriment," New York Morning Telegraph. "Unless we except the delicious imitation of a soprano singing to a cello obligato I reckon the French farce Monong is the very best bit of nonsense in the world."

BREATHE GAS; DROP DEAD.

Terrors of Oil Well in Mexican Field—Appeal to Government.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 28.—Deadly fumes from Mexico's great oil well fire, 60 miles from Tampico have killed more than a score of workmen during the past few days, completely blackened the white paint on the side of the ships, endangered commerce and caused thousands of dollars' damage to ranches and other neighboring interests, according to Capt. Michael Harkness of the steamship City of Mexico, which reached New Orleans Monday night.

Battling to save what they could from the wreckage, American mine owners, after spending more than a million dollars, finally succeeded in extinguishing the blaze, but even greater error than before prevailed then. The flames had consumed the noxious gases, but when the fire was stopped the gases burst forth, killing and maiming a bit of the stuff, dropped in their tracks dead.

Owners of the well have applied to the Mexican Government and several companies of soldiers have been sent to the scene to take the places of the laborers, who refused longer to remain there.
