INSANITY HAINS' DEFENCE

Not of the Emotional Variety, But a Permanent Affliction.

NEW YORK, April 18.—Insanity, not of the momentary and vanishing character usually invoked as a defence for emotional crimes, but permanent and incurable, will be urged, it is stated, as a defence in the case of Capt. Peter C. Hains, jr., whose trial for the murder of William E. Annis, on the float of the Bayside Yacht Club last August, begins to-morrow at Flushing, Long Island.

John F. McIntyre, chief counsel for the defence, announced to-day that no recourse would be had to the expert testimony of alienists.

The Hains' lawyers contend that Capt. Hains' mental condition is such that he does not know that Annis is dead. There is a possibility, should the prisoner's derangement be as palpable as his attorneys declare it to be, that the trial may be halted pending the appointment of a commission in lunacy, before which the captain would be taken for examination.

POSTPONE PUGSLEY ENQUIRY

Precedence of Conmee Bill Likely to Cause Delay.

OTTAWA, April 18.—(Special).—It seems quite improbable that the Pugsley matter will come up to-morrow, as intended by Mr. Foster, due to the precedence of the Conmee bill to incorporate the Ontario and Michigan Power Company, which will be the first order of business after the routine proceedings. It is understood that the government will modify the bill by striking out the declaration that the work is "for the general advantage of Canada," and further protecting the province in respect to the waters of the Pigeon River, but the opposition is disposed to fight the measure even with the modifications outlined, as they say that the question of provincial jurisdiction must be fought out some time and it might as well be now.

Several of the opposition speakers who desire to say something on the Pugsley matter are urging that the debate be postponed till next week. This will likely be done, as it is improbable that there will be an opportunity later in the week when the budget debate will occupy all the time.

ALDERMEN STILL SIT.

MONTREAL, April 18.—(Special.)—An appeal having been entered in the case by which all the members of the civic finance committee have been adjudged disqualified and condemned to recoup the money they voted to pay the mayor's expenses abroad, the aldermen will continue to hold their seats.

"Victim of a Conspiracy."

PARIS, April 18.—"I am the victim of the most diabolical plot ever devised to ruin an innocent man." This was the message contained in a farewell letter found in the effects of William E. Bainbridge, confidential agent of the United States treasury department, in charge of its Paris customs bureau, who committed suicide yesterday. Mrs. Bainbridge explains that her husband for a week prior to his suicide, was completely possessed by the idea that a former treasury agent had been plotting his ruin in revenge for dismissal.

ASK FOR ICE BREAKER

Niagara Township Council Call on Government For Assistance.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., April 18.—The Niagara Township Council to-day wired the Dominion Government to send the government ice-breaker now stationed at Prescott, Ont., to the Lower Niagara River to break up the ice jam, which again threatens to cause serious damage between Lewiston and Lake Ontario.

Ice came over the falls in large quantities to-day. It jammed in the lower river and the water rose from 16 to 20 feet above normal.

TORONTO FIRE CAPTAIN MADE VICTORIA'S CHIEF

Thomas Davis of Truck No. 2 Receives a Splendid Appointment at $1800 a Year.

The Toronto fire department loses one of its youngest and best officers in the retirement of Capt. Thomas Davis of Hook and Ladder 2, Portland-street. On Saturday he received a telegram from the city clerk of Victoria, B.C., announcing his appointment as chief of the fire department of the capital city of British Columbia. A salary of $1800 per annum goes with the appointment, as well as an automobile in which to ride to fires, and these two facts should have a moral for the civic regulators of the fire departments of not alone Toronto, but also the City of London, which some months ago balked at the salary of $1500 which Capt. Davis placed on the value of services to be rendered by a fire chief in that city. And "Greater Toronto" has not yet seen its way to provide modern rapid locomotion for its chief fire fighter.

Capt. Davis should prove the very man that Victoria wants. He is a born fireman, for his father was the late District Chief Davis and his grandfather was also a city fireman, and both died while still in the city's service, the latter thru the overturning of a horse cart. Capt. Davis is 37 years of age, but has been nearly 20 years on the department, becoming a driver under his father while only a boy of 17. He has served his entire time in Portland-street station, and four years ago was promoted to the captaincy of the truck, one of the busiest in the department. He has worked at all the big fires in his time; has proved himself a very capable officer, and leaves the department with the encomiums of his superiors and the good wishes of the men with whom he has been associated. It is predicted that he will speedily "make his mark" in the western city, the call to which came as the result of dissatisfaction with ex-Chief Watson, whose resignation was practically demanded by the underwriters following a recent disastrous fire in the downtown district.

Victoria is a city of about 40,000, and rather extensive in area. A high pressure water system is nearing completion.

Capt. Davis is expected to enter upon his duties May 1.

It is a tribute to the regard in which the Toronto fire department is held thruout Canada when the authorities at Victoria expressed a preference for a Toronto man and asked Chief Thompson to assist in finding one. A year ago Fort Arthur found a chief in Toronto, too.

SASKATCHEWAN BISHOP HERE

Says That Conditions in the West Are Good.

"We are expecting a better class of emigrants in the west this season," said the Bishop of Saskatchewan, who is in town for the meeting of the Canadian Church Missionary Society on Thursday. "Most of these will be from the British Isles, tho many of course, are coming across from the States.'

"How are conditions in your diocese?" "Bright," was the response. "Of course you know, we have had two bad seasons running. I know of men who have had to buy seed for two seasons running, but we have had a good winter this time, plenty of snow and prospects are good."

"Has there been much church building?" "Yes. We have had to go into seventy-five new towns. These, of course, are largely along the lines of the C. N. R. and the G. T. P. In the last two years I have taken out over sixty young men who are in training for holy orders."

The bishop is accompanied by Archdeacon Lloyd, the "fighting parson," of Riel rebellion days, and later known to fame in connection with the Barr colony.

BOYS AS HIGHWAYMEN

Three of Them in the Toils For Stealing Sunday Worlds.

Charges of assault and highway robbery will be preferred against three 14-year-old lads in juvenile court to-day. Two of them were arrested in No. 4 division late Saturday night, and the third in No. 1 division yesterday morning.

Little Roy Brown, 451 E Gerrard-street, was the victim and shows evidence of pretty rough handling. He claims that he was set upon by the trio and a bundle of ten Sunday Worlds taken from him.

It was after the papers had been sold and most of the 50 cents secured thereby had been spent that Frank Baker, 12 Ramsay's-lane, and John Mara, 7 Duchess-street, were arrested by P. C. Mulholland. Walter Buckman, 138 West Adelaide-street, was gathered in Sunday morning.

NEW Y.M.C.A. SECRETARY.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 18.—Rev. Clarence A. Barbour, D.D., pastor of the Lake-avenue Baptist Church for 18 years, offered his resignation this morning, to take effect May 9, when he will become associate secretary of the International committee of Young Men's Christian Association of North America.

MISSIONARIES DIE

Adana is still burning and it is reported that not less than 3000 persons are homeless at Tarsus.

Confirmation has been received here of the killing of two American missionaries at Adana. The murdered missionaries were Mr. Rogers and Mr. Mauer. The others connected with the missions are safe.

Three French warships are hurrying to Mersina, where the situation is desperate. Foreigners any many Christians have taken refuge in the consulates. The local troops and the governor are doing their best to protect the town, but there is great fear that it cannot hold out much longer against the invasion of the Moslems, who are sweeping down in large numbers.

A British warship is proceeding to Alexandretta, which is threatened by the Moslems.

Several Armenian farms in that neighborhood have been destroyed. Alarm is felt at Kharput because of serious depredations by the Kurds in the surrounding villages, altho the town itself has not been the scene of any particular disorders.

Constantinople Quiets Down.

The tension in Constantinople over the situation is still very great, altho this afternoon there seemed to be some prospects of a peaceful solution of the trouble. The people of the capital are more concerned with the advance of the Saloniki troops than they are with the massacres that are reported from various quarters.

Several of the members of the parliamentary deputation, which proceeded last night to Tchataljе to reassure the Saloniki troops, returned here this morning. They report that the troops demand the safe conduct and protection of the Saloniki deputies, who fled from the capital, and the punishment of the ringleaders of the rising on Tuesday last, as an example, to prevent the recurrence of such events.

The army, which is concentrating at Tchataljе, has promised not to enter Constantinople, but to await there the fulfilment of its demands.

The officers of the Saloniki army control the train services to Europe, and the service, as a consequence, is much delayed. Delay also has been caused by the arrival of military trains bringing reinforcements to the concentration camp.

Considering Demands.

The council of ministers took the demands of the troops under consideration. The first of these seems to be easy of solution, provided the deputies agree to return.

The second demand, however, involving the punishment of the ringleaders, will be difficult to meet, and might cause trouble. Constantinople is now tranquil, altho the public is exceedingly apprehensive. The garrison appears to be under better discipline, and the troops have taken the oath on the Koran to remain quiet and obey their officers. The artillery, which came in to the capital from Hademekoi yesterday and which made preparations to return there, decided to remain in Constantinople. The Saloniki troops immediately installed themselves at Hademekoi on the departure of the artillery, and announced their determination not to relinquish their position.

At to-day's sitting of the chamber of deputies, Mustapha Effendi, the deputy for Alepho, was elected president. The members of the house appeared to some degree to have recovered their reassurance, and many of them were outspoken during the course of the debate. Members of the deputation sent to interview the Saloniki troops gave conflicting accounts of the result of their mission. All agreed, however, that they found the soldiers determined to uphold the constitution at all costs.

Troops Will Avoid War.

The spokesman of the soldiers is reported as saying:

"We are not here to promote a fratricidal war. We realize that an exchange of shots would lead to foreign intervention; therefore, we shall avoid extreme measures. Nevertheless, we have the means of entering Constantinople without firing a shot if necessary. We do not want advice. Your best course is to return and expose those who are responsible for this abominable plot, who must be severely punished. Military obedience is completely lacking in Constantinople. Try to restore obedience by every means, and be assured that we shall remain here until we are satisfied that no fresh attack will be made upon the constitution."

After some discussion of this reply, the chamber resolved to send a deputation to the barracks to explain to the soldiers the evil results of disobedience. The deputies for Alepho and Adana demanded that immediate measures be taken to restore order in the Adana district and to punish the ringleaders of the massacre. A motion to this effect was adopted unanimously.

To Safeguard the Constitution.

A circular telegram has been received at the foreign embassies from Gen. Husni Pasha, commanding the Saloniki army, dated Saturday, in which he says:

"The object of the army corps in marching on Constantinople is merely for the definite re-establishment of the constitution, which is sacred to all true Ottomans, and the legal punishment of the cursed authors of the sanguinary disorder. Be certain, excellency, that the lives and property of foreigners, the honored guests of our dear fatherland, will be safeguarded, and that tranquility and security will be assured the entire population."

Telegraphic communications between Constantinople and Spartakuleh, Tchataljе and other stations along the railway line, are in the hands of the invading army, and consequently no further news has reached here regarding the arrival of military trains from Saloniki or of movements of the troops. It is known, however, that trains are arriving punctually and that the army is in splendid condition. Order and discipline are being maintained and all measures have been taken, as tho in time of war.

Artillery Mutinied.

The artillery at Hademekoi mutinied during Friday night. Seizing some of their officers and compelling others to don the uniforms of privates they entrained for Constantinople to the number of 1200 in order to assure themselves that the constitution was being maintained and that the sultan was alive. They were met at the depot by a Saloniki chasseur, who is believed to have been an officer in disguise. They marched to the war office, where they were entertained with tea nd refreshments, afterwards proceeding to parliament. Here they listened to reassuring speeches by the acting president of the chamber and several prominent deputies.

In the public square facing the house of parliament, prayers were offered, and the sultan was cheered.

The whole scene, which was most dramatic, passed off with perfect order. The men subsequently entrained and returned to Hademekoi with the parliamentary deputation.

Many Murders.

BERLIN, April 18.—A special despatch to The Frankfurter Zeitung from Constantinople says that 16 officers of war academies have been assassinated and that Izzel Fuad Pasha also has been assassinated at the palace. A despatch to The Lokal Anzeiger says that two hundred officers of the war academy have been murdered and all the officers of the guard cavalry.

TROOPS HUMBUGGED

Have Been Led Into a Political Coup, and Realize It.

LONDON, April 18.—(N. Y. Sun Cable.)—It is repeatedly asserted that the sultan was the master-mind which created the combination and that Tuesday's revolt was but the first step in his plan for regaining absolute power. There may be some truth in this. It is true, at all events, that the plausible assertion that the new authorities were undermining the foundations of the Moslem faith was quite sufficient to incite wholesale mutiny, and so it will always be with the Mohammedan population, military or civilian. It is not that they love constitutional liberty less, but that the Moslem faith is always the supreme consideration.

Furthermore it is men, not measures, which count most with the Turkish soldiery. They have absolute confidence in Nazim Pasha, the new commander of the Constantinople garrison, who is an ardent constitutionalist. He has it in his power to make an agreement with the leaders of the Committee of Union and Progress at Salonika, and the result would be the complete unification of the Constantinople troops with the first and third army corps in support of the constitution.

Civil war, when such an understanding is so feasible, seems absurd. Reports from Constantinople already affirm that suspicion is taking root among Tuesday's mutineers that they have been humbugged and they are expressing aversion at being induced to play a political role. But while it would seem to be easy to avoid civil war, other dangers have arisen which may well arouse general apprehension.

Appeals to religious passions have already spread thru the country. They may be mitigated at their source, but not so thruout the still more fanatical provinces. Grave reports of massacres of Christians are already pouring in, and these are likely to increase. Albania is in revolt and is demanding autonomy. The ambitious and unscrupulous Czar Ferdinand thinks he sees Bulgaria's opportunity in Macedonia. The Sandjak of Novibazar is in a ferment and a general Balkan movement where a settlement was assured a week ago is threatened anew.

There is no sign yet that any foreign power had any preknowledge or participation in the Turkish revolt, but all show evidence of deep concern in the possibilities of the situation.

Prime Minister Asquith said to-day that the new Turkish cabinet had assured England that it means to adhere strictly to the constitution. Great Britain replied:

"We note the assurance with cordial satisfaction. Our only desire is to see the Turkish Government carry out a policy of reform and good government."

The premier added that the regime inaugurated last summer means the substitution of honesty for corruption, toleration for intolerance, and ordered freedom and justice for the arbitrary caprice of despotism. If it turns aside from these lines British sympathy will be alienated.

Caused by Women.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Hussein Khaeim Bey, the Turkish ambassador to the United States, to-night received official advices from Constantinople confirming press despatches of the disturbance at Adana. The whole incident was provoked, the advices state, by a question of women. An Armenian shot two Mohammedans, one being killed, after which a battle occurred between Mohammedans and Armenians, and in consequence a number were killed and injured on both sides. At the same time fire broke out in the town and, most of the buildings being frame structures, could not be easily controlled.

The Armenians then surrounded Turkish villages with the intention of killing the Mohammedans who, being in the minority, appealed to the Turkish authorities for protection.

That Unlucky 13.

In the arrest of Myrtle Harding (colored) Saturday night, the police think they have got a clever "alley worker"—one of those charmers who get young men into a corner and substitute wads of newspaper cuttings for their roll of greenbacks. Leonard Ombridge of North Toronto is the complainant, reporting to P. C. Reburn that a woman had relieved him of $13 in a house at 131 West Adelaide-street. Reburn and Acting Detective Macdonald arrested the woman, who says she's from Hamilton.

Crazed Woman Caused Excitement.

Rushing, half clad, up to P. C. Bell on the corner of Church and King-streets at 4.15 a.m. yesterday, Mrs. Mabel Fitzpatrick exclaimed hysterically that she had poisoned herself by mistake. He hustled her over to the No. 1 ambulance station, and at St. Michael's Hospital Dr. Boland applied a stomach pump and found no evidence of poisoning. Then he turned his attention to her head, and concluded she was mentally unbalanced. She told them she had escaped from the House of Providence, and to that institution she was driven back.

Fed His Enemy.

An example of Irish good heartedness was strikingly evidenced in No. 2 police station yesterday. Wm. Macdonald, an Irishman, was arrested along with a Frenchman named Arthur Queripal, while engaged in a vicious fight, inspired by national antipathy. This was in the morning. At 6 p.m. hunger had cooled Macdonald's ire. He had $2; the Frenchman had 1 cent. The Irishman called the station duty man and ordered a sumptuous meal for himself and his enemy, footing the bill.

Two Brothers in the Toils.

While leading Leo Gagnor, 22 Seaton-street, to No. 4 police station Saturday night, P. C. Ennis was attacked by Edward Gagnor, a brother. The policeman won out, and leaving Leo drunk on the street, he marched Edward to the cells, making a second trip for Leo. One is charged with being drunk and the other with obstructing the police.

Caught in Act.

A boy on a bicycle told P. C. Irwin at 1.50 yesterday morning that some body was trying to break into the Wm. Davies store, corner of College and Bathurst-streets, so the officer went up and caught John Ryan right in the act.

A COLLEGE FOR WOMEN

ity Colleges if they should adopt the plan."

Women's Club Oppose It.

The report goes on to say: "Your committee has found among the women graduates of the university a certain hesitancy about the adoption of the above conclusions." "A certain hesitancy" has more than a tinge of euphemism in it, in view of the strenuous opposition developed at a meeting of the University Women's Club on Saturday. The opponents of the scheme feel strongly that any separation of the kind contemplated will, even if it does not subject the women students to less efficient instruction, tend to lower the prestige of a woman graduate's degree in the eyes of the public. They contend that the preference of women for modern languages and of men for political science can be traced to quite other causes than the alleged mutual antipathy of the sexes to co-education.

The report concludes with a sweeping statement: "Your committee have reason to believe that, if satisfactory assurances in respect to this objector are given, most of the women and all the men, in the university are agreed as to the desirability of a college for women." As far as the women undergraduates are concerned this statement is assented to be the very reverse of the facts by those who have had at least as much opportunity to know as the professor of history.

MRS. KILLAM TO WED.

WINNIPEG, April 18.—(Special)—The engagement is announced of W. R. Allan and Mrs. A. C. Killam, both well known residents of Winnipeg. The wedding will take place here in June. Mrs. Killam is the widow of the late chief justice of Manitoba, and chairman of the railway commission, and was Miss Minnie Whyte of Windsor.

Boy Hurt.

Alex. Legrander, 176 1-2 Duchess-street, 14 years old, collided with a west-bound Broadview car while riding a bicycle yesterday morning, breaking his right shoulder. P. C. Page took the lad home.

Fort William Tragedies.

FORT WILLIAM, April 18.—(Special.) Henry Legassick, who attempted suicide Thursday last by slasing his throat with a razor, died Saturday evening.

Eli Shea, lumberjack, aged 20, committed suicide Saturday evening by shooting himself in the head.

Tragedies of the Alps.

The Alps are claiming an annual toll of victim son a steadily increasing scale. The fatalities in the Tyrol alone in 1908 numbered 104, as compared with 533 in 1901. Investigation shows that in 57 of the cases the victims were unaccompanied by guides and that 40 occurred in hazardous climbing. Every year shows that the great majority of accident sare due to the growing preference for dangerous and even foolhardy climbing without guides.

NOT PATTEN'S FAULT

along the line concerning the proper price of July contracts for wheat.

From this time on the price of May may fluctuate erratically, but it is stated that there will be little trading in it. The bears admit that Patten won in that struggle and that he is arbiter of the price. However, few settlements of this delivery, it is said, remain to be made. The price during the week ranged between 125 3-8 and 128 7-8, and closed Saturday at 128 1-8. July wheat, which went to 114 3-8, under tremendous pressure on Thursday, closed Saturday within a shade of the best price of the week, at 113 3-8.

Patten's Profits.

Whether this price is too high or too low cannot, of course, be known until the time for delivery on contracts. Both Secretary Wilson and Mr. Patten have remarked that "time will tell," and "time" in the present instance means two months and a half from the present. That the fight between opposing interests will be one of the most exciting in the history of the board of trade, no one doubts. In the aggregate, it will be waged between those who believe in the accuracy of the government reports and those who pin their faith to the Patten view.

"The Patten pool has cleaned up between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 on the May wheat deal," says The Tribune. "Of this amount Jim Patten has pocketed full two-thirds.

"Market experts estimate that the broker and his coterie have sold to the public 20,000,000 bushels of May wheat at an average profit of 20 cents, giving them a profit of $4,000,000, and besides this he has made a substantial profit on July wheat, to say nothing of the September and December operations, which he has scalped in the market for a profit of from 2 to 5 cents, making his total winnings not much under $5,000,000.

Reaction Will Follow.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—"There is sufficient wheat in the country at normal prices to make bread for the American people up to the time when the new crop comes in," declares Secretary of Agriculture Wilson to-day anent the Chicago wheat corner, "and those who attempt to keep prices up at present rate expect to get their money out of the common people—the consumer."

Secretary Wilson's statement was made in reply to criticisms of J. A. Patten of Chicago, of the crop reports of the department of agriculture. Mr. Patten not only discredited the department's estimates of the wheat crop, but said, that the supply of wheat was scarcer than the government's estimates show.

"The reporters of the department of agriculture are farmers living on farms and know, if anybody knows, and have knowledge, if anybody has knowledge of the facts," declared the secretary.

"The large majority of wheat has left the hands of the farmers. A fictitious price has been created. The farmers are not beneficiaries of such conditions; they will naturally plant more wheat and next year's crop is likely to be abnormally large, when the gamblers will not be in the market and mischief will be done by disturbance of the crop system.

"In the corner of 1898, when the price of wheat was run up to $1.85, the price was depressed the following year below 80 cents, the result, undoubtedly, of the upsetting of the equilibrium of normal supply and demand."

Jim Hill's Opinion.

NEW YORK, April 18.—A special to The Tribune from Washington says: "James J. Hill, in discussing the wheat situation with a prominent representative, declares that the price of wheat will never be substantially lower and that in the near future the U. S. will be forced to import large quantities of grain to supply its own needs. He pointed out that the population increases at the rate of 65 per cent. while the yield of wheat and other staple products increases only 25 per cent."

Farmers Make Money, Too.

WINNIPEG, Man., April 18.—The recent big rise in wheat has put money in the pockets of many Manitoba farmers. H. F. Caldwell of Dauphin, who has had his wheat for two years, had 15,500 bushels of No. 2 Northern which he sold at $1.20 1-2, bringing him $18,652.50.

Girl Still Missing.

Celia Lass, the 14-year-old Jewish girl who disappeared on Thursday, has not yet been found.

Mrs. Lass, when seen at her home, 3 McDougall-lane, last night, said that her daughter saw an advertisement of a situation, and applying at the employment agency on West Queen-street mentioned was given the address. She hasn't since been heard of.
