NEXT WEEK—THE CHARMING IRISH IDYLL "LOVE'S YOUNG DREAM" HOLIDAY MATINEE MONDAY, MAY 25—NEXT WEEK

AN EXCITING GAME PLAYED BY THE JUNIOR MEMBERS OF THE Y.M.C.A. IN THE SHAW STREET GULLY—PUFF BALL. IT MAY SOUND A SIMPLE MATTER TO BLOW THE BALLOON STRAIGHT AHEAD, BUT IT'S VIGOROUS, DIFFICULT WORK.

FIRST EXERCISES IN THE OUTDOOR, FRESH-AIR GYM, STARTED BY W.E.Y.M.C.A. IN THE SHAW STREET GULLY AT COLLEGE STREET.

MARIE QUINN ON "HOME LIFE."
To live amid simple, yet beautiful surroundings at all times, is one of the rules of life laid down for herself by dainty little Marie Quinn, who plays "Kathleen" in "The Rose of Kildare."
Her dressing-room at the theatre is arranged like the boudoir of a home, the furnishings for the purpose being carried in a special trunk.
"We have so little home life in a year," says Miss Quinn, "that we seem like eternal nomads. But it is a matter of business and not choice, I can assure you. The idea of striking one's tent like the Arabs, never appealed to me."
"When we arrive in a city I am happy for then I can unpack my little understudy home, as I call it, and bring my hotel apartments and my dressing-room in the theatre to some semblance of a home.

"There is not the slightest doubt in the world that one's surroundings have much to do with one's happiness. This is especially so with persons of a highly sensitive nature. Such minds are extremely susceptible to outside influences and should be considered."
"You may think that in so small a creature as I the mind is of small consequence, but I can assure you it is quite as big a weight to me as the stoutest six-footer's might be," and Miss Quinn laughed as she surveyed herself in the dressing-room mirror.

"The love of beauty is inherent in woman," she observed sagely. "It is as much a component element in the make-up of the feminine mind as the love of home."
"A woman without taste is a detriment to any community, and what is taste, but a desire for beauty, whether it be in dress in the adornment of the home, or the cultivation of literature or art."
"Every woman owes the human race at least an effort toward making the world more beautiful, and unless she studies the work of those gifted ones, who have gone before and left glorious monuments to their genius, she is wasting opportunities bestowed by the Creator."

MARIE QUINN, TALENTED LITTLE TORONTO ACTRESS WITH FISKE O'HARA AT THE GRAND OPERA HOUSE. MISS QUINN IN PRIVATE LIFE IS MRS. O'HARA.

"The house beautiful is my craze. In my little home in New Canaan, Conn., you will find my ideals of simplicity in art and beauty."
"My garden, however, is my greatest delight. I do not go into the cultivation of unusual plants, but I rejoice in more kinds of roses than you see even in luxuriant California."
"I am Celt enough to love roses, and I believe they love me, as I have been strangely successful in their cultivation."

FOR

Developing, Printing and Enlarging

Our new system is one which assures a perfect printing negative from any film that has been given an exposure anywhere within reason. Any film that can be developed at all comes out of our automatic tank as a good negative, simply because it cannot be over-developed or fogged therein.
This accomplished, the making of a perfect print is easy and exact on our up-to-date printing machines operated by expert printers.
Enlargements made from negatives developed by our new system have a quality that cannot be secured in any other way. Your films are not handled or scratched. They are thoroughly fixed, washed, and dried with a clean, smooth surface.
