

THE OLD WOMEN'S HOME.

The houses on Sherbourne Street still afford shelter and comfort to several of our old people. The management is simple, inexpensive, and successful, and the condition of the inmates all under one roof much in advance of their former scattered and lonely life in their several rented rooms here and there. The visits of many kind ladies are highly valued, and much has been done by such loving and tender hands to make the Home a quiet resting place for many whose remaining time must be short.

THE NORMAL SCHOOL.

The class of Church of England students has been conducted every Friday by the Rector and the Rev. Mr. Hobson. This is a very important and encouraging work. To teach those who are about to become teachers of others is also a far reaching and a fruitful work. The class this winter has been a particularly attentive and intelligent one, and the clergy have had much pleasure and satisfaction in instructing its members.
