THE GOOD OLD 26TH

Only Fourteen Men Left in One Platoon After a Drive

One of the officers of the 26th Battalion, who took part in the first part of Haig's great offensive which started the Germans on the home run, and who is now in hospital in England recovering from wounds in his leg and side, has written to his mother, who resides in King street east:

"We went out the second day of the drive. The air was full of missiles of all kinds. The wonder to me was that the casualties were so small when there were so many airplane bombs and machine guns spurring shell and shot. Ten minutes out I got the touch in the side, but I was able to carry on. There were fourteen men left in my platoon when we reached our objective."

"The next day, after being out fifteen minutes I got mine for fair in the leg and I couldn't go any farther."

"By the 26th, or who was left of it, went on, and on, and it is still going on, with a new objective every day."

"The boys of the 'good old 26th' have nobly done their part in the field. They have set an example for their home friends in St. John that is worth trying out when the Victory Loan campaign is on. St. John must reach its objective—the boys 'over there' are doing it. We can't do any less than our soldier boys have done."

The Up-to-Date Mattress

The Dixie No-Tuft stands pre-eminent as the acme of comfort and cleanliness. It has all the good points of the ordinary Mattress, but has distinctive qualities which place it head and shoulders above anything else on the market.

The above cut illustrates its construction, and a glance at it will convince you of the truth of our statement. It is made up of ten compartments, and each compartment is a distinct and perfect miniature mattress. The absence of tufts does away with the hard spots which tufting inevitably produces, and with the depressions at every tuft, which are gathering places for dust, dirt and germs.

The latest improvement has been to fill it with Kapok or Silk-Floss, which is the most resilient material known, while weighing about half as much as the ordinary mattress.

When we add that the Dixie absolutely cannot spread, you will realize that we are offering the most attractive mattress which has ever been put on the market.
