

Cottage City Arrives.

She Reached Port Early This Morning With Late News From the North.

Steamer City of Topeka Has Been Floated and is Coming Down.

That Find of Russian Mounds—Steps Taken to Prevent Spread of Disease.

Steamer City of Topeka arrived from the ports of southwestern Alaska early this morning. Between two and three o'clock her heavy sounding whistle awakened the sleepers of James Bay. She was about a day late, having been compelled to lay over at Wrangell narrows on account of low water, she being heavily loaded with freight, about 360 tons. There were comparatively few passengers, including several from Dawson. Ten sacks of Dawson mail were also brought.

The Cottage City brings news that the stranded steamer City of Topeka has been raised. Just as the mail steamer entered the narrows leading to the scene of the wreck she saw the iron steamer sliding off from the reefs which held her into deep water. The divers had patched the gaping holes in her iron hull with canvas and cement temporarily, and when the water was pumped out of her she came off easily with the rising of the tide. She passed the Cottage City at a fairclip, steaming towards Juneau. The Topeka will be put on the mud flats near the natural Alaskan marine ways and repaired further and then she will proceed southward to Quaternary harbor for repairs. Her cargo has suffered severely in the water, and it is a question whether any of it will be of use.

The Dawsonians, most of whom slept the sleep of the weary pilgrim, for the liner had been buffeted considerably by the confused seas encountered yesterday, brought considerable gold in dust and nuggets. One was found awake during the night and getting the full benefit of the cold night air, and he said that when he and his comrades left the Klondike capital Commissioner Ogilvie was taking steps to prevent the Ravages of Disease during the coming summer. He was endeavoring to secure the sanitation of the city. He issued an order on March 10th that all garbage and debris would have to be removed, and called upon the people to help him place the city in a healthy condition.

Consul McCook at Dawson is waiting for the Finlanders to report to him. He will send out a party, including Russians, with photographic instruments, to make a thorough investigation. The government of the United States will undoubtedly furnish funds.

The Klondikers tell of the exploitation of that mineral bearing land just below where the aurora borealis dances over the torn berg-edges for copper. An expedition which is to Explore an Unknown Section of the goldfields left Dawson the first week in March. It is composed of J. O. Jackson, of Seattle, a son-in-law of Capt. John J. Hickey, of the North American Transportation and Trading Company, Martin Gorman and Richard Emmonds.

They will explore the headwaters of the White, Tanana, Copper and Kuskokwim rivers, finally returning to the Yukon by way of the Tanana. Not less than 1,100 miles will be covered on snowshoes. The trip will occupy five months. The party is accompanied by a band of Indian hunters and will supply their larder with their guns after the two months' supplies taken along are exhausted.

The secret of the expedition is the location of some enormous ledges of rich copper which the North American Transportation and Trading Company has learned of through the Indians. They will also look into the possibilities of agriculture in the unknown country.

Dawson had a sensation recently in the attempted whipping of Louis Allenberg by Mrs. Joseph Schwartz, whose husband is under arrest for selling brass filings for gold dust. Mrs. Schwartz had taken an oath to her husband any one who thinks her husband is guilty and says so in her presence. She did not hear Allenberg's remark, but it was reported to her. She went direct to the Northwest Trading Company store, in which Allenberg is a part owner. He only escaped by using an unrequited entrance and did not return to the store until Mrs. Schwartz had been driven out by threatened arrest.

Late in February and well on into March stampedes

To Nine-Mile Creek took place from Dawson. Dave Cuskey, of the Klondike Trading Company, who participated in a stampede to Nine-Mile creek late in February, was brought back to Dawson with his feet badly frozen. He fell through the ice on Indian river. Indian river discoveries are also said to have attracted a great deal of attention of late and a number of stampedes have taken place.

"Do you know Charles Tilly?" asked "Governor Budd," and without waiting for a reply he went on to say: "Well, he's in trouble at Dawson with his laymen. He employs a number of laymen and naturally is anxious to keep tab of the amount of treasure they are unearthing; but he can't do it because the laymen won't allow him to see the cabin or shafts. Besides, one of the laymen appeared to have hotheaded a quantity of provisions belonging to him. He caused the arrest of Patrick G. Sullivan, but finally dropped the case when the laymen refused in the future to let him be about the mine as much as he liked."

"Miners are losing a great deal of grub this winter owing to the thefts of Malamoots, and the worst of the business sickness is that if a man does find a dog getting away with his provisions he cannot shoot him. Captain Stearns of the Mounted Police decided so recently. The articles the brute may steal may be for use between the miner and positive want, but still the miner is not allowed to take the law into his own hands. He would not hesitate to shoot a man under the same circumstances, but he is valuable in Klondike, especially in winter."

A case in point is that of a Bonanza creek miner who had been annoyed by the repeated thefts of a strange dog. He saw him one day running away with a side of bacon. He shot the brute dead. For this he was fined $25 and compelled to pay $75 to the owner of the dog. He received a lecture into the bargain.

Now a Malamoot is just as "foxy" as a pickpocket in his thefts. The only thing that can be done is to hang the bacon beyond reach, for the Malamoot can climb a pole has not yet been discovered.

Experience in England.

Diamond Dyes Have First Place in the Old Land.

A Hamilton Lady Says "Diamond Dyes Are Far Above All Others."

Mrs. J. S. Burton, Hamilton, Ont., says: "While living in England I had considerable experience in home dyeing work, and never had perfect success there till I used the Diamond Dyes. When I came to Canada I still used the Diamond Dyes, and am using them now, and will never have any other kind to do my work. Diamond Dyes are far above all others."

RHEUMATISM CURED. My wife has used Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism with great relief, and I can recommend it as a splendid remedy for rheumatism and other household ailments for which we have found it valuable. W. J. Cuyler, Red Creek, N. Y.

Mr. Cuyler is one of the leading merchants of this village and one of the most prominent in this vicinity. W. G. Phipps, Editor Red Creek Herald. For sale by Henderson Bros. wholesale agents, Victoria and Vancouver.

A cable to the Montreal Star from Montreal says: "People in steamship circles are eagerly discussing the rate war which is anticipated upon the opening of the Lawrence river navigation. Manchester shippers are making strenuous efforts to secure the bulk of Canadian cargoes by bringing their shipments right into the heart of the consuming districts."

RHEUMATISM CURED IN A DAY. This is in characters very much like the Rheumatism and Neuralgia cures in one to three days. Its action upon the system is remarkable and mysterious. It removes at once the cause, and the disease immediately disappears. The first dose is usually beneficial. Sold by Dean & Hiscocks and Hall & Co.

Murdered by Chilcats.

Two Miners Pay With Their Lives For Cutting Totems.

Were Carving Their Initials When Surprised and Killed by Indians.

The scene of that "pipe dream" battle between Canadians and Americans or thereabouts has, according to news received by the Cottage City, been the scene of a murder by Chilcat Indians. Two prospectors out of a party of three were shot dead by revengeful swiftness, and a third only saved his life by flight to the woods, whence he made his way to Dyea. The survivor, John Henley, of Baltimore, told the story of the tragedy at the gateway city of the Chilcoot pass as follows: He and the two victims, Sydney Vance, a young Englishman, and a Swedish miner, Charles Erickson, who, with Henley, was in the service of Vance, were returning to the coast from Shorty creek, where they had been prospecting with little success that they abandoned their claims, and they encamped about two weeks ago a short distance north from the Indian village of Klukwan. While there Vance and Erickson found a big totem pole standing near by, where the Indians have been in the habit of burying their dead, and in a foolish moment conceived the childish idea of leaving their autographs on the big Indian totem. They cut their initials and were beginning to carve the totem when they were surprised by a party of Indians, who were terribly enraged, it seems, at the sacrilegious onslaught. Mad with rage, they opened fire with rifles on the two miners, and killed them almost instantly. The survivor of the trio was attracted by the sound of the firing, and on reaching the scene of the fray he saw the swiftness crowding around the prostrate forms of his late comrades. Fearing a similar fate, he took to the woods, leaving the camp as it stood, with the evening meal on the fire, and managed to reach the coast in safety. He told his story on reaching Dyea, and with a number of residents of that town started back to the scene of the murder.

REVELATIONS. H. N. Courser has been appointed judge of the Small Debts Court here.

Rock work on the river bank came to an end on Thursday. There is still a good deal of work to be done in sloping off and cribbing the bank.

It is believed that J. J. Roy, resident engineer of the Dominion public works department, is to make an extensive survey this season of the navigation of the Columbia, beginning at the head of navigation and following the river down.

YINIR. John Hennessy, secretary of the Rossland Miners' Union, is in Yinir recently. He found Yinir unanimous in favor of the eight-hour shift law.

We suggest the formation in Yinir of a company of the South Kootenay Rifles. There are plenty of the right element in the camp from the new recruits to men who have carried their lives in their hands and know the music of bullets. The volunteering movement is a good one and should be fostered.

Quite a number of building operations are going on in Yinir just now.

GREENWOOD. Mr. Smith is no longer city engineer according to the list issued by Mayor Hardy. Mr. Hardy informed Mr. Smith a few days ago that the mayor no longer required his services. Mayor Hardy has appointed G. W. H. Samsen to succeed him.

D. W. Moore, one buyer for the Trail smelter, spent several days in the city last week. Mr. Moore was reticent about the object of his visit, but it is understood that he was in the city buying contracts. It is expected that the railway will be completed in August and the C. P. R. is prepared to treat Boundary Creek ores at the Trail smelter until the Boundary Creek smelter is erected.

Good progress is being made with the grading between Greenwood and Midway. The report that the contractors were destroying the wagon road is exaggerated. Wherever the road has been destroyed a new road has been built.

KAMLOOPS. The 6 o'clock closing movement seems to work very satisfactorily, and with the assistance of the customers making their purchases as early in the day as convenient, there is no reason why it should not become a permanent custom. Inland Sentinel.

On account of the retirement of Capt. O. E. Connelley from the book and ladder company, who left for Atlanta last week, it was necessary to elect a new captain in his stead. A. Owens was unanimously chosen. J. M. McCormick, 1st lieutenant, and J. L. Gordon, 2nd lieutenant.

Jean Laveau, an inmate of the Provincial Home, died suddenly on Tuesday morning. He was 80 years of age, a native of France, and had been a resident of the interior for over 40 years. He was well known in this city, where he had prosecuted his calling as a carpenter.

With a view to preventing the spread of the Chinese laundry evil, a petition is being circulated praying the city council to enforce the provisions of the Municipal Clauses Act, which empowers municipalities to confine the establishment of laundries within certain limits. It is proposed in this petition that no laundries be allowed east of the Cosmopolitan hotel.

NELSON. It cost the city $1,800 to have the water system frozen up twice during the past few months. The managers of practically all the principal mines of the vicinity have been notified by the inspector to comply with the eight hours act.

Reports from the mountains are to the effect that slides are coming down in great numbers on account of the warm weather. Travelling is becoming dangerous.

The building to be erected by P. Burns & Co. on Baker street, Friday evening commenced. The plans now being in course of preparation by A. E. Hodgins. It will represent an expenditure of $25,000.

William Austin Jowett celebrated his seventy-third birthday Friday evening by having a pleasant gathering in the mission room of St. Saviour's church. R. M. MacDonald read an address on behalf of the members of the choir of St. Saviour's, which they wished Mr. Jowett many happy returns of his birthday and expressed their appreciation of his successful labors as organist and choirmaster during the past seven years, and as a token of their esteem presented him with a handsome set of secretary's furnishings, consisting of a neat paper rack, two desk-sticks and a paper weight in the form of a jeweled clock.

The city engineer is having the lumber distributed for the sidewalks which were ordered to be laid the time ago by the public works committee. These include a sidewalk on the south side of Baker street, from Kootenay to Falls street, on Silica street from Josephine to Ward street, on Kootenay street from the Hall Mines road to Robson street, on Ward street from Carbonate to Mill street, and on Vernon street from Josephine to Ward street. The lumber for the different crossings throughout the city is also being delivered.

On Thursday night John Linebaugh, driver of Wilson & Harshaw's express wagon, slipped on the stable platform and dislocated his left knee joint and ruptured some of the tendons.

Joe Paquette, who has been manager of the Canadian Pacific telegraph office at Nelson for more than a year, has quit and goes to Rossland to accept a like position with the Spokane Falls & Northern Telegraph Company.

The board of works met on Thursday, when the water service, sewerage system, and electric light service were the matters of debate, and the board were unanimously of opinion that these services are at present inadequate, that they should be extended, and that large sums of money are needed for that purpose. The extension of the water supply question was felt to be the laying of a steel pipe line from Cottonwood Creek above Give Out Creek to the reservoir, the supply now obtained from Anderson Creek being totally insufficient. The probable cost of the pipe, and of making several necessary additions to the water system, will be in the neighborhood of $2,000. The question of the extension of the present sewerage system was also considered, and substantial additions were deemed necessary. It was estimated that $15,000 will be needed to make this system efficient. The electric light plant also is in great need of overhauling, and it was estimated that another $15,000 will be needed to perfect the plant and complete the scheme.

ROSSLAND. The plans for the Rossland club building are about completed, and in a few days, if they are approved, bids will be called for the construction of the handsome building.

Active work on the erection of the Bank of Montreal building has been resumed, and unless the weather interferes the work will be at once carried through to completion without cessation.

Work on the Canadian Pacific railroad from Trail to Rossland will commence shortly and be rushed through, so that the broad gauge will be in Rossland by the last of April at the latest. The ties have been laid along the road and the rails are ready to be laid down so soon as the frost is sufficiently out of the ground.

At the monthly meeting of the Rossland Board of Trade on Tuesday evening, President Fraser submitted his annual report, pointing out the successful work of the organization and explaining its future work. The membership for 1898 was 34, and now numbers 75, of whom 12 were present. His recommendation of the publication of another convention was carried, and a resolution was passed endorsing the Corbin charter, which was opposed by T. Mayne Daly and J. A. Kirk.

TRAIL. Rails will be laid on the Columbia & Western as far as Cascade City by June 1. Chas. Collins, formerly of Trail, has been appointed assistant chief of Rossland's fire department.

A nine-stall roundhouse, with stone foundation and brick walls, is to be erected at the far end of the yard on smelter hill.

HONEST ADVICE FREE TO MEN. The Times is requested to publish the following: A man who is nervous and debilitated or who is suffering from any of the various troubles resulting from overwork, excess or youthful excess, are aware that most medical firms advertising to cure these conditions cannot be relied upon. Mr. Graham, a resident of London, Ont., living at 4573 Richmond street, was for a long time suffering from above troubles and after trying in vain many advertised remedies, electric belts, etc., became almost entirely discouraged and hopeless. Finally he confided in an old clergyman, a friend of his father's, whose skillful treatment a speedy and perfect cure was obtained.

Knowing by his own sorrow that so many poor sufferers were being imposed upon by unscrupulous quacks, Mr. Graham considers it his duty to give his fellow-men the benefit of his experience and assist them to a cure by informing anyone who will write to him in strict confidence where to be cured. No attention can be given to those writing out of mere curiosity but any one who needs a cure is advised to address Mr. Graham as above.

APRIL SHOWERS. Wash away the dirt and waste that have accumulated during the winter. In like manner Hood's Sarsaparilla expels accumulated impurities that have been deposited during the season when there has been but little perspiration and perhaps constant confinement in impure and vitiated air. It gives the blood richness and vitality, fitting it to nourish and strengthen the nerves, muscles and all the great organs of the body. It cures all spring humors and banishes that tired feeling.

It is the best medicine money can buy for all diseases caused by impure or impoverished blood. You should begin taking it to-day.
