SACKVILLE, N. B., May 4.—The post-graduate plane regital of Archioald S. Crossman was given on Friday evening in Beethoven hall. For a wet night, the hall was well filled, Mr. Crossman being a general favorite. The music was well worth brav ing the wind and rain, there not be-ing a poor number of the programme Selections were given from Schuber ctions were given from Schuber Liszt, Muszkowski, Rachmaninoff, Ru-binstein and Saint Saens. In Am Neer the player showed great poeti-cal feel, in the Etudi brillianty and security of touch, and in the concerto with Prof. Vincent an admirable technique. Mr. Crossman has decided musical ability and gave all his numbers with excellent taste, combin with true color, he has none of the musical exaggeration to which young planists are prone. The audience was much gratified with the two songs from Miss Hibbard, a promising young contralto. The singer is a pupil of Miss Higley, and while having only as yet studied two terms, gave both selections with a tone and standing that are usually but obtained with several years' work. The accompaniments were played by Miss Whitman, her rendering of the Handel selection on mired. Both Miss Hibbard and Mr. Crossman were warmly encored, At

INTERESTING, IF TRUE. A Lady Alleged to Be 117 Years Old and Still Travelling. According to the story told by Henry Cullinan, who lives on Winter street.

his wife's grandmother is a very remarkable old lady. According to his story the old lady, Mrs. Dora Calla-ghan, was born near the Lakes of Killarney, Ireland, in 1784, her father being a staunch Orangeman and her mother a devout Catholic. In the year 1807 she, being then unmarried, went to Paris, and being highly recommended by a personal friend of Napoleon's sister, obtained a position in his house-hold as a cook. Here she remained for some time, afterwards emigrating to America, where she was married. Her life has been an eventful one in many respects, although the latter part of it has passed peaceably enough. Mrs. Callaghan has two daughters living Mrs. Butler and Mrs. Jerome Arsenault, both residing at Inniskillen in Queens county. Until lately she has been staying with Mrs. Butler, and last summer she on one Sunday morning. according to Henry Cullinan, husband of her granddaughter, walked from Mrs. Butler's house to Father Farrel's church, a distance of five miles, attended mass and walked home again be-fore breakfast. Mrs. Butler is seventy years of age, and Mrs. Arsenault fifty-eight. Both have children married. Mrs. Callaghan still enjoys good health, can see perfectly well and enjoys nothing better than recalling experiences of times long gone by. She is a witty talker and finds much pleasure in reading. Her hearing is as good as ever, if we are to believe the statements of her friends. As a result of her French life she shows a marked fond ness for bright colors, her favorites being orange and green in memory of her father and mother. Her Irish blood shows up occasionally, as it did once last summer when she danced a jig to nusic from the violin furnished by Henry Cullinan. She left Inniskillen yesterday to visit her grandson, Michael Butler, in Bangor, and until yesterday had never seen a railway train, - 3:a:
