THANKSOIVING ODE

- A heave of joy from sea to sea!
 A sense of deep relief!
 Our country's honour is redeemed,
 Averted shame and grief.
 Shout out with pride and thanktuines.
 Hark! sympathetic cries,
 From Parent Isles and farthest climes,
 In grand accord srise!
- The land held in its breath to catch. The verdict of its fate—
- or evermore elate:— Shout now with pride and thankfulne.
 The true and pure have won!
 The verdiet rights the nation's wrong.
 Thanks to each loyal son!
- The foe was strong and serried close— With interests bulwarked round; But gilded weapons flashed in vain, Corruption bites the ground. Shout forth with pride and thankfulness Room for the victors! room!
- o youthful Land ! way righteousness
- Henceforth, for aye, preside
 In Court and Legislative Hall,
 And through thy borders wide!
 Rejoice, with pride and thankfulness!
 But add a solemn vow,
 To all corrupters still to be
 As sternly just as now!
- No class—no party—men—nor man
 Such crimes shall e'er condons!
 The country's rights shall be maintained
 Though wrong come from the Throne!
 Send proudly, then, fair Canada,
 One shout from shore to shore!
 Your Freemen's rights, usurped by fraud,
 Are won for evermore!

UBLISHED WEEKLY AT SI A YEAR.

CARLETON PLACE NOV. 19, 1873

rapidly during the past year, and has equally good prospects for the future. Incorporation of the town is asked for ; drainage, gas works, and street lighting are projected; a new steamboat line, three new mills, three tug-boats for the lower river, a foundry, testing coal veins ecently discovered on the Souris River, erection of Governmens buildings, catablishment of a Land Office, new Custom House, new Post Office, and building fidently expected. The rapid increase of the population is a feature of interest, indicating rapid settlement. In October better class than formerly, many of them sixteen general stores, four groceries, four hardware stores, a bookstore, three bakeries, two fur-stores, two saddler's shops, two shoemaker shops, three drug stores, two watchmaker shops, a cunsmith's shop, three blacksmith's shops, one carriage factory, and four saw mills. Our informant says all are doing a good business. The trade by flat-boats amounted, during the season just closed, to about tifty thousand

Our exchanges from the United States. say that everywhere there are indications that a decrease in the wages of the working classes is inevitable. It is hard to cut down a man's-income at a time like the present, but it is clear that the shrinkage of values and the fall of gold must bring down wages, however much we may regret that result. The organs of capital are, of course, pleased with this prospect, forgetting that high wages means the prosperity of trade, and that men who with high wages can purchase men who with high wages can purchase shawls for their wives and grosories for their table are restricted when wages are low to the purchase of the bare necessaries of life. There will be much as the clabs with self by Public Auction at Moore's Hotel, Franktown, on Friday the 21st Nov., two hundred acres of land being Lot No. 17, 1st con. Beckwith known as the Clabs. among workingmen this winter, but they should remember that labor has profited for some years past by the inflation of values, and that it is the inevitable law of political economy that labor must also share in the loss brought about by a general shrinkage. Coal, which has been made artificially dear by the combined efforts of the mine owners and the railways-whose interest are in most cases identical-must necessarily share in the general fall of prices. Not only have many large manufactories ceased work, but the results of the panic will be shown this winter in a decrease of the demand for coal for demestic purposes; economy in fuel being one of the first efforts of those who undertake retrenchment. It follows that coal is to be comparatively cheap this winter, and that those who laid in their annual supply last summer have made a mistake. On the other band, persons who have not done so are to be congratulated, and they will probably show their wisdom by ning to buy coal in large quantities until it has materially fallen in price.

There is a new kind of ghost on the New York Central Railroad who is occupied just at present in harassing ers. He frequently appears at night time with a red signal lantern and by vigorously waving it stops the express train, only to vanish without assigning any reason for his conduct. At other times, he leaves his arms or legs eer who stops to pick up the tree finds nothing to re search and is compelled to believe that he has run over nothing more substantial than a ghost. The only explanation that can be given of the affair is that the host was formerly a railway director,
