Ottawa, 17th. February, 1909.

Sir;-

With reference to your letter of 9th. instant and inclosure, the Department regrets in the absence of Mr. Inspector Ramsden, its inability to understand on behalf of whom you desire its interference, whether the man Menass, who appears to have been convicted of the sale of liquor, or James, understood to have been convicted of perjury in his evidence against Menass.

If you will kindly state clearly on whose behalf and the nature of the intervention you desire, the Department will give the matter full consideration.

Your obedient servant,

Secretary

D. S. McMillan, Esq.,
