THWARTED AMBITION.

Competition, the law says, is the life of trade. The man who does not employ advertising to aid him in his business, fails to utilize one of the best methods of competition. This is a truism, we frankly acknowledge, but it is impossible to refrain from pointing out that a personage whose trade is warfare well knows the value of advertising. Reference is had to General the Honorable Mad Mullah, of Africa.

For some time General Mullah—who is an Arab, not a German, although his name has a tenuous smack was in retirement. All through the Boer war he was quiescent. He well knew that there would not be the slightest use in endeavoring to secure the world's eye when South Africa held the centre of the stage. But, when peace had been proclaimed the General proceeded to assert himself. He, like other public figures, loves prominence. He delights to read in the newspapers articles about himself. He sent around the fiery cross and made ready to take the field.

It did not seem as if the world was disposed to take much notice of the Mullah. The people had been reading war news for three years, and they began to take an international trade, automobilizing and the question as to the age of the celebrated maiden lady named Ann. When the opera bouffe revolution in Central America attracted notice, the Mullah squirmed. His anger increased when the Jap-Russ embargo became aggravated. In ordinary times the Mad Mullah is wildly mad, but the more he is disregarded the madder he becomes. At present he is very mad, indeed. He wanted war, and he got it. He has shown that, while he may be a high class lunatic, he is a low grade general. He has retired to his capital of reed huts, and is reported to have determined to become sane.

There is not much use, it would seem, in willingly being crazy, if it does not bring in some reward. The Mullah has had the advertising, but that can be small consolation. The desirability of being content with a good thing, is seen again. Had not the Mullah's vaulting ambition overleaped itself, he might still be the most prominent madman on earth. As it is, he is merely in the ordinary lunatic class, and we can meet enough of them at any time to make it unnecessary to take any interest in their copper colored compeers of the Soudan hinterland.—Toronto News.

STANDSBY THE BARNACLES.

In the Legislature Monday Mr. Ross gave his answer to the demand for the removal of the barnacles. His reply, in brief, is that the barnacles are to stay. The wave of public indignation voiced by Muskoka and North Renfrew, and admitted by the Liberal press, is gaily disposed of by a wave of the Premier's hand and by a jest. Mr. Ross is quite flippant at the expense of public opinion. Whatever the province may think, he has his little majority in the House, and does not propose to alter his course so long as that majority remains intact. The barnacles are a source of pride. Many a noble ship, afflicted with barnacles, he tells us, reaches port with a rich cargo on board. Not a word of encouragement is held out by the Premier to the Liberals who have been hoping against hope for the improvement of the Ross Government. The iron hand is to protect rather than wipe off the barnacles. In the same old way, with the same old crew, the Administration is to repeat all that has been most deplorable in the recent political history of Ontario. As Mr. Whitney eloquently expressed it yesterday at the conclusion of his forceful arraignment, Mr. Ross has brought the party of Baldwin, Brown, Blake, and Mowat "down, down, down to where it is now." There is to be no renaissance under present auspices. The Premier is content with the record, and chooses to stand or fall by it.

Doubtless Mr. Ross considers that there is no other course. With his narrow and feeble majority the attempt to reconstruct the Government would probably hasten the wreck. Upon the vote of Mr. Stratton the Government now depends. The rejection of Mr. Whitney's proposal to bring on the election trials immediately and dispose of them is a clear sign of weakness. The suggestion of Mr. Whitney, in view of the state of Ontario, was a reasonable one. Last session, which began two months later, the Government did not hesitate to adjourn the House

A Bad Stomach

Lessens the usefulness and mars the happiness of life.

It's a weak stomach, a stomach that can not properly perform its functions. Among its symptoms are distress after eating, nausea between meals, heartburn, belching, vomiting, flatulence and nervous headache.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Cures a bad stomach, indigestion and dyspepsia, and the cure is permanent. Accept no substitute.

In order that Mr. Stratton might endeavor to extricate himself from his troubles. Now the Premier declares that any delay would be injurious to public interests. Mr. Ross is not consistent, nor for that matter is any man who happens to be in the wrong. The session was called at this date for the purpose of heading off the election trials, because the Government cannot weather any more bye-elections. Mr. Ross has shut the doors of the courts and proposes to keep them shut as long as possible. The barnacles are assured of protection and patronage; every trick that can be devised to prevent the course of justice to be resorted to, and the measure of iniquity is to be full to overflowing.—Mail and Empire.

AFRAID OF EXPOSURE.

The Toronto World prints the remark of a prominent member of the Legislature thus:

"I will lay a wager that the government will not allow the election petitions to go to trial." His said further: "Dissolution after the present session is the only way to stop the protests. The government cannot risk the exposures that will without doubt be made in Sault Ste. Marie and North York, as well as the other constituencies in which the seats of government members are attacked, and I am told that the member for North Norfolk will resign before he will allow the protest against him to proceed to trial."

Ross said yesterday that it is better to have a few barnacles on a ship's bottom than a pirate on board. He knows. He has both. But why is he so severe on "Joe" Stratton?

Mr. Ross is an orator and a poet. That he is an orator is admitted by every Grit in the country. That he is a poet is shown by the excellent choice he makes when he steals other men's verses. But yesterday this orator and poet got very much mixed. Mr. Whitney said something that destroyed his equilibrium and made him reckless of speech. He made Mr. Whitney a captain and a bird in the same sentence. He spoke of a ship sailing the "untrodden" seas. There were no footmarks in
