Fatal Railway Collision.

No. 1 Midland Division Express, Collides with a snow plough, near Scarborough.—The Engineer killed and the train hands and passengers injured.

The blizzard which raged on Friday was responsible for a second wreck on the Grand Trunk railway, this time on the Midland division, about sixteen miles north of Toronto. The accident occurred at 5:55 p.m. on Friday evening, and has caused equally disastrous in loss of life with the accident near Weston earlier in the day in which a train was wrecked and one man killed while a number of others were seriously injured. The circumstances of the disaster are these:—A snowplough, engine, and tender were sent out from Lindsay on Friday morning to clear the track for the express from Port Hope, known as No. 1, and due to arrive in Toronto at 12:15 noon. The conductor of the express was instructed to follow the plough as close as least as one station. At Unionville the train was more than six hours late, and the conductor, having received no word of the snowplough, considered that it had reached agincourt, the next stopping place. Orders were given for the train to proceed. In the blinding storm which raged nothing more than a blurred outline of objects could be detected, and almost before the engineer was aware of it the train had crashed into the snowplough. The pitch-in took place just below Milliken's Corners, about two miles beyond Agincourt. The snowplough at this place encountered a drift about twelve feet deep and was hopelessly stuck when the express ran into it. The engine and tender of the snowplough were demolished, and the engine, baggage and mail car of the express were badly wrecked; but the passengers escaped almost unhurt.

John Rigg, engineer of the snowplough, was killed outright. He lived at 21 Wellington avenue, Toronto. The injured persons are:—George W. Riley, of Lindsay, aged 31, conductor of the snowplough, serious injuries to right arm, ribs broken in several places and scalded.

Charles Moor, of Lindsay, aged 19, brakeman on the plough, scap wounds, and burned about legs.

John Cullen fireman on snowplough resides at 90 Esther street, Toronto, slight injury to left hand.

Philip McCabe, fireman on express engine, resides at 328 Markham street, Toronto, slight injury to right hand.

Frank Burton, of Toronto, where man on the express, not seriously hurt.

E. J. Davies, of Stouffville, section foreman on express, back hurt and head cut.

R. Boundy, of Port Hope, conductor of the express, slight scap wound.

Alfred Kennedy, of Agincourt, student at Markham High school, right shoulder hurt.

Most of the injured men were brought to Toronto in a calicoes sent out specially for them on Saturday evening. They arrived shortly before 8 o'clock. All who live in the city went to their homes except Conductor Riley and Brakeman Moore, who were taken to the general hospital. Considerable surprise was expressed by the detained passengers that efforts were not more promptly made by the railway to convey them, or at least to bring them to Toronto, where proper assistance could be furnished.

John Cullen, fireman on the snowplough, and Philip McCabe, fireman on the express, both of whom were reported on Saturday to have been killed, are both very much alive, and sustained slight injuries. He looks a little better than the other men, and beyond a damaged finger and a shaking up seems none the worse. He stated that the snowplough left Unionville, four minutes from that place, although the drifts were bad all along the road. It was a terrific storm, and very cold. The howling of the blizzard was so loud as to drown out the sound of a whistle, and the express engine was unperceived until it crashed into the plough. The express should have remained at Unionville until a wire was sent back from Agincourt, the next station, to say the plough had reached there safely. Engineer Rigg had just remarked to him that the storm was the worst he had ever been out in when the collision occurred that hurried the engineer to instant death. Mr. Cullen saw his body beside the engine afterwards badly disfigured.

BRICK.

Mrs. Francis, wife of John Francis, of the 12th concession of Brock died on Tuesday, 5th inst., after a few days illness of a paralytic stroke in her 81st year. Mr. and Mrs. Francis are old pioneers coming here among the early settlers of this township. She was highly respected by all who knew her.

The only blood purifier admitted on exhibition at the Chicago World's Fair was Ayer's Sarsaparilla, all others being excluded as secret preparations and patent medicines. With doctors and pharmacists, it has always been considered a standard remedy.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Wednesday last was the coldest day experienced during the present generation. In Hamilton it was 20 below zero, at Owen Sound 36; Walkerton, 34; Toronto, 20. In the northern districts of the Province it registered all the way from 45 at Whitefish Station, Lake Superior, down to 42 at Mattawa and 30 at Minden. The storm prevailed over the entire continent.

Lindsay has just rejected an offer from a summer resort advertising concern to invest $100.00 in their pamphlet. Lindsay is right. With three excellent newspapers possessing considerable more enterprise than usual the town is being advertised about as well as possible. If the council gave $100.00 to the town papers for what they have done in that line it would be more like the proper thing.

Several of our contemporaries have interested themselves of late in the matter of home-work of Public school scholars and with the invariable result that they find nothing to urge in its favor but much to deprecate. This is a position taken by the EXPRESS years ago and we have not as yet found any reason to change our views on the subject. School hours should and would be sufficient for all purposes of study if rightly used without inflicting a long series of studies upon the children when at home. "All work and no play, makes Jack a dull boy" is by no means a senseless aphorism and if too often follows that the everlasting lessons cause an abhorrence of school and its duties which is never overcome. The system should be revised and shorter hours and less holidays given. Where is the necessity of a vacation of six weeks in midsummer. It was possibly useful when the country was young and the help of the youngsters was required in the harvest fields but that time is passed and the relic in the shape of the long vacation should be abolished.

The Toronto Mail, which has been re-organized by the Conservatives, speaks of another session of the present parliament as a thing that has been decided upon, or at least as a matter of course. It says: "If Sir John Thompson's proposition should be reintroduced at the coming session the dispute as to the franchise machinery will be at an end." Let while the premier, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, has been hurrying around to all the capitals and capitalists, and counselling with the rank and file, his colleagues are carrying out a regular campaign in Ontario. Conservative nominations are being hurriedly made and even the Conservative organs have established the regular election campaign columns, giving election news all under one heading. UXBRIDGE.

Our readers, especially in Brock and Reach, will be pained to hear of the death on Monday of Alexander Leask, aged 66, and of Mrs. Leask two days later. They were old residents, prominent in the community and highly respected. They will be very much missed. Mr. Leask was a brother of Mr. David Leask of this town, and lived at Wick.

An ex-Resident of Uxbridge township, going up for the coming summer to visit friends and states that there is more snow in the township than would float half the farms away in the spring. While driving over a high bank of snow his horse got its foot in and upon examination they found the hole was the chimney of a house. A little further on they struck something which proved to be the top of a telegraph pole. This man will some day be a candidate for the position of Dominion statistician.

Some building operations are already looking up for the coming summer. Most of the work is being done mostly outside of the town. Although there is said to be room for some snug and convenient dwellings of moderate rental in town, we hear of no moderate rental in town, we hear of no moderate rental in town, we hear of no moderate rental in town.

Two of last year's Midland District teams have organized—Markham and Woodville. It is very doubtful, however, if Uxbridge will have a league team in the field this year. Rainey and Vyvyan, who have been the backbone of the team for years, will not wear the red and blue of the season. Rainey and Vyvyan will be glad to play with outside teams, but in all probability will retire from the game for good, and Vyvyan intends to devote his spare time to lawn tennis this year.—Journal.

Early Thursday morning last a woman's scream of fire rang through the Eldon house here and those connected with the place were turned into the street with the thermometer hovering about the 15 below zero mark, with in many cases scarcely enough clothing to protect them from the biting breeze to fight the most vicious fire that has occurred in this village for years. The fire started in the front part of the house and is supposed to have originated from the pipe leading from the furnace. The fire had full possession of the front part of the house when noticed, and attention was turned to saving as far as possible the contents of the place. Nearly everything in the lower part of the house was removed but a large percentage of that upstairs was consumed. The contents of the cellar was also destroyed. After the fire had succeeded in reaching the roof fanned by a stiff north wind it spread rapidly. Nothing with the walls escaped. Everything inflammable was turned to ash and scattered to the winds. The wind was in a most favorable direction and had it not been so several other buildings would inevitably have been laid in ashes, but as it was destruction was fortunately confined to the place in which it originated.

Mr. Ad. Shier, of Beaverton, is spending a few days with friends in town.

The Carnival on Thursday evening was well attended. The races were all interesting and exciting except the 2 mile race which resembled a procession. The couple race was the feature of the evening and was won by Miss Mabel Duncaster and Dusty. Dusty was also the winner of the cup in the two-mile race. OUR LETTER BASKET.

MR. BRANDON REPLIES.

To the Editor of the ONTARIO GLEANER: SIR.—Kindly permit a few words in reply to your editorial of last week on the Patron candidate for North Ontario. First—We write in a spirit of charity and sympathy, while we explain away your surmises. In the first place you may be informed that we, the Patrons, had the most and only patriotic convention held in North Ontario for many years—a convention of seventy-five delegates and nearly evenly divided as to their former political connexion there being a mutual care manifested in the selection so as to prevent any suspicion of "packing"; besides we had fully five hundred people at our first meeting which was ably addressed by Mr. Phillips Thompson, one of the ablest speakers on political economy in the country. We had no Government car to bring our delegates on complimentary tickets to the convention and yet many of them drove from twenty to thirty miles in the face of a strong wind with the mercury 23 below zero and old-time Reformers and Conservatives alike came in the same sleigh and all pledged themselves to support the nominee of the convention. Second—As to your assertion of our being hoodwinked (at the same time admitting to us a fair amount of intelligence) by the Reform dodge, you evidently repeat the stock argument of the political demagogues of the old parties. In proof of this Reform dodge, as you put it, secured no less than eleven constituencies from Sir Oliver Mowat on June 23rd last, and would have added one more, making 12 had they not been deterred by the Conservative demagogues of West Victoria—an instance you have quoted. Here our old party played a very unmanly game and were not only defeated themselves but also defeated the Conservative demagogues of West Victoria—an instance you have quoted.
