Park House Destroyed by Fire

About eight o'clock on Sunday evening the alarm of fire hurried the church congregations in their dismissals. It quickly passed from mouth to mouth that the Park House was burning, and upon arri-val at the scene of the fire, it was plainly seen that the handsome structure was doomed. The fire began in the north doomed. The fire began in the northend, and the flames were just observed issuing from the north-west tower. They ran rapidly along the building, which being built entirely of wood, was readily licked up. The burning hotel presented a fine sight. The lambent flames bursting from the many windows of the huge structure lit up the sky for miles around, and was a scene of awful grandeur. So rapidly did the fire extend, that much of the furniture in the hotel could not be saved. By dint of hard work and the exercise of good judgment the fire briexercise of good judgment the fire brigade prevented the fire extending to the old hotel, which Capt. Marlton was using as his winter quarters. A large amount of furniture was taken from this building but much of the stuff was badly damaged but much of the stull was badly damaged by members of the imprevised salvage corps, whose zeal outran their judgment. One man, for instance, endeavored to wrest a handsome marble mantlepiece and arch valued at $80 from its place in the old house, and finding it cemented, let drive wildly at it with an axe, smashing it in pieces. The Park House is completely destroyed. Not a stick is standing, only a heap of ashes marks the spot where the beautiful building once stood. The place was built by the Goderich Summer Hotel Co., about six years ago, at a cost of $6,000 but was not completed. About two ye rs ago Capt. Marlton purchased it, and spent some $4,000 more in finishing the work. A further outlay of $2,000 was made in various improvements about the place, principally in outhouses. The building Capt. Marlton estimates at $12,000; it is insured in the London, Liverpool & Globe Co., for $6.70. The entire furniture is valued at $6,000, and he places his loss at fully one half that; insured for $3,800 in the Western.

The origin of the fire is unknown.

fire had been in the large hotel since the previous Friday, and then it was in the laundry room. In is a perfect mystery laundry room. In is a perfect mystery to the proprietor how the place caught. Messrs. A. Dickson and Miller did good service on the roof of the old building, and it was in a great measure owing to their services that the fire did not extend further.

Capt. Marlton feels his loss keenly. When sked if he would rebuild, he remarked that he would have to hear from some of the companies concerned to see how he is to go on. He would like to GRAIN BUYING.—Considerable is coming into town, Mr. J. Morgan paying a high prices for wheat for the Goderich Harbor Mills. Mr. T. J. Marks is also making purchases of barley at good figures.

Newspaper.—Mr. Aldrich is still in town, but the new newspaper seems as far in the future as ever. Until Bayfield rejoices in a local newsapaper, THE SIG-NAL will be found to give more news re-garding Bayfield and surrounding country than any other publication.

RAILWAY FEVER. - Bayfield has the railway fever bad. It is spoken of on the streets, in the shops, in the hotels and at the home fireside. The entire village seem determined to have a railway at any cost, and as the days draw nigh for the polling in Stanley and Gode-rich Township, the excitement increases.

THE STORM .- The gale on Saturday night blew at a terrible rate, and shook the houses in this vicinity in a way that frightened many of the inmates. Some of the windows of the Morgan House were shattered by the blast. A vessel put into harbor just in time to escape the fury of the gale.

Sunday last. It is passing away quickly, much to the joy of those farmers who have not yet finished taking up their turnips and carrots.

Thanksgiving Day was spent by the people in this neighborhood in a great variety of ways. Some went-to church, others went visiting, while some of the more worldly-minded spent the day in threshing or pulling turnips. Many of the people here think it is folly for the Tory Government to advise the Governor General to appoint a day of thanksgiving, as it completely belies their assertions, "that we are indebted for our prosperity and blessings to the N. P.

The teachers in the vicinity of this place have taken a new and profitable way of spending a part of their time on Saturdays. They have formed an association for the purpose of discussing methods of teaching various subjects, as well as devising ways and means of securing good.

AN ELE' HEAD.—There arrived in Seaforth on Monday last something extraordinary in the way of an elk's head, with the gigantic horns attached. It was with the gigantic horns attached. Mountains; so it seems that deer as well as mountains are built upon a gigantic scale in those far off regions, as the following figures will show:—Length of horns, over 11 feet; length of one horn, 61; length of the bran 'es on both horns, 15 feet; full growth of forn, both of the above combined, over 26 feet; circumference of horn at largest place, 141 inches; circumference at butt 12 inches; spread between tips of horns, 3 feet. Old hunters say that they never saw a more perfect head. The seven branches on each horn constitute what the hunters call a crown head, a thing that is very rare; but this is one of the rare specimens. The Hudson Bay officials at Winnipeg say they never saw better come out of the North-West. This hoary animal has travelled a good deal in its day no doubt, and its last journey was 1,200 miles by cart to Winnipeg and from there to Seatest to Winnipeg and the best book of the seatest to the seat forth by express. We do not know exactly what Mr. Robertson intends to do with it; but if he does not place it over his apple factory or sell it to Barnum, the probability is that he will have it placed over his grave when he dies, to indicate that he has been a mighty hunter in his day. - [Sun.
