A RAMPANT HORSE. -The stallion Sampson is in the habit of making it lively for his grooms when he gets an opportunity. On Thursday of last week he escaped from his quarters at Lucknow, and galloped towards Dungannon pursued by a throng of excited men. He was stopped by Mr. S. C. Hagen, who perceiving the animal, galloped down the road, rushed from the field in which he great plants and the state of the which he was plowing, and seizing a stick, turned him. The brute made a dash at Hagen with oper mouth, but the latter stood his ground, and chased him back, when he was driven into Mr. Redmond's barn, and captured. Samson is a perfect "min exter" and is groomed with didiculty.

last a peculiar proceeding took place here. It seems that a man named Dresser of this village had been instructed by one Dobson, of Saugeen, to build Richard and John Davey with their vives and children left here last week in or Oregon. They will be accompanied hither by Messrs. George and Nathan Cillis, two respectable young men from advanced some money on the building of the boat for him, came to Bayfield last week. In the meantime Mr. Marks of this place, in connection with Dolson, took out an attachment on the built boat and fearing that it might be run out of the harbor on Saturday, hired the con-stable and some others to watch it. About four o'clock on Sunday morning, the watchers, thinking that matters were safe, chained up the boat to the wharf, locked the chain wit' the constable's handcuffs, and retired to rest. Dresser was duly notified of their withdrawal, and it is believed with the assistance of friends, lossed the fastenings of the boat, and took her out of the harbor, chains, handcuffs and all. About six o'clock the boat was seen about four old, for the handsome sum of $250. by the fishing tug Dispatch, and taken toward the waters of Uncle Sam. The following despatch was published in the Toronto dailies on Tuesday last, but at the time of writing we are not in a po-sition to vouch for its correctness:
