

"Just Listen to This"

I HAVE been after you to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and you always say it is intended more for men, that is what I always understood, for I always see you women talking so much about using it."

"Don't you think men have blood nerves as well as women?" says here Dr. Chase. "Nerve Food gives new, rich blood and nourishes the exhausted nerves back to health and vigor."

"Yes." "Well, the doctor says it is your nerves that are responsible for your indigestion and sleeplessness. Why don't you try some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food? You know that it did for me."

"I would like to know of some men in my condition who used it."

"Just listen to this: Mr. A. W. Foster, 178 Le Breton street, Ottawa, Ont., writes: 'For a year I was troubled with "nerves," was restless, especially on retiring, and unable to sleep for hours. I was easily fatigued and very irritable. "A friend told me to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and before I had used the treatment a week I was enjoying a good night's rest every night. I gained rapidly in every way and my general health is very much improved."

"That sounds all right." "Yes. This statement is vouched for by Mr. E. M. Ahearn, the druggist, and is no doubt correct."

"Well, I will give it a try-out."

Commons Voted Confidence in Lloyd George.

Rejected Unionist Amendment by Large Majority—London Press Discuss Irish Situation—More Outrages and Murders Reported From Belfast.

GEORGE GETS CONFIDENCE VOTE.

LONDON, May 25. After a carefully worded statement in an eloquent rebuttal of criticism against him regarding the Conference, Lloyd George once again received support in what is believed another vote of confidence in the House by a majority of 235. He rejected an amendment by Unionist Rupert Gwynne to the motion which the debate was based as a vote of expressing dissatisfaction with the Premier's exposition. "Her Majesty, J. R. Clynes, the Labor leader, and Lord Robert Cecil, the Liberal leader, both voted in support of the Genoa Conference as having accomplished little or nothing for the rehabilitation of Europe.

LOYD GEORGE ON RUSSIA.

LONDON, May 25. In his speech in the Commons to-day, Mr. Lloyd George said he proposed to deal with the Genoa Conference and not to discuss German relations or British relations with Russia, an opportunity for the discussion of which would be provided next week. Although peace had been established in Europe, the war atmosphere prevailed. As to Russia there were three alternatives in dealing with her. The first was force, which had failed. The second was to leave her alone, but this policy involved risks, such as the Russian-German agreement. Germany could not equip Russia commercially, not having the capital, but with armaments it would be different. Whatever was thought of the Soviet Government, some arrangement with Russia was necessary to swell the trade of the world on which many millions depended. The Russian leaders realized they needed outside assistance, and that they could not get credit upon the basis of confiscation and repudiation of debts. Revolutions in England and France had carried confiscation of property, but their case was different. They were not then seeking credit from the outside world as Russia is to-day.

READY TO NEGOTIATE.

WASHINGTON, May 25. The State Department announced to-day that it had communicated to the Canadian Government its willingness to begin negotiations in connection with the St. Lawrence Canal project to permit ocean going vessels to reach the Great Lakes.

FURTHER MURDERS IN BELFAST.

BELFAST, May 25. An armed band to-day entered a pork shop and killed the butcher. Two men were shot this morning in Black Falls District. The Carnegie Library was set afire three times and badly damaged. The Curfew was imposed from 11 to 1 o'clock for the whole six counties of Ulster, with the exception of Belfast where the curfew period will remain unchanged.

THE MATTER OF TARIFFS.

WASHINGTON, May 25. Noting that the new Canadian Budget increases British preference on a number of articles imported into Canada, opponents of the high rates of the pending Tariff Bill here declare the increase of the British preference is the inevitable effect of the tariff policy which is being shaped by high protectionists of the United States and the fulfilment of their prediction that the proposed tariff law will drive away trade from the United States.

IRISH SITUATION DISCUSSED.

LONDON, May 25. The Anglo-Irish Treaty must be saved. This is the burden of the editorial comment on the Irish crisis by a considerable section of the British Press this morning. There are indications of increasing anxiety and even alarm, and the suspicion that the agreement between Eamonn De Valera and Michael Collins covers the intention to declare an Independent Republic, continues unabated. The Times says if the Treaty is repudiated "Great Britain would have to face a terrible but not doubtful situation." "Her duty to Northern Ireland," it adds, "would be especially clear. The Northern Government would have to be protected from any and every act of aggression. The Treaty is the inviolable character of Ulster's rights as well as those of the rest of Ireland. For Englishmen it stands as the one clear criterion in the present obscurity. It offers the only path to settlement and upon its preservation the dread issue of peace or war inexorably depends." The Daily Mail recalling Collin's Ard Fheis speech and recent utterance that the Treaty was merely a step to a Republic inquires what value his signature to the Treaty has, and adds that he and Griffith ought to immediately be asked what their exact position is and warned that Great Britain is not going to be jockeyed into acceptance of a Republic. Elsewhere the refusal of the Ulster Premier, Sir James Craig, to participate in the boundary commission provided for under the treaty is sharply criticized and this development is regarded as further complicating the situation. The Westminster Gazette warns Sir James that Great Britain's voice must be heard on the question as "it would be merely folly for English ministers to insist that Collins adhere to the Treaty if they admitted Craig's veto."

When is a Man Drunk?

MAGISTRATE'S CLERK ANSWERS QUESTION IN VERSE.

"I should like a definition of the word 'drunk,'" said a defendant at Ruabon Sessions, recently. Magistrate's Clerk: "He is not drunk who lies upon the floor. With power to rise and ask for more; But drunk is he who helpless lies Without the power to even rise. You could not rise according to the police evidence. You were drunk." Prehistoric Man in America.

Recent discoveries in the caves of the Ohio valley seem to give evidence that man existed in America in the Glacial Age. In two Kentucky caves were found human bones identified as belonging to an Indian man, and bones of raccoon, ground hog, gray fox, deer, buffalo and bear. The bear skeleton, partly fossilized, is supposed to be the remains of a polar bear that lived in the great Ice Age before the present geologic era.

NICKEL

Celebrated 103rd Birth Anniversary on Empire Day.

LIVED UNDER SIX BRITISH MONARCHS.

Bright and alert, Mrs. Stephen Macdonald of Castle Bay, grandmother of Mrs. W. MacKenzie, 15 Louise street, and of Kenzie Macdonald, of the local staff of the Canadian National, has left the century mark in life well behind and on May 24th she celebrated her 103rd birthday.

Born in Barra, Scotland, in 1819, Mrs. Macdonald has lived under six British sovereigns—George III, George IV, William IV, Victoria, Edward VII, and George V. Mrs. Macdonald came to Canada from the Old Land when a girl of 17, so that nearly all of her very long life has been spent in this country. At Castle Bay she has been for very many years one of the most highly esteemed people of the community, and there is to-day much satisfaction that despite her great age her health continues to be good. Mrs. Macdonald's husband died some years ago. One of her sons, Charles, is now resident in Alberta and a second son, Neil J., in Castle Bay. Mrs. Hector J. McNeill, of McKinnon's Harbor and Mrs. Vincent McPhee, of Eskasoni, are daughters of Mrs. Macdonald, who also has 28 grand-children and 20 great-grandchildren—Sydney Post.

The Hand of Fatima.

Just as the swastika is the charm of the Far East, so the hand of Fatima is the charm of the East. A brooch or pendant in the form of a hand is supposed to avert the evil eye and bring good luck. The thumb and four fingers made the number five, which Arabs think peculiarly fortunate.

An ancient legend amongst the Arabs explains this good luck sign. Fatima, was the favourite daughter of Mohammed—one of the four perfect women of the Mohammedan faith—and was married to Mohammed's cousin, Ali. Once when Ali was about to slay some prisoners who would not embrace the Mohammedan faith, she rushed forward and held up a restraining hand, and the prisoners, overcome by gratitude, became believers.

So the "hand of Fatima" became the symbol of good luck in the East. It is significant that in the Eastern story of Blue Beard the one lucky wife is called Fatima. A frequent greeting amongst the Arabs can be translated, "All five to you," or, as we might say, "The very best to you."

It is curious how, when East meets West, this old-time legend has helped trade. The effect of the famous Rudge-Whitworth trade mark of the uplifted hand on the Arabs of Morocco and Algiers is that, in choosing a bicycle, they will have none but the one with the "hand of Fatima" upon it!
