Mr. Dovle did not think the matter worth notice. The person who made the report must have been either drunk or cracked.

Mr. Bennett thought "drunk or cracked" a very good set-off for the term "Dogberry." He agreed with Mr. Doyle that we should take no notice of Mr. Carter in any other capacity than as their Clerk; they had certainly nothing to do with any private speculation in which he might be concerned. With respect to Mr. Barker's proposition for trammelling or making war upon the Press, his (Mr. Bennett's) opinion was, that they had better let it alone. He was glad to see members of the Press giving their attendance; it was a wholesome check. Let the Council do their duty, and leave the Press to do what they thought was theirs.
