WOODSTOCK'S NEW PRINCIPAL The Selection of Joseph I. Bates by the Senate Heartily Indorsed. The citizens of Woodstock have manifested their warm appreciation of the appointment of Joseph I. Bates, B.A., Ph.M., pointment of Joseph I. Bates, B.A., Ph.M., to the principalship of the Woodstock Baptist College. The new principal has been acting principal of the college since the death of the late Principal Huston, M.A., and has been for fifteen years teacher in the college. He has for more than twenty years been an honored citizen, and no other name could have been received with more favor in connection with the principalship than that of Mr. Bates.

The new principal has qualifications that eminently fit him for the position. It was his privilege to be a student of the institution for years when it was under that master mind, Dr. Fyfe. From the college he ter mind, Dr. Fyfe. From the college he matriculated into Toronto University, and after a full and very thorough course in that matriculated into Toronto University, and after a full and very thorough course in that institution of learning he received his degree of B. A. He then atudied for a year at Ann Arbor University, Mich., where he received the degree of Ph. M. Soon after this, and while Dr. Fyfe was still principal of the college, Mr. Bates became a member of the teaching staff of his Alma Mater. With the exception of one year spent in pursuing special studies in Greek and Latin classics in some of the great English schools and observing methods of teaching, Mr. Bates has been continually engaged in teaching in the college for the past fifteen years. He has had exceptional facilities for perfecting himself in the profession. reaching in the college for the past fifteen years. He has had exceptional facilities for perfecting himself in the profession. The years spent in some of the first schools on this continent — Toronto University, Ann Arbor, Amherst School of Languages, and in England have not been spent in vain. For years he was resident master in charge in the college, and the duties of that position necessarily brought him into such relations as gave him the best opportunities for studying the character of boys and young men. He has at one time or another been associated with Fyte, Wells, Torrance, Goodspeed, Rand, Wolverton, Farmer, Professor Clarke, Huston and others. He is intimately in touch with the history and genius of the institution. Scarcely another name is now or has been for many years more of a household name in Canadian Baptist homes than the honored name of Bates.

MASONIC JUBILEE.

Last Night's Celebration of the 50th Anniversary of a Well-Know London Lodge.

Grand Reception to Visitors from De troit and Toronto

The Detroit Masonic brethren arrived by G. T. R. shortiy before 5 o'clock and were received by the officers of 209a, grand lodge officers, and others. A procession was formed nearly 300 strong. In the Masonic Blue Room, which was crowded Masonic Blue Room, which was crowded, Wor. Bro. Rowat, on behalf of his lodge, extended a cordial and fraternal welcome to the visiting brethren. R. Wor. Bro. Geo. C. Davis, Past Grand Junior Warden, and Very Wor. Bro. J. D. Clarke, Grand Superintendent of Works, were called on to add words of welcome. Both spoke strongly of the fact that Masonry knew no national boundaries, and that a Mason would find a fraternal welcome in any part of the civilized world. R. Wor. Bro. Davis further expressed the hope that the Davis further expressed the hope that the visit of the Detroit brethren on this the jubilee of St. John's Lodge, 209a, would be a red letter day in the history of the lodge. He was arraid the Detroit brethren would find the attractions of this fair Forest City so many that they would not be able to tear themselves away from it.

The words of welcome were warmly applauded by the Detroit brethren.

Wor. Bro. Hannah, the respected Worshipful Master of Detroit Lodge, No. 2, G. R. of Michigan, replied in a neat address. Davis further expressed the hope that the

The Toronto brethren kept arriving by C. P. R. trains during the previous 24 hours, but the main contingent came in at 7 n.m. They were received by a delegation of 209a men, and escorted to the Masonic temple, where, like the brethren of Detroit who had preceded them, they were warmly welcomed by Wor. Bro. Rowat and the London brethren. The expressive third degree was conferred in the crowded hall by Wor. Bro. Hannah and his officers. It was faultlessly worked, and at its close they received the warmer congratulations.

A NOVEL ENTERPRISE.

Ladies' Costume Department Established by Burns, the Giothiers.

London and London's merchants are never behind the times. Something new is always being introduced. One of the latest additions is a departure comparatively unto having adopted the plan. Burns, the clothiers, have recently added to their noted establishment a novel costume department for ladies. The work is done entirely by men with the exception of the fitting. The garments are made to fit perfectly and to last longer than if made on the cities and towns have liberally patronized Messrs. Burns in this line of late. Why should not London ladies do likewise? The dress goods and trimmings are kept in stock, and the display is a credit to the city. There is but one dress piece of each kind, and the number to choose from is large—so large that every variety of taste can be satisfied. The trimmings and goods are of first-class quality, having been imported direct from the best british markets. The workmen are all experienced and thorough by trained, and satisfaction is assured.
