Rossland and Slocan

Mr. Edward Cronyn's Views - Six Months Devoted to Personal Investigation-To Investors.

Having just concluded six months personal investigation of mines and mining in the great gold and silver camps of Rossiand and the Slocan, submit as follows: My investigation was made from the standpoint of an investor, also from that of one who might be asked, or feel disposed, to advise the investment of money by others who have not the opportunity to personally visit the mines.

In addition to actual examination of the mines, I have gone very carefully into the different methods of company organization, plans of opera-tion and the character of individuals forming boards of management of companies prominently before the pub-lic with their shares. But a very short stay in Rossland or the Slocan is required to convince the most skeptical that the great gold and silver mines are not only destined to enrich Canada, but to create many individual fortunes.

My especial purpose, therefore, soon became the determination as to what kind of organization, operation and men "at the helm" were best calculated to assure profitable results to investors, assuming that a good mining property had first been secured.

I submit briefly the conclusions at which I have arrived: A. Given a first-class property the company mining or it must be properly under some incorporation law sufwell established by ficiently highest judicial decisions, to enable the shareholders and officers to know precisely what their powers, privileges and responsibilities are.

B. Given a first-class organization, sound management is absolutely necessary. By "sound," I mean honest and capable. If either qualification is to be sacrificed, let it not be honesty, for dishonest managers can readily divert the profits entirely away from the C. In any event, ample working capital is esential to safe, profitable mine operation. This is especially true if the property be, as is usually the case, undeveloped, for time and money are necessary to enable the opening up and equipment of the best of mines

before the ore can be extracted economically and profitably. D. Reasoning backward, if the incorporation law under which the company is formed be defective, or vague and untried, litigation and loss are possible at every stage; or, if the management be unsound, the profits may be absorbed by excessive salaries or wasted by reckless, extravagant expenditures; or, if sufficient provision is not made in the beginning for procuring ample working capital as required, the company may have to suspend operations before the property become productive, until the shareholders can be assessed voluntarily, or otherwise, to procure more funds. Becoming fully satisfied that the shares of companies coming up to requirements A, B, C and D, operating either in the Rossland or Slocan dis tricts would, at a reasonable price per share, afford a sound and remunerainvestment, I was very much pleased to have placed at my disposal. at first price, a considerable number of shares of the treasury stock of a company developing first-class properties in both of the districts named. Having thoroughly investigated the property, organization and management of this company, I am prepared to vouch for it in every particular. Persons contemplating an investmen in mining shares are therefore invited to call upon or address me at the office of Cronyn & Betts, barristers, Huron and Erie building, Richmond street, London, where I may be found from Feb. 4 until my return to Ross-land.
