BULL FIGHT HORRORS

Animal Rips Open Two Fighters In

French Arenas. Paris, Nov. 24.-Humanitarians have been greatly stirred up by two recent bull fights at Nimes and Marseilles. In the arena at Nimes a Spanish toreador named Belcita was about to o execute a mantle pass with his weapon, close to the barricode, when the inis now lying between life and death.
While the bulls were less fierce at horror was repeated. Miguel Monhers and Lorete Chico were the sufferers in this instance. The bull Chico goaded tossed him twice upon his horns before ripping epen his stomach. Protests against such spectacles are heard throughout France.

these days through a report submitted by Inspector Hughes as to the attendance at the public schools of that city. The report shows that far from keeping pace with the increases of population, the number of pupils in daily attendance is considerably smaller than it was two years ago. According to the estimate of the assessment has increased from 206,887 to 219,002 ures. The conditions are made the says it is next to impossible to overmore satisfactory by the fact that the work the average pupil, because though school accommodation has been in the teacher may help the child in the LIVERPOOL & LONDON & GLOBE creased by fifteen rooms during the school, it is an utter impossibility to make him work all the time. His space for 810 additional pupils. The mind goes wool-gathering, and it's a LONDON HAS NO COMPLAINT. From figures shown The Advertiser by Inspector Carson and Secretary McElheran, it is shown convincingly that London has no complaint to make in this regard. Taking the September figures for example, it is shown that during that month in 1902 there were on the rolls of London public schools 5,178 pupils, each day, with an average daily attendance of 4,425. In September, 1903, there were on the rolls 5,287 pupils each day of the month an average daily attendance of 4,434. In recommended that drawing be taught. 1902 London's population was 39,265, and in 1903 the population is 40,143. Thus this year's school attendance vate the eye of the student and give shows an increase over last, though as Inspector Carson points out it is not an increase in proportion to popula- that pupils, who are taught drawing tion. The inspector is enthusiastic regardng the work being accomplished in the schools by Miss Auta Powell, the drawing expert. Miss Powell has been for a year engaged teaching drawing to the teachers as well as the pupils, taking two schools at a time, spending eight weeks between them. Mr. Carson says that at one time many people were opposed to drawing being taught in the schools, but that today conditions are changed.
