PURSE OF GOLD PRESENTED TO REV. J. G. PERDUE

Beautiful Handbag for Mrs. Perdue—Eulogistic Address Read.

Cronyn Hall was the scene of a large gathering of the members of St. Paul's Cathedral last night to say farewell to Rev. J. G. Perdue and Mrs. Perdue, who sail on May 7 for Ireland. Canon Dann presided at the meeting, and Mr. Perdue was asked to come forward, and was presented by Mr. A. W. Fraser with a purse of $25 in gold from the congregation and an address which was read by Mr. Fraser.

It was signed on behalf of the Women's Guild by Mrs. Hunt. Following the presentation to Mr. Perdue, a beautiful seal handbag was given to Mrs. Perdue.

A Silver Service.
Canon Dann then presented to Mr. Perdue a magnificent silver private communion service, and in making the presentation expressed his most sincere regret at losing such a valuable assistant, and regretted particularly the cause of Mr. Perdue's leaving and hoped that he would have a speedy return to good health.

Mr. Perdue, in replying, spoke of the very pleasant relations that have always existed between himself, the rectory and the congregation, and expressed the hope that in the future he may again come to Canada and be with the members of St. Paul's.

Before the gathering closed light refreshments were served by the Ladies' Guild, and musical numbers rendered by Misses J. H. Strong and Margaret Williams were thoroughly enjoyed.

VESPER SERVICE IN ST. PETER'S

His Lordship Bishop Fallon Assisted in the Cathedral! Last Night.

FATHER NOLAN'S SERMON

An Eloquent and Scholarly Address on the Roman Catholic Church by a Lowell Priest.

Pontifical vespers were sung last evening at St. Peter's Cathedral, the congregation was as large, if not larger, than the one attending the consecration. There was not a vacant seat in the spacious cathedral. Bishop Fallon was in attendance and took part in the service.

The sermon was preached by Rev. Father Nolan, O. M. I., Lowell, Mass., and was a very eloquent and scholarly address. Prior to the sermon he made a happy allusion to the new bishop, and added his compliment to the ability of the head of the diocese.

Loss of the Oblates.
Father Nolan declared that the Oblates were losing one of their most valued priests. This caused them sorrow, for the loss was heavy. However, they rejoiced that he had been raised to the dignity of the episcopacy, and he felt certain that he would bring to bear his great ability in defence of the truth.

"I congratulate the priests of this diocese," said Father Nolan, "I congratulate the people of this parish, in that they have a bishop who will raise his voice for his people, who will use his great talents in defence of that faith so dear to all Catholics. We Oblates are sure to lose a father, a brother and a friend, but we rejoice in the honor done him, and trust that his labors among you may be abundantly successful under God."

Sermon on the Church.
The sermon was on the church, and dealt with its history from its inception to the present day. He pointed out that although time had left its imprint on all things human, it had failed to leave a mark on the brow of the church, and she stood today, not in the decrepitude of old age, but in the decay of strength, but in full vigor and strength. The Christ came and found the world steeped in idolatry. He spoke of righteousness and judgment to come. The people and the rulers conspired against him. They asked him to deny his divinity, but he refused. He was crucified. On his resurrection he commissioned his disciples to go throughout the world and preach the gospel. Then came the persecutions of the early days.

Since that time the church has felt all the pangs that were present in his body during his life. She has been called a usurper. She has felt joy and depression. She has felt a dejection as great as when the Lord and Master himself said, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" She has stood in the midst of a storm, and she has stood in the midst of a deluge, and she has stood in the midst of a fire, and she has stood in the midst of a flood. Her bodies all aflame made torches to light Nero through his gardens.

Triumph of the Church.

The church triumphed over these persecutions in spite of the opposition of the Roman Empire.

Later heresy tried to do what persecution failed to do. There was the heresy of Arius, but the Council of Nice settled the fate of that heresy. Then came the heresy of Pelagius, followed later by the so-called reformation. The bishops stood like a wall of brass and beat back the flood of heresy. There was no doubt the church lost many, in this revolt from the church, in the old world, but she has gained millions more in the new world.

The conflict was not yet ended. The church was charged with intolerance, with enslaving men's reason, with being the enemy of science, and many other things.

Attitude of the Church.
The church was in a state of view of falsehood, and error of unbridled license, falsely called liberty, of indelicacy and atheism, of injustice, and of a general state of anarchy. The church was a badge of shame, but rather of glory. She was not intolerant of civilization, she was the pioneer of civilization. She established law, maintained order, and defended the people. The church tamed Attila, called the scourge of God, and carried the gospel to the ends of the world. The French revolution was one example of a reign of reason. The charge that the church subverted men's reason was a calumny.

She was also charged with being old-fashioned, but the church insisted that the rules of faith and conduct given of old should stand. She was old-fashioned, but she was not who did not desire liberty, but license.

A large number of the visitors from Buffalo attended vespers, leaving immediately after the ceremony for home.

BISHOP FALLON PRESIDES AT DINNER

Distinguished Gathering of Archbishops, Bishops and Priests in St. Peter's Hall.

BISHOP GAVE ADDRESS

His Lordship Was Warmly Eulogized by the Speakers—Speech Was a Splendid Attain.

Not by any means the least important part of the programme in connection with the installation of Bishop Fallon was the banquet yesterday afternoon in St. Peter's Parish Hall.

It was a brilliant assemblage gathered around the festive board in the new hall, now almost completed. The auditorium was prettily decorated for the occasion. The tables were loaded with all that the appetite could demand, while the Town Vite orchestra of fifteen pieces discoursed sweet music from the gallery.

A Notable Gathering.
On a platform at the end of the hall was a table at which sat the archbishops and archbishops. At the centre of the table sat Bishop Fallon, the guest of honor. To his right was Archbishop McEvay, of Toronto, and to his left Archbishop Langevin, of Winnipeg, and ranged around them the other bishops and archbishops.

Below were seated the priests of the diocese.

The hall presented a brilliant appearance, with the red and purple-robed dignitaries at the head table on the raised platform, and the more sombre-dressed priests in the body of the hall.

For over two hours the gathering remained seated, doing "full justice" to the delectable menu, and listening to the fine after-dinner speeches which followed.

In addition to the many qualities which fit him so eminently for the bishopric, Bishop Fallon showed himself to be an excellent master of ceremonies at a function of this nature.

Bishop Can Tell a Joke.
A continual cross-fire of good-natured banter and humor passed between the bishop and those seated around him. Bishop Fallon can tell a joke with the best of them. Some of the stories told were enough to disperse the equanimity of some men, but Bishop Fallon has a happy faculty of turning the joke on the teller, and by his witticisms kept the gathering in a continual uproar. His smiling face and untroubled good nature make him a most fit personage to preside at such a function, and he kept things moving most smoothly and harmoniously.

Archbishop's Tribute.
At the conclusion of the banquet, when he arose to speak, the orchestra struck up "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," and the audience took it up most enthusiastically. He spoke only a few words, but it was enough to put the gathering in the best of good humor.

There were only two speakers, and both addresses were of the briefest nature.

Archbishop McEvay, of Toronto, paid tribute to the excellent qualities of Bishop Fallon in a few words, and looked for the most harmonious relations between bishop and priests. His concluding words were: "I have not been in London very long, but I feel very much at home."

Bishop Muldoon.
Bishop Muldoon, Bishop of Rockford, near Chicago, was the other speaker. Referring to Bishop Fallon, he said: "I compliment you upon your bishop. We expect good bishops unless they come from a good and energetic priesthood. There is no bishop who will understand the trials of his priests, unless he has had trials in his own priesthood. Your bishop comes to you with his laurels well won."

A further tribute was paid to Bishop Fallon's amiability and tactfulness, and the speaker predicted a great future for him.

A Brother and Father.
"The bishop should be a brother and a father to the priests. I think the priests of this diocese will find Bishop Fallon true brother and father to all. When the Catholic Church Extension Society was founded in the United States, it was then that Bishop Fallon came forward and said, 'Count me with you, and gave energy, encouragement and advice to the project.'"

Church Extension.
The speaker predicted great things for the Canadian Church Extension Society, and counselled the priests to rally round the bishop.

"Without any comparison," he said, "I believe Canada is rising up like a giant, and shaking off the sleep which has long been upon her.

"The happiest days of my life have been since I became a bishop, and I think Bishop Fallon's happiest days are yet to come. 'I only hope I can be like him in energy and ability and kindness to his clergy in years to come.'"

Bishop Fallon.
Bishop Fallon's closing words were of bright hope for the future. "If we work together," he said to the priests, "I can see nothing but the brightest prospects for the church and people in this diocese."

Eczema On Head and Arm

Four Doctors Failed After Fair Trial—Cure Effected By DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

The average physician is helpless in the presence of skin diseases, such as eczema and salt rheum. Some make the mistake of treating eczema as a blood disease and advise internal treatment. Others think only relief is possible and recommend a lotion to afford relief from the itching.

Whatever the cause may be local treatment is necessary to heal up the sores, which otherwise spread over the body and produce the greatest suffering imaginable.

By far the most successful treatment for eczema is the use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment. You can verify this statement by inquiring of any druggist. This letter is a fair sample of what we are receiving about every day:

Mr. George Peterson, South Bay, Ont., writes: "I wish to communicate to you the great benefit I received from using Dr. Chase's Ointment. For years I suffered with a skin disease on my head, a sort of eczema. I tried four doctors, giving each a fair trial, but got no better. In fact, the disease spread to my left arm."

"I saw Dr. Chase's Ointment advertised and began using it. Persistent use of this treatment has entirely cured me and I give you a statement of my case with pleasure as I hope thereby to induce some other sufferer to try the same Dr. Chase's Ointment."

There is a wonderful satisfaction in using Dr. Chase's Ointment, for you can see from day to day just what results are being accomplished. Sixty cents a box, all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

At Mormon Hollow, in the town of Masonville, Delaware County, N. Y., there is one of the most unique schools in the state. It is composed of only one pupil, who is the child of the teacher, Mrs. Baxter. The teacher receives $9 a week for her services, and the school is as regularly maintained as though there were dozens of pupils to be instructed. There were a number of pupils connected with the school once, but they have either died grown to manhood or womanhood or moved away. The old schoolhouse is now such a dilapidated structure as to be unfit for school purposes, and the school is held in a private dwelling which is also the abode of teacher and scholar.
