

OBITUARY.

James Hendry.
We regret to announce the death of Mr. James Hendry of Belvedere Gloucester County, which took place on Tuesday at Mrs. Ward's in West Bathurst after an illness extending over a considerable period.

The deceased Mr. Hendry was in his seventy-sixth year. He belonged to the family of Hendrys that has been associated with Belvedere for generations. As a matter of fact his people were among the first settlers in the district. He resided there all his life, while other members of the family went to British Columbia and the United States.

Brought up on the home farm the late Mr. Hendry became a farmer himself, and together with a sister within the year, he spent his life amid the friends and surroundings of his youth. Respected by everyone who knew him Mr. Hendry's death will be regretted by a wide circle.

A nephew and namesake of the deceased, Mr. James A. Hendry arrived from Duluth several days ago and he took charge of the remains which were conveyed from the village to the deceased's home in Belvedere where interment took place yesterday in the little cemetery by the Bay of Chaleur.

Other relatives of the deceased, cousins and so forth, are resident in Vancouver, B. C.

JANUARY ROD AND GUN.

Lovers of the out-of-door life will welcome the January edition of Rod and Gun in Canada, which contains many interesting and instructive articles and stories dealing with Nature and her children, in the winter.

"Teens Less Twenty," is the title of a romantic story by Charles Derlan, which appears in this issue along with several other stories by such well known writers as F. V. Williams, Harry M. Moore, E. T. Martin and others equally famous. For the firearms crank there is the usual valuable Guns and Ammunition department and special articles on rifle and revolver shooting. The fisherman takes a trip along a Nova Scotian trout stream, by Bonnycastle Dale, while Robert Page Lincoln's article opens the road to the thrills of ice fishing. The trapper is taken care of by M. U. Bates and Archie Josephlyn, in the Trap Line department. The January issue of the national sportsman's magazine of Canada is published monthly by W. J. TAYLOR, LIMITED, WOODSTOCK, Ont.

AN I. C. R. VETERAN.

The oldest conductor, if not the oldest employee of the I.C.R. is John Coffey, who for many years had conducted the Moncton-Springhill train. He has been forty-six years a conductor. He was first employed on the old E. & N. A. Railways in 1869, when Lewis Carvell was manager. He was for two years a section hand at the Shediac end. In 1881 he became a brakeman and in 1875 a conductor. He has a unique record. He never had a passenger killed or even injured on his trains, no employees with him has ever been injured.

LOCOMOTIVES IN PAWN.

Early Struggles of Great Eastern Railway Recalled.

London, Dec. 7.—Lord Claud Hamilton, chairman of the Great Eastern Railway Company, presiding at the annual distribution of prizes of the Mechanics' Institution at Stratford last night, said that in its early days the railway company was at one time in such a critical state financially that they had to mortgage many of their locomotives. It was then not an uncommon sight, he was told, to see engines running about with brass plates affixed which stated: "This engine is the property of"—Mr. Nathan or Mr. Robinson, or whoever it was who advanced money on them.

A DOCTOR'S DAUGHTER & Zam-Buk

Well-known Salvationist Tells of Mother & Son Saved from Blood-Poison & Disablement.

"One cannot speak too highly of this wonderful Zam-Buk," says Mrs. Jane E. Zealley, an ex-Major of the Salvation Army and daughter of the late Dr. Bevan, of St. David's, South Wales. Called upon at her home, 8, Bunkers Avenue, Toronto, Mrs. Zealley said: "Eight years ago my boy Alfred scratched his leg with the brass tag of a shoe lace and blood poisoning set in. I had used various ointments on it, but without doing good, when, hearing splendid reports about Zam-Buk I decided to give it a trial. You can imagine my relief, when, after a few applications of Zam-Buk, I saw that the swelling had already started. Continued treatment quickly removed every trace of the detestable sore. It made me realize what pain and suffering I might have saved the boy, had I got Zam-Buk at first."

"When I fell over a steel ladder and injured my knee badly, I again used Zam-Buk. My daughter, who was a nurse, thought an operation would be necessary to remove the mass of inflammation and pus, but I hadn't forgotten my previous experience with Zam-Buk. Again regular applications of the balm took out all pain and swelling and healed the wound in a few days. The knee has never given further trouble." (Verbal)

Canadian Apple Exhibition

The speed at which Canadian products can be put on the market in England was strikingly demonstrated recently. The Department of Colonization and Development of the Canadian Pacific Railway recently shipped by Dominion Express on the "Empress of Britain" a consignment of Canadian apples for exhibition at 62-65, Charing Cross, and the other offices of the company in Europe. The apples came from various Canadian provinces, and it is interesting to note that some of them actually left the producer and were on show in less than eight days. For instance, the Ontario consignment left Trenton, Ontario, at 2 a.m., November 1, by C.P.R., arrived Montreal at 8 a.m., left at 9 a.m., and arrived Quebec at 2 p.m. They were immediately placed on board the Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Britain," which arrived Liverpool on Tuesday morning, Nov. 8. Before the last passenger was off the ship the apples were discharged, whisked in Dominion Express motors to the special train to Euston Station, London, which was reached soon after 2 p.m. the same day. Here Dominion Express vans collected them, and at 3 o'clock they were on exhibition in the windows of the Canadian Pacific at Charing Cross, with a card reading, "Canadian apples, from producer to consumer in less than eight days."

Though Canada is three thousand miles from England, our system of quick transportation is bringing us nearer to that country every day. Recently the "Empress of Britain" went to Liverpool and back to Quebec in 15 days, including the time taken in embarking and disembarking passengers.

REPEP

WHEN a child starts coughing mother's duty is to give the little sufferer a Repep tablet, and thus prevent any weakening of the lungs. As the tablet dissolves in the child's mouth, the soothing medicinal fumes given off pass through the tender breathing passages straight to the lungs and bring immediate comfort and relief.

Repep contains no opium or other harmful drugs, and it can be given to a child (either whole or crushed to a powder) with the assurance of absolute benefit.

One little Repep at night will clear the breathing passages and let the little one sleep peacefully by coughing fits. A Repep before starting for school in bad weather is also an invaluable safeguard for the children's throats and chests. All dealers, Dec. box.
