

THE WEST ONTARIO MATCH-MAKING.

Farmer Blake.—I WOULD NOT COERCE YOU, MY DAUGHTER, BUT IF YOU LOVE YOUR FATHER YOU'LL TAKE THIS NICE YOUNG CITY MAN.

altogether different in character and instincts, upon which they are lavishing all their attention.

The one who remembers me best is my Pamphleteer friend, who never tires letting the Government know, by means of regularly despatched printing accounts, that he once had the bringing up, or at least out, of me and my favorite cousins.

I was going to get my friend, the Grit Politician Picnic Speech, to write his autobiography and present the two of them together. But on reading mine he assures me that his experiences have been so precisely similar to those I narrate, names and dates and a few other things transposed or slightly altered, that an autobiography from his pen would only be a dreary repetition of this one.

Rev. J. G. Calder, Baptist minister, Petrolia, says:—"I know many persons who have worn Notman's Pads with the most gratifying results. I would say to all suffering from bilious complaints or dyspepsia: Buy a pad, put it on and wear it, and you will enjoy great benefits." Hundreds of others bear similar testimony. Send to 120 King St. East for a pad or treatise.

"Has Vulcan Left the Skies?" is the title of a scientific article in an exchange. We understand that Vulcan is guilty of forging, and it may be that he has left the skies for Canada.—Norristown Herald.

It is no wonder that the confidence men succeed so well in New York. They are about the only race of people in that city who act as if they cared a straw whether a stranger lives or dies.—Philadelphia Call.

Miss Blanche Howard, of Boston, admits that she wrote "One Summer." So will we, so will we. In fact we will admit having written several summers and winters also, if we are pressed to the point.—Texas Siftings.

During a performance of Hamlet in St. Louis there were loud cries for the author, and the manager telegraphed all over the city to find out if William Shakespeare lived there. At least the Philadelphia Call says so.

A little four-year-old said to his mother last week, "Mother, I believe God thinks I'm dead." "Why?" asked his mother, somewhat astonished at the remark. "'Cause I haven't said my prayers for a week."—Denver Tribune.

PREVENTION BETTER THAN CURE.

DOCTOR.—This might have been avoided if you had seen that your bedding was properly cleaned. More diseases arise from impure bedding than from anything else. Send it at once to

"Ma," said a Somerville girl, with a weary air, as she listlessly moved her needles, "I don't think I will knit any more on this stocking at present; I am tired." "You just knit away, Katie," replied the matron, with a severe air; "you knit as fast as you can. This is a Democrat household, this is, I want you to understand, and the you knit rule prevails here."—Somerville Journal.

A Frenchman met an English soldier with a Waterloo medal, and cast reproaches on the English Government for bestowing such a trifle, remarking that it would scarcely cost three francs. "That may be true," replied the hero, "but then it cost the French Government a Napoleon."
