particular street on January 26, 1959 accompanied by a Mr. Janelle, and parked the car on watch.

At about 7.25 a convertible Pontiac came up, topped in front of 3442, and the man stepped out of the car and entered that number, and came out with a woman—the woman on the photograph.

Then they followed the car to the motel. The man and woman—the correspondent and he respondent—walked into a cabin. The evidence continues:

We waited 20 or 25 minutes; the lights went out in the cabin, and we walked to the door. Mr. Janelle knocked; it took a minute or a minute and a half before he came and opened the door: the man was wearing his b.v.d.'s. He asked what we wanted and Mr. Janelle talked to him. The woman was sitting on the side of the bed wearing only a slip and brassiere.

Janelle said she was not sitting on the bed at all, but that she was sitting in a chair. I point out that this kind of evidence might just as well not be here at all. It adds nothing to what has already been stated. As I have said, there is ample evidence already as far as adultery is concerned over a period of some 15 years—evidence that a child had been born out of wedlock of which his woman's husband is not the father. This, I would say, is proof positive that adultery had taken place whereas the evidence given by the chief of police and by Mr. Janelle is merely that they discovered a couple of people together in this motel. It concerns only the state of dress of the two people concerned, and all this took place within 20 or 25 minutes between the time they got to the motel and the time they knocked on the door.

BUSINESS OF THE HOUSE

Mr. Chevrier: May I ask the Leader of the Opposition if there is any change in the business which was announced last night for next week?

Mr. Churchill: There are two slight changes to announce. I listed for Monday certain bills dealing with financial matters. I should like to change the order. The bills are given on page 4765 of Hansard, but I will repeat them.

1. The second reading of Bill No. C-74 referring to the Customs Tariff.

2. Bill No. C-73 referring to the Excise Tax Act.

3. Bill No. C-65 referring to the Estate Tax Act.

4. Bill No. C-69 referring to the expenditures of the Canadian National Railways system.

5. Bill No. C-64, to amend the Emergency Gold Mining Assistance Act.

6. Bill No. S-32, to authorize the construction and maintenance of a bridge across the St. Lawrence river near the town of La Salle.

7. Bill No. C-68 referring to the Income Tax Act.

If this business should be completed on Monday there is available item 10 on today's order paper, the resolution in the name of the Minister of Finance dealing with the Public Service Superannuation Act.

For Tuesday, the first item will be consideration of the resolution in the name of the Prime Minister, dealing with the matter of the tenure of office of judges, followed by the motion in the name of the Minister of National Revenue to set up a select committee on the subject of broadcasting. Any of the items which I have called for Monday which are not completed on Monday would be dealt with again on Tuesday if the business proceeds rapidly enough.

Mr. Chevrier: I suppose the Minister of National Revenue is free now to deal with this matter.

Mr. Churchill: And quite happy.

At six o'clock the house adjourned, without question put, pursuant to standing order.
