Diar Scrib,
I wish you would ask the Revd. Mr. Mortgage his reasons for reading the evening-psalms in the morning, and the morning-psalms in the evening, on Sunday the 13th instant. Your's, & c. CUT-UP.

To Cogrespondents. Elieus's Women, a paraphrase from the ©iconomy of human iife, will appear the Grit opportunity : the scene of his verses to Stella being laid in "ttie leafy shade of yonder grove," while > "the smiling spring Spreads abroad ber plumy wing," they will not suit the squalls, the sleet, and the frosts of N .venber, and will have to remain till the return of the genial season. No. 3 of Bill Evesdroppar \& Son's Cbambly $J o u r n a l$ has been received, and will appear, but Nos. 1 and 2 have aever come to hand; if possible, a copy of them is requested to be sent, by post, to S. H. Wilcacke, Burlingtion, Vermont. I have not found room for Plato as I had hoped I should : to this esteemed correspondent, and to al' my other contributors who may feel dubious on the sabjoct, I beg to say, that all Kayc and communications in which raal names are introduced, are invariably burnt, as well as such letters as are requested to be destroyed; others I keep for reference, but in a place of inaccessible security; my correspondens may therefore be perfectly eusy at to whatever actually reathet my bands, but that some ietmers hawe miscaried, or have been intercepted, is certain, and it will therefore be necessary to use great caution, in sending communications by the only three safe modes, namely, through the Montreal post-uffice, the Scribbier letter-bor, or the United State's mail to Burlington. L'Amide ta Papris will appear in :bhe 5 Free Brocs. I shall endeavour to dish up a hash out of the fragments furnished by imen. Sam Ginerz's second favour will appear early; in explanation of my meaning as to local description, etc. I beg to repeat the wishes expressed in No. 53, for the occa. sional communication of articles descriptive of local scenery, ${ }^{2} s$ well as of charaters ; of geology, mineralogy, natural hisiory and topography, as well as of manners, custems, and passing events. A Halfopay-oficice, A Subscriber, from Ste Marie Nouvelle Beauce, Castigator, and Fair $\mathrm{U}_{\text {iling }}$, from Quebe:, in nexi number: the further promised communications of Fals Draling will be particularly accepra-
