News of the Boxers
George Rodol, who is always ready to box any heavyweight, even though he expects to get a whaling, has accepted Young Alcazar's world "title" and the pair will box at Brighton Beach, N. Y., on next Saturday night. It means that Alcazar will be credited with out-pointing a 100-lb-rater and that the latter will get some needed cash.
Corporal Jimmy Summers is the title that the ex-well-known champion of England now flaunts before his friends. The other day at Carey, France, one prominent French boxer was killed and two others so badly wounded that they will be out of the game forever.
Although the St. Paul Club took in $5,700 at its first boxing show the other night, it lost money.
Leach Cross says he is not worrying about any wolf coming to his door, as he has enough of his ring earnings tucked away. He dropped a big bundle in the stock market, and that acted as a tip to him to stop dabbling in stocks.

TENNIS
Y. M. C. A. Courts Open.
New tennis courts and quiet pitches at the Y. M. C. A. were formally opened yesterday afternoon. The courts have been made at the side of the building on a vacant piece of land and are of sand and clay, with splendid surfaces. The pitches are of clay. There were several directors and members to witness the first games, which were followed by short addresses by the president of the tennis club, J. M. Roche, who mentioned that the making of the courts had been possible through the generosity of F. N. Brodie, honorary president of the club. Horace Porter and J. Hunter White also spoke, touching on the advantages of having such means of recreation. The gathering then was served with refreshments by the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary and the Young Ladies' League. The opening games resulted as follows: Quits—J. Henderson and F. C. Smith won from F. N. Brodie and D. C. Clarke, 21 to 19; G. E. Barbour and

CONFERRERS SHOOT HOLES THROUGH MAYOR'S ASSESSMENT COMMISSION

Com. Potts—"It does not unless you can prove that I am wrong. It is putting a gun to the heads of the commissioners. I would not like to think that these gentlemen would act in such a way and I don't believe they would."
Com. McEllan—recounted Com. Potts' nomination. He asked the mayor if the three members mentioned would not serve on the new body.
His Worship—"Yes. They will serve as a body or not at all."
Com. McEllan—"In that case the only thing we can do is to defer action until other citizens can be secured. I do not think it essential that they should serve. I do not know Prof. Kierstead personally, but I know that he is regarded as the foremost expert on political economy in eastern Canada. I have been in touch with him and he said if elected, he would be pleased to act. I support Mr. Maxwell because I think he has shown that he is the acknowledged representative of the labor man of the finance board. Dr. Connelley has asked other bodies to name representatives, say the manufacturers, the clerks, the labor unions, and so on down the line. I think Mr. Scully has secured much information and experience as a member of the board of valuers. Mr. Hayes is a former alderman and chairman of the finance board. Dr. Connelley is a recognized legal authority and might be regarded as a representative of the estates while fair-minded enough to be impartial."
Com. Wigmore spoke in favor of the of the various members nominated by Mr. Potts.

Mayor Frink then retired from the chair asking Com. Wigmore to take his place.
His Worship then made a statement, vigorously denying and denouncing the allegation of double dealing. This charge was made and the other commissioners at dumb not one of them dissenting. I nominated these men and I was assured by other commissioners that they were an excellent selection. You, yourself, Mr. Wigmore, told me it was a "cover-up." But there has been a change. The wind has veered around and Prof. Kierstead's name has bobbed up since Sunday. If the commissioners want the aid of experts, there is full power to secure them. Economy has been urged, the saving of a $2,000 in a matter involving hundreds of thousands. Wonderful, is it not?
With twice charged with double dealing for the first time in my career, I care not who makes such a statement, and it is not the least when it is made by such a man as Com. Potts, whose record appears in the minute book here."

Com. Potts—"I rise to a point of order. The mayor—I am not. I am as excited as he is."
Com. Potts—"I did not charge the mayor as he has said. What I said was there must be double dealing."
The chairman—"You do not charge the mayor with double dealing, Mr. Potts?"
Com. Potts—"No."
Chairman—"Is that satisfactory, Your Worship?"
Mayor Frink—"Yes, if he says he did not make the charge against me."
Com. Russell—"I think His Worship misunderstood Com. Potts."
The mayor—"Regarding Prof. Kierstead, I know how far you will get when you bring a man from Fredericton to act on this commission. I had great difficulty in securing the consent of my nominees, and only by appealing to their public spirit and loyalty. None of them asked for appointment, and I have no personal interest in the appointments. These gentlemen discussed the matter and agreed to work together as a team to secure the best results. After they completed their labors, the council would have full opportunity to criticize their efforts. They are congenial to each other, and I am sure will not consent to a rearrangement."
Com. McEllan—"I know the objection to a Fredericton man might have some sentimental weight, but Dr. Kierstead is only domiciled in the capital by the accident of the university being located there."
The mayor—"And these men are nominated without their consent?"
Com. McEllan—"Dr. Kierstead has consented, and I understand Mr. Maxwell has, and I took it for granted that the others had."
The amendment was put and carried.

New Secretary.
Com. McEllan moved that the secretary for the appointment of a section for the members of the commission and the Young Ladies' League. The opening games resulted as follows: Quits—J. Henderson and F. C. Smith won from F. N. Brodie and D. C. Clarke, 21 to 19; G. E. Barbour and

S. C. Matthews Leads Pie Auction—Some $200 More For Red Cross

A sale and pie social at Lakeside last night under the supervision of S. C. Matthews was a decided success and more than $200 was realized for the Red Cross Society to assist in purchasing material for hospital work. This was the sixth event of its kind at which Mr. Matthews gave his assistance, and through his aid between $600 and $700 has been directed into the treasury of the Red Cross.

The Lakeside social was the most profitable so far. The ladies and gentlemen of the district went to a great deal of trouble in making arrangements. Two tents, used by the soldiers at Sussex, were brought down and erected. During yesterday afternoon the ladies held a sale and supper with much success.

About 200 were assembled in the evening and the improvised auditorium was packed to its capacity. A brief program was carried out including a reading by Miss Fisher, a song by S. C. Matthews assumed the role as auctioneer. Thirty-four pies were delivered to him and before starting the sale he made comment on the remarkable inventive ingenuity of the donors—for the pies had assumed all manner of shapes and designs compatible with the patriotic purpose of the event. One was designed like a battleship. Another was like a battleship. Another was like a battleship.

Recently Mr. Matthews has been the service of the Red Cross. It was very cleverly designed indeed. But after the decks had been cleared for action neither of them lasted long. The dainty cooking was so tempting.
For two hours Mr. Matthews auctioned pies and after each sale he entertained with a song, reading or something of the nature. The thirty-four pies brought $70.45. Bids went as high as $8.50 and no pie was sold for less than $1.25. Following the very successful sale the people remained together for an hour or more and money was realized in various ways.
