WHY NOT ENFORCE IT?

The doctors have been heard from on the matter of the enforcement of the prohibition law. If the law had been thoroughly enforced they would have been less severe in their remarks. Why not have it enforced? If the temperance people of St. John, including church members, want the law enforced it can be done—but they must help. The number of bootleggers is really not large. It would not be at all difficult with a city-wide vigilance committee to make a complete list of all persons suspected. In any given portion of the city, for example, it would not be difficult for a committee living there to list every man, telling whether he worked for a living or got it by doubtful means. By a gradual process of elimination the few who might be bootleggers would be listed, and their names given to the officials or their movements watched. If this process were simultaneously carried on all over the city for a short time there would soon be an end of bootlegging. The present trouble is that the temperance people are not active. Their work is not done, but they are not sufficiently interested to see that it is completed. By their apathy they are making prohibition harder to enforce, when they should lend every assistance in their power. With regard to the sale of lemon extract, has an appeal ever been made to all the dealers, urging that they exercise greater care in selling an article which is used so much to cause drunkenness? Some dealers refuse to sell it. Those who sell should exercise judgment as to how much they sell to any one purchaser. An active campaign for prohibition enforcement might well be undertaken under the leadership of the churches of the city. Community service, in the interest of better citizenship.

NO ROOM FOR EXTREMISTS.

Canadian Finance, of Winnipeg, speaking out of the knowledge gained by recent experiences in that city, makes some observations that ought to appeal to the good sense of the people of every part of Canada. We quote: "A Winnipeg labor leader stated some months ago that there could be no peace between capital and labor under present conditions. He was an extremist. A manufacturer stated recently at Ottawa: 'Our mill was not built for the glory of God or anybody else.' It was built for the benefit of the shareholders." This man is an extremist and a dangerous one at that. His company made 72.9 per cent profits in 1918, compared with 6.88 per cent in 1914. To allow either of these men, the labor extremist or the manufacturer extremist, to carry on is courting disaster. These types of men are a danger to the people and the governments—federal and provincial—must take definite steps to curtail their activities. There is no room in Canada for these men and they should be plainly told so. If the worker finds men in the trade unions using those organizations for improper purposes he must compel them, to live up to the standard which has been set or drive them out. If the manufacturers find that one of their associates is not living up to proper business standards they should discipline him and if this is not sufficient, drive him out of business. He is a danger to the country in general and to them in particular. We must discard the idea that we are not responsible for the doings of our associates. We are one big family, and each member is interested in the welfare of the other fellow. Nothing can be gained by industrial strife and the reactionary brings ruin in his trail. We should all get together and build up in this country a contented nation. There is ample opportunity for all and progress and prosperity depends entirely upon the manner in which we as a nation unite to carry on the works of peace as we did to carry on the task of war. If we would have prosperity as well as peace it is time that we dismissed the extremist, abolished the power to profiteer and recognized that whether our fellow man is an employer or an employee, he is one of the great Canadian family and is entitled to a square deal in all things. Wise men do not measure the prosperity of a nation in dollars and cents, they measure it in terms of individual happiness, health and education, as well as in money values."

Scarcely a day passes but we read of some foreigner or foreigners figuring in a murder or stabbing case. Canadian criminals, would he had enough with none of these, and it is unfortunate that so many persons who seek to settle disputes with knife or pistol have been permitted to land in this country.

St. John was not the only city to take the peace celebration very quietly. The same story comes from Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Halifax and other cities. This city, therefore, was not in a class by itself.

It is not surprising that the ministers should have something to say to the doctors on the question of prohibition.

There is a cold wave in Italy. That's something to think about when the mercury flirts with the eighties in St. John.

There is no satisfactory explanation of the smallpox quarantine by the United States against these provinces. It is entirely uncalculated and will effect not only our own people desiring to visit the States but large numbers of Americans who are scattered through the provinces at the present time. It will very seriously and needlessly affect passenger travel and business generally. The vigorous protests made from influential sources should have some effect at Washington.

The chief jail inspector of New York state recently complimented the police authorities of the town of Olean on the cleanliness of the jail, which was also empty. In explanation of the conditions a correspondent writes: "With the passing of old John Barleycorn, crime seemed to almost pass from Olean. Arrests since June 30 have averaged less than one a day. And, of the total, only two were for intoxication."

St. John should have a real celebration when the Prince of Wales comes. There will be the dual opportunity of welcoming our future king and giving a fitting reception to the returned soldiers who will gather to cheer one who was at one time or another with every Canadian Division in France and won the heavy good will of every man by his unassuming manner and fine soldierly qualities.

If the Standard knows who the provincial government candidates in this constituency will be in the next elections, it should also know whom the looters of the Valley Railway and the crown lands will put up to fight the battle of purity. If so, why not stand them up and let us all have a look at them?

Addresses worthy of the great occasion were delivered yesterday in King square by Lieut.-Governor Paisley, Chief Justice McKeown and Sir Douglas Haig, three eminent citizens retired from the turmoil of politics but able to express with force and eloquence the feelings of Canadians in a day of rejoicing throughout the Empire.

This week will see the farmers in the midst of haying with a rather light crop in most sections of the province. Conditions in Hungary today are another striking illustration of the curse of Bolshevism.

ST. JOHN'S GREATEST MERCANTILE EVENT

Final Week to Take Advantage of This Splendid Opportunity.

The greatest mercantile event in the city of St. John during the month of July, which is now conceded to be Oak Hall's annual midsummer sale, is now on its final week, coming to a close Saturday at 1 o'clock. Many people wonder how it is that Oak Hall can offer such exceptionally fine values during their big sales—and at other times, too—the answer is very simple. Rather than sit back and wait for travelers to come around with their regular lines of merchandise at standard prices and buy small handfuls at a time from each manufacturer, Oak Hall makes it point to have the buyers of the different departments make periodical visits to the big manufacturing centres such as Montreal and New York. These buyers will go into a factory, find what they want and buy up complete lines, paying cash on the spot. Thus Oak Hall gets the benefit of the very lowest possible price—for buying large quantities and paying cash. In this way Oak Hall gets many price concessions, and this combined with their motto of large volume at minimum profit, whereby they mark their goods at the very lowest of prices, is the simple explanation of why Oak Hall is able to offer such unusual values, more particularly during their big July sales. Friday will be the last full day of St. John's greatest mercantile event, so those who have not as yet taken advantage of it cannot afford to delay much longer.

Lady (at servant's employment office)—Now, I want a girl who will be able to think for herself, one that I won't have to watch and correct every minute of the day. I want one in whom I can repose perfect confidence, sure that she will get the meals, at the time and in the way I like them. I want a cook. Manager—Excuse me, ma'am, but you don't want a cook. What you want is a fairy godmother!

DIFFERENCES OF ORGANIZED LABOR

Split Taking Form of Attempt to Organize "Industrial Council"

Montreal, July 21.—A split in organized labor which seems to be developing throughout the country, is making its appearance here, with the International Trades Union on one side and industrial organizations after the one big union style on the other. In Winnipeg the Trades and Labor Council is being reorganized by the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress as a result of the decision of a majority of delegates to the former body to renounce the international system in favor of the one big union. In Montreal the situation is the reverse. With three dissenting votes the Montreal council rejected the one big union idea some time ago. Although, if a vote on the same question were taken at the present time there would be more votes cast for the O. B. U., the opponents of the new idea remain a large majority. The split is taking shape in an attempt to organize an opposition council. The new organization is known as the "Industrial Council."

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT, 1918

Notice to Employers of Labor

WHEREAS on the 17th day of April A.D., 1919, His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Council did by Order-in-Council bring within the scope of Part I of the WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT, 1918, from and after August 1st, 1919, the following industries, viz.:

"Persons employed in the woods in logging, cutting of timber, pulp-wood, fire-wood, railroad ties or sleepers, river driving, rafting, booming, or the transportation of logs, timber, pulp-wood, fire-wood or railroad ties or sleepers."

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that all persons engaged in any of the above mentioned industries are required to file a statement of their estimated payroll from August 1st, 1919, to December 31st, 1919, inclusive, with the said board, on or before the 1st day of August, 1919.

AND FURTHER NOTICE that any employer neglecting or refusing to furnish such estimate or information is liable to a penalty not exceeding $20.00 per day for each day of such default, and is further liable for damages, as provided by Part two of said Act, in respect of any injury to any workman in his employ during the period of such default.

NOTE—Forms for furnishing such information will be supplied on application.

Also please take note of the following regulation passed by the board, and coming into force on the 1st day of August, 1919:

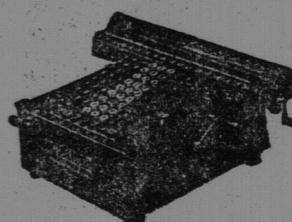

FIRST AID KIT

In an industry where ten or more persons are employed, it shall be the duty of the employer to provide a suitable FIRST AID KIT approved of by the board and in charge of a suitable person.

Filling the Gaps in Your Office Force

A GREAT many firms tell us that not only is it next to impossible to get clerical help, but many of those they do get are untrained and therefore inaccurate in their work. Fortunately, this situation can be greatly relieved by the use of the Monroe Calculating Machine.

One girl and a Monroe can do the work formerly requiring two or three men. She doesn't need to be an expert. With a few minutes' instruction and practice, she can place your figure load on the

and you can be assured the work is absolutely accurate because the MONROE Mechanical Check puts a ban on operating mistakes. No rechecking is required. Look at any one of the problems listed at the left and compare the time required by the Monroe to solve it with the old pencil-and-paper method. The Monroe has a range of utility that embraces any figure problem in any business.

Mr. Manager, it is a difficult matter for you to determine the efficiency of the Monroe Machine by our telling you about it. Let us send a representative to demonstrate what it will actually accomplish in your own office.

You can then make your own tests and compare it with any other machine you may have in service. All of which means we have perfect confidence in the ability of the Monroe Machine to "make good." To bring the matter to a head simply mail the attached coupon. No obligation involved.
