related personal experiences with executives in high position in the Y. M. C. A., which gave him an intimate knowledge of the motives and methods.

Father Cronin instanced one experience which resulted in the elimination of certain literature, objectionable to Catholics from the reading-rooms of the Y. M. C. A., after he had been communicated with a certain official. He said that the official immediately made several copies of his letter and sent it to each member of the board of directors and that a response came back from every one of the seventeen saying that he was decidedly opposed to having any such literature in the Y. M. C. A. reading rooms.

He gave other instances which showed that he had met with similar results in his efforts to keep the Y. M. C. A. a place of refuge for the young men of the city, and indicated many ways in which Mr. Cronin would serve our soldiers in France with greater efficiency and human sympathy in all the requirements of the Y. M. C. A.'s activities because of his twenty years' experience as a Vincentian. He further said that Mr. Cronin would reflect credit upon himself and upon the societies in which he had given so many years of helpful service to the Y. M. C. A. as a Vincentian, but also his nation as a citizen and as a Catholic, as a Vincentian and as a Knight of Columbus.

The presentation address was made by John A. Mitchell, secretary of the Paulist Conference, who summarized thirty years of intimate association with Mr. Cronin, saying that since their first meeting in St. Paul's sanctuary, Mr. Cronin had never left the sacred atmosphere of the church. The speaker suggested that the fact that the Y. M. C. A. accepted Mr. Cronin's services might be a good portent of that time when there shall be but "one fold and one shepherd," and assured Mr. Cronin that the society's patron St. Vincent de Paul would conduct him through his duties with the same inspiration that guides the society in its work among the poor. "Inasmuch as you did it to the least of these My brethren you did it also unto Me."

At the close of his remarks the speaker presented to Mr. Cronin, on behalf of his associates in the Paulist Conference, a gold wrist watch with luminous dial to symbolize the many bright hours of fraternal companionship with him, and also as a memento of their esteem to illuminate whatever dark years of loneliness may come to him over there.

Among the guests of the evening were officers and members of the Conference of St. Paul the Apostle, the Rev. James F. Cronin, C. S. P.; the Rev. Joseph L. Malloy, C. S. P.; the Rev. Fr. McNichol, C. S. P.; the Rev. Joseph F. Smith, pastor of St. Bernard's church.

ALL ARE UNITED FOR UNCLE SAM

Catholic News Cites Instance of

Manner in Which War Has

Brought All Together

One happy result of our entrance into the great world war has been strikingly illustrated lately in New Rochelle, N. Y., a city of 85,000 inhabitants within one coming hour of New York City, says the Catholic News. Near New Rochelle is Fort Slocum, an army centre for recruits. It numbered last week about 8,000 sturdy young men eager to enlist for Uncle Sam's part of the country. There are accommodations for about 2,000 at Fort Slocum, and the other six or seven thousand were in danger of becoming practically outcasts when the good people of New Rochelle united and showed what real American hospitality means. The New York Sun of last Sunday had a graphic story of the incident.

"Out of the snow rose the Christmas pile, Old Trinity, with its clock face aglow in the gathering dusk, and welcoming warmth coming from the latticed windows beneath the spire. To the west a pink afterglow merged with the snowy churchyard."

"Into the Protestant parish house fled the young soldier boys who had just come from the Catholic Knights of Columbus building around the corner. The Y. M. C. A. had had a part in sending them on their way, well fed and happy. The Y. M. C. A. in ordinary times thinks enough of dogma to adhere to the rule that no Catholic may hold an executive office in the great organization. The Knights of Columbus will have no Protestantism in peace times, directing their business affairs."

"Yet the Knights of Columbus yesterday, and all week were grouping and sending out stranded recruits to New Rochelle's Trinity, to the Young Men's Hebrew Association, to the North Avenue Presbyterian church, to Father Roche's Catholic church of the Holy Trinity and to the Elks' club and to schools and clubs and residences without thought of religious differences."

"Simultaneously the Y. M. C. A. was directing young men to the Knights of Columbus as often as it was sending them to the North Avenue Presbyterian church, which rivals the Knights of Columbus club in results and efficiency."

"The chief director at the head desk of the Catholic Knights of Columbus quarters was Director Clark of the Y. M. C. A. and working hand in hand with Mr. Clark were Walter G. C. Otto, Charles White, Dan Noonan, Mrs. Chas. W. Campbell and countless others who ordinarily devote all their time to the purely Catholic activities of the K. of C."

"As a result of the co-ordination of work about 9,000 men who had detrained at New Rochelle during recent days to enlist at Fort Slocum, only to find that the little island upon which the fort is located could not accommodate them last night were uproariously happy, while digesting the impressive dinners that New Rochelle had fed them out of its bounty."

All these good people of New Rochelle, Catholics, Protestants and Jews, who have thus been brought together in this splendid endeavor in behalf of our brave soldier boys, are bound to be better friends. This wholesome incident and others like it that are occurring all over the country will have much to do with breaking down the bars of religious prejudice that have been keeping too many Americans apart for years. It is announced that the recruits who have been the beneficiary of New Rochelle's hospitality are going to provide in the city a suitable tablet commemorating the event. Many of the soldier boys showed their appreciation of what the Knights of Columbus did for them by contributing liberally to the K. of C. war camp fund raised by the New Rochelle Council. All in all, New Rochelle deserves the widespread fame that has come to the city. Its people are real Americans—broad-minded, generous and patriotic.

This is the film unusual. It is also the film entertaining, and the film interesting. It is the film that will delight every film fan who sees it, for it contains a charming love story, a real plot, and also moving pictures of moving pictures in the making. The way that a moving picture is made is shown through the medium of this moving picture. The director is seen in action, the stars are seen off stage in unconventional situations, the laboratory is shown—in fact all phases of the making of a movie are shown. The film fan who misses this film, misses a real treat.
