GHASTLY CRIME COMMITTED BY GERMAN LABORER

Murdered Farmer and Wife and
Servant Girl—Lives of Children
Spared by Criminal

Berlin, Jan. 27.—The whole of Berlin was horrified to read a few days ago details which explain the mysterious discovery of two bodies behind a burned corn stack near the little country village of Buckow, ten miles from Berlin. The victims were a farmer and his wife, the prosperous owners of a farm in the village, and they had been murdered together with their servant girl, by criminals of remarkable callousness and determination.

So far as can be learned, the farmer, a man named Kallias, when he went to rouse his single farm hand (said to be a Pole), was surprised to discover him already working in the cow-house. Soon afterwards the man called out, and a few seconds later cries for help were heard from the farm yard. They ended a minute later. The farmer's wife, and a few seconds later self hastily and went out to inquire what had happened. Her two daughters then heard the cries and rushed to the scene, finding their mother and the servant girl lying dead.

Stricken with terror, the children were unable to move. A little later they heard some men steal out of their place of concealment in the farmyard and ask whether all was well, and then, receiving an assurance in the affirmative, entered the house, burst open the door of the servant's room, and overpowered and strangled the sixteen-year-old girl. Then the farmer's wife, who was aged six and nine respectively, and told them they had no reason to fear unless they disobeyed his instructions and made a noise or moved away. The man placed them in a big wardrobe, nailed the windows of the house fast from the outside and locked the doors.

The men did not leave the farm immediately, and the farmer, who was a whole day, laying his hands on all valuables, and telling visitors that his master and mistress had gone to the neighboring village for a wedding. He also visited the children every half-hour to make sure that they did not intend to betray him. His conduct towards the children was quite unusual. Two or three times he allowed them to leave the cupboard and walk about the room, and twice brought them food. Late in the evening the man drove away.

The children were finally discovered late in the evening. They had been searching for their mother to the discovery that they were alive. They were so terrified that they dared not move when they heard the police, and for two hours they could not open their mouths.

Owing to a strange combination of circumstances, which is only possible in a remote village, the police, in their primitive ways, the police found the greatest difficulty in obtaining even an approximately good description of the farmer, who was a resident of Deer Island. He passed away on January 17, after a stroke of paralysis. He is survived by his wife. He was a nephew of Mrs. Cline and had many friends in the neighborhood of his own home but also in St. John, where he had visited frequently.

The other whose death was mentioned was James Conley, one of the oldest on pilot register, in that section, and who had followed that life from his younger days.

News of the death of two well known pilots in the lower reaches of the Bay of Fundy reached the city this morning in a letter received by Mrs. Richard Cline of St. James street. One of those whose death was noted was Pilot Augustus Cline, sailing for years from St. Andrews and a resident of Deer Island. He passed away on January 17, after a stroke of paralysis. Amland Bros' prices will appeal to everyone to purchase early.

A ROSE AMONG THORNS.

Rehearsals for "A Rose Among Thorns" are going with an encouraging swing and there is every reason to expect that the play will be a distinct success. It will be given in the Opera House the latter part of this week, on Thursday and Friday evenings and Saturday matinee. The play tells of a story of heart interest, has a tender vein of pathos, has touches of comedy which are delightfully refreshing. The characters are in capable hands and a finished performance is looked forward to, while the specialties are expected to prove most pleasing and entertaining. The full fifty people being massed in the choruses. The exchange of acts began tomorrow morning at ten o'clock in the Opera House.

FRIENDS OF RECIPROCITY INCREASE.

C. H. Fawcett, of Saskatoon, is in the city today. Mr. Fawcett expresses the view that the number of farmers in the lower provinces in favor of reciprocity is steadily growing larger, and that those who allowed themselves to be misled by other cries in the elections in 1911, will not make the same mistake again. Mr. Fawcett is very strong in his conviction that agriculture in these provinces cannot be successfully carried on by the mass of the farmers until they have larger markets. They must be assured of a large and certain market for their products, and their operations in every direction. Mr. Fawcett has interests in the west as well as in the east, and feels that both in east and west the demand for wider markets is steadily gaining force.

A BIGAMY CHARGE

According to the story told by the complainant, who resides at 200 St. James street, Stewart was married here in 1905 by Rev. David Lang, at the home of the bride's brother-in-law, German street. "At that time," she said, "he swore up and down that he was not married, but about two years after I was married to him I found out that he had been married in Toronto for more than twenty years, when his first wife found out that he had been married again, I understood that she left Toronto. For more than two years my husband has not contributed anything to my living expenses, nor has he given me anything for the support of our little six year old daughter."

New York, Jan. 27.—The federal attorneys conducting the re-investigation of the alleged monopoly agreement between the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad and the Grand Trunk Railway said today that they expected a reply from the grand jury before the end of the week.

Interest in the present investigation centres mainly in the possibility that if new indictments are found they may charge additional offences and include other defendants besides Chas. S. Miller, E. J. Chamberlain and Alfred W. Smith, officers of the two railroads indicted by the previous jury.

Funerals

The funeral of Robert Davis, who died in the General Public Hospital as a result of injuries he had received at Sand Point, took place yesterday afternoon from his late residence, Prince street, West St. John, to the Church of Assumption, where the burial ceremony was conducted by Rev. J. J. O'Donovan. The members of the "longshoremen's union" attended in a body, about 200 in number, walking in front of the hearse, and wearing white badges, making the funeral procession a very large one. A large number of people also walked, showing their sympathy for the deceased.

The funeral of Edward Todd took place yesterday afternoon from his late home in Metcalf street. The service was conducted by Rev. D. Hutchinson. Interment was in Cedar Hill.

Mrs. William A. Dennings was buried yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, from her late residence, 97 High street. The service was conducted by Rev. H. Pierce. Interment was in Cedar Hill.

The funeral of Mrs. Thomas Black was conducted this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from her late home, 171 Main street, and was attended by many. Many handsome floral tributes were received. Rev. Dr. Hutchinson officiated at the service, and interment was in Cedar Hill.

A large number of friends showed their respect this afternoon for the late Edwin L. Perkins in attending his funeral, conducted at 2:30 o'clock from his home in Sydney street. The body was taken to St. John's (Stone) church, where Rev. Mr. Kahring and Rev. Mr. Armstrong conducted services. Interment was in Fern Hill.

THE PROBATE COURT

In the probate court today the matter of the estate of Walter Lane, builder, came up. One of the witnesses being dead and the other residing outside of the province the will was admitted to probate on proof of the handwriting of the testator and the witnesses. The will gives everything to his wife Isabella Lane absolutely and nominates her as sole executrix. Since his death, the widow died without proving the will and left her property to her young son William Ernest Lane. He therefore being the person most interested, administration was granted to him with the will annexed. Real estate is situated in Wright street and assessed at $2,500; personal estate $100. H. Lester Smith is executor. The will of Mrs. Isabella Lane, widow of Walter Lane was proved. She gives all her estate to her son William Ernest, the youngest of ten children, and nominates her son-in-law Benjamin Robertson, executor. He was accordingly sworn in. Personally $100. H. Lester Smith is executor.

In the matter of the estate of George H. Oulton, railway mail clerk, there was return of a citation to pass the accounts of Andrew Jack, the administrator. The accounts as filed were found to be entirely correct and were passed as presented and an order for distribution made. Messrs. Sinclair & MacRae are protectors.
