THE MONTFORT LIMPS INTO PORT WELL AND HAPPY

C. P. Liner Damaged on Very Stormy Voyage

CAPTAIN SAYS "THE WORST"

Propellor Snapped and Other Breakage Caused by Rough Weather - Other Steamers Reached Sand Point Last Night and Today

With part of the bridge broken and one of her propellers missing, the big C. P. liner Montfort, Captain Davidson, limped into port this morning disabled, and crawled up to her berth at Sand Point. The steamer left Antwerp on January 28 and had been at sea ever since that time, taking twenty days to make the trip which ordinarily would have been made in two weeks at the outside. Misfortune followed the steamer all the way across.

Rough weather was encountered soon after she put to sea and the big ship was buffeted about by the waves like a toy. On February 3, while steaming along at a fairly good rate, one of the propellers broke off, and from that time on slow sense was in order.

Head winds and gales were encountered daily and considerable damage was done to the ship. Captain Davidson told a reporter this morning that it was one of the roughest trips he has had across. "One continuous gale, and every day it seemed to get worse. The climax came when the propeller went but although the adverse weather did not abate by any means. It was about the roughest trip that I have ever encountered."

The captain reported having passed a derelict when off Cape Sable. There was practically no trace of anything to show what it was, with the exception of a mast which was sticking up in the water. There was no wreckage floating around. Captain Davidson said this morning that he had seen practically no ice on the trip across.

As soon as the boat docked at Sand Point, one of the passengers, David Kolow, who was taken ill on the voyage, was removed and taken to the hospital in the ambulance. The Montfort had on board 233 average passengers. Despite the rough weather there was little or no sickness among the passengers.

It is likely that the Montfort will be repaired here before proceeding on her return trip. If repairs cannot be effected here she will be taken to the Halifax dock.

The Allan liner Granpian, Captain Williams, also arrived in port this morning from Liverpool. She had on board 295 passengers and more than 4,000 tons of cargo. Captain Williams reports having had a fairly good trip across.

The S. S. Manchester Importer arrived in port last night from Montreal. Captain Linton reports having had quite a rough trip. The Importer had 2,000 tons of freight on board.

At times they would pay money for their beds, and at other times they would give orders from citizens. When asked if they had anything to say, both prisoners replied in the negative. They were then committed to stand trial at the next sitting of the circuit court.

MUNICIPAL HOME PROPERTY

County Council to Take up Application For Option on Tuesday

A special meeting of the Municipal Council will be held on next Tuesday to consider the application of the Eastern Trust Company for an option on the Municipal Home property. Norton Griffiths & Co. have given notice that they would require the front portion of the property in connection with their proposed shipbuilding plant, and the provincial and Dominion governments are now endeavoring to decide which owns the shore.

It is possible that no negotiations with other people may be opened until the requirements for the proposed initiative are settled. The municipal property originally consisted of 300 acres, but forty acres were granted to the provincial government for a penitentiary site. The penitentiary was afterwards moved to Dorchester, and the property is being sold for the Home Industrial Home, and it is said to be some doubt regarding the title to the property.

HUNDRED YEARS; WELL AND HAPPY

Centenary of Birth of Mrs. Elizabeth Dunham

FAMILY GATHERING TODAY

Celebration of Holy Communion in Home With Grandson Officiating—Floral Gifts Greet Venerable Lady at Dinner Table—Many Friends Call

Mrs. Elizabeth Dunham, of Carleton, is one hundred years old today. Despite the fact that she has reached an age attained by but few, she enjoys all her faculties, good hearing, good sight, good appetite and in fact is having the best of health possible at such an age. Mrs. Dunham is a life-born resident of Carleton, having been born there in 1813. Her father, Joseph Ponsford, a native of Birmingham, Eng., came to this country early in the eighteenth century, and settled in Carleton.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dunham
Ever since her birth Mrs. Dunham has resided on the West Side, and at present is living with her son, W. O. Dunham. Quite naturally, she tells very interesting tales of the old days on the West Side. She has the happy experience of being a great-grandmother, and among her descendants are five children, thirty-one grandchildren, fifty-four great-grandchildren and four great-great-grandchildren. In all she had eleven children, but of these only five are alive today.

This has been quite a busy day for the venerable lady. This morning at 10 o'clock she attended a family communion service in the home, the celebrants being her grandson, Rev. W. P. Dunham and Rev. G. P. Scoville. After the service, Mrs. Dunham received from her grandson a life membership in the Church of England Ladies' Auxiliary of Canada, which makes her the oldest living member of the organization.

At noon all sat down to a birthday dinner. Four generations were represented at the table. Mrs. Dunham was made the proud recipient of one hundred carnations, one flower for every year of her life. In the centre of the table was a large birthday cake which was sent to her from Carleton in Boston. The cake was decorated with the initials E. D., and one hundred small candles. Mrs. Dunham was able to sit down to the table and eat her share of the good things, and a happy company it was.

Among the out-of-town relatives who were present were Mrs. Rachael Mosher and Miss Annie Mosher, of Worcester, Mass.; Mrs. and Mr. J. Ponsford, of South Dakota; George Dunham and Mrs. Still, of Waterloo, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. L. Corson, of Westinghouse Springs, South Dakota; Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Ellis, of Nebraska; Miss Margaret Dunham, of the Newton Hospital nursing staff; Mr. and Mrs. P. Dunham, of Malden, Mass.; George Dunham, of Stanley, N. B.; and Mrs. J. Webb, of Hamilton, Me., a daughter.

This afternoon, Mrs. Dunham was at home to her friends between the hours of three and six, and doubtless a large number of her friends took the opportunity to call and shower congratulations on her. For a woman who has attained such a great age, it is remarkable how active Mrs. Dunham is. She is able to get around the house practically unaided, can sew and knit without glasses, and can hear admirably well. She possesses all her senses and has a remarkable memory, and is able to talk entertainingly on things that happened many years ago. It is only a day or two ago that she finished making a patchwork quilt for her bed.

Mrs. Dunham always has been a staunch adherent of the Church of England, and for many years has been a valuable member of St. Jude's church in Carleton. She has lived under the reigns of six sovereigns, George III., George IV., William IV., Victoria, Edward VII and George V.

The children who are living today are: Mrs. R. Mosher, of Worcester, Mass.; Mrs. Joseph Ponsford, of South Dakota; Mrs. J. Webb, of Hamilton, Me.; George Dunham, of Waterloo, Iowa; and Whitney O. Dunham, of Carleton.

Mrs. Dunham's many friends wish her many more years of health and happiness.

Store closes tonight at 6 o'clock.
