

THE KING AND QUEEN AS THEY WILL APPEAR AT CEREMONY TOMORROW

Seven Thousand People Will See The Coronation in Westminster Abbey— Graphic Story of Week of Celebra- tions and Functions Never Equalled in The History of England

CORONATION PROGRAMME

June 21—King and Queen will receive colonial premier.
June 22—Coronation.
June 23—Procession through London.
June 24—Naval review at Spithead.
June 25—Gala procession through London.
June 26—Final procession through London.

FOREIGN ENVOYS TO THE CORONATION OF KING GEORGE.

Germany—The Crown Prince and Princess, and Prince and Princess Henry.
France—Vice Admiral de Paque (Ambassador Extraordinary) General Count de Jastour, Captain Langer, and M. Maurice Herbet.
United States—John Hay (Ambassador Extraordinary) Major General A. W. Greely (retired) and Admiral Vreeland.
Spain—The Infante Fernando of Bavaria, (brother-in-law of the King).
Austria-Hungary—Archduke Karl Franz.
Italy—The Duke of Aosta.
Holland—Prince Henry of the Netherlands.
Denmark—The Crown Prince.
Sweden—The Crown Prince and Princess.
Roumania—The Crown Prince Ferdinand and the Crown Princess.
Saxony—Prince and Princess Johann George.
Norway—M. Ingrams, Minister of Foreign Affairs.
Turkey—Prince Yusuf Izzet Din, the heir apparent.
Japan—Prince Fushimi, General Nogi and Admiral Togo.
China—Tsu-Chen, eldest son of Prince Chun, the Regent.
Siam—The Crown Prince.
Chile—The Chilean Minister in London.
Portugal—Will have no invitation; but King Manuel will probably receive an intimation that his presence will be honored.

York House is reserved for the Grand Duke Francis Ferdinand and the Grand Duke Charles Francis Joseph, the representatives of the Emperor Francis Joseph.

Other representatives who are already in the city are the Hon. John Hay, the ambassador from the United States, who is lodged in the old Piccadilly home of the late Baroness Burdett-Coutts, at No. 1 Stratton street; Prince Yusuf Izzet Din, heir to the Sultanate of Turkey; Prince Tsai-Chen, eldest son of Prince Chun, the Regent of China; the follow the royal carriages, according to their rank. The Horse and Foot Guards and a detachment of all the regiments of which the king is colonel will march in the procession. The guard of honor outside of Westminster Abbey will be provided by the navy, and the Hussards will also take a prominent part in the procession.

KING GEORGE AND QUEEN MARY IN CORONATION ROBES

Westminster Abbey, the scene of so many coronations, has been remodelled, and, as on the occasion of King Edward's coronation, an annex has been built at the west end of the building as a royal robing room.

Within the abbey, the thousands of seats have been removed, and in their place are Chippendale chairs of exquisite design. Here will be seated the peers and peeresses of the realm, and they will have the opportunity of purchasing the chairs after the coronation, as mementoes of the occasion.

A third throne has been erected in the great edifice for Queen Alexandra, and the household, the members of the cabinet and former cabinet members, the heads of the church and judiciary, and of the army and navy.

The two largest apartments in the palace, the hall room and the picture gallery, which adjoin, were utilized as a banquet hall. On the tables was displayed the royal gold plate, used only on historic occasions, the cost of which is estimated at $10,000,000, and its weight eight tons. The price for the most part was collected in the reigns of the four Georges, and the principal piece is a massive peacock served in one of the Indian wars, which is studded with diamonds. Cut glass vases, a fortune, ivory decanters, hundreds of years old, and old wines, dating back more than a century, were on the board. The gallery holds more than 800 pictures.

The coronation ceremony will take place on Friday, June 23, when the royal couple will make their progress through the city of London. At this procession, which is inaugurated solely for the purpose of giving the people a better opportunity to get a view of their Majesties, the route will be much longer than that traversed by the coronation procession the day before, and although lacking the significance attached to its predecessor, it will furnish a more striking appeal to the eye.

The spectacle is to be as brilliant as anything London has ever seen, and will include the king, queen and their court, the princes from foreign courts, the troops and military detachments from India, Canada and the other dominions. Without a single break or stop, and at a walking pace, the procession will cover seven miles of Central and Southern London. The progress will occupy at least three hours. It is estimated that 50,000 troops will be in line on this occasion.

The naval review at Spithead is scheduled for Saturday the 24th. Their Majesties will embark on the royal yacht from which they will review the great gathering of battleships, cruisers, torpedo boats, and war craft of all descriptions. It will be the most powerful fleet that has ever been assembled at one time.

The king and queen will remain on the royal yacht for the week-end, returning to London on Monday in time to attend the gala performance at the Royal Opera House, Covent Garden, 27, interest in the festivities will begin to wane, for it is on this day that all the royal guests from other countries will be tendered a farewell party in the garden at Buckingham Palace. A gala performance at Covent Garden will occupy the evening. The following day all the members of the foreign courts will take their departure.

On the 26th, the king and queen will again appear in a public procession through South London, but this procession

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

Budget of News Concerning Stage Favorites Known to St. John Audiences.

Tom Wise, well known to St. John audiences, is to be a co-star next season with John Barrymore in the new comedy "Uncle Sam." It will open in New York at the Globe Theatre in August.

Nat Goodwin, as has been intimated, has filed a suit in the superior court in Los Angeles, Cal., to recover property valued at $800,000 from his former wife, Edna Goodrich, from whom he was recently divorced. The property became Miss Goodrich's through a pre-nuptial agreement.

Through private correspondence it has become known that Christie McDonald, who is a native of Pictou, N. S., and who started with such success in "The Spring Maid" last season, was recently married to H. L. Gillespie, of Pittsburgh. They have taken a honeymoon trip to Europe. Kate Blanche, favorably known to local theatre-goers, is planning patrons of the Academy of Music, New York, where she is appearing with the house company. She won special mention last week in "Secret Service."

Vine Daly, the dancer, and a member of the famous Irish-American theatrical family, has gone into grand opera. She made her stage debut at an early age with her mother at the old Howard Athenaeum in Boston, and since then has appeared in musical comedy and vaudeville.

The New York Mirror in last week's issue gives a picture of Edmund Drezee, who is to star next season in "A Man of Honor," under direction of Joe Weber. The National Association of Theatrical Producing Managers is bringing suit against the Imp Moving Picture Concern for play piracy. The company recently released a picture called "Three of a Kind," which is said to have intimately resembled Margaret Mayo's clever farce, Baby Mine.

Ruby Bridges, who played here with Harkins, has closed with Wilton Lackaye, in "The Battle." Since playing in St. John, she has won success in "The Climax," "The Fascinating Mr. Vandervelt," and "The Man of the Hour." Robert Hilliard, who recently returned after a flying trip to Europe, was operated on at Miss Alston's Private Sanatorium in New York last week. The operation was painful but successful, and Mr. Hilliard is pronounced out of danger. He will, however, be confined to the hospital for at least two weeks longer.

James Masaulay, who will be remembered here as the business manager for Kirk Payton, and the company under his management, is successful as the house manager in Brooklyn for Corse. The leading lady, as told in the Times last week, is Miss Florence Gray, the popular lead of "Marrying Mary," which made a hit in the States. Edna Goodrich has been engaged for a new Frohman production next season. Miss Goodrich is now in London, where her book, "Mrs. Devereux's Divorce," is awaited with interest. Olive Wyndham, manager of the New Theatre, will also play under the Frohman banner next season.

Blower McRae, a popular member of the Harkins company some seasons ago, has been engaged as lead with the Elitch Long company in Denver. James Gray and Thomas Weston are also members of the company. The opening play last week was "The Little Queen," by Henry Crosby, formerly with Kirk Brown, has been engaged to play with a stock company in Maine with a view to making a short time at his summer cottage in Maine with his wife, who will appear in the western city.

Paul Armstrong proves himself a better playwright than missionary. Several months ago he obtained the release of one of his plays, "The Girl in the Taxi," which was charged with burglary and who was paroled in Mr. Armstrong's custody. Brown then became an actor in Mr. Armstrong's vaudeville sketch, A Romance of the Underworld, but the criminal instinct became stronger than his artistic ambitions and he aimed again. Now he has gone to Sing Sing for more than two years. Mr. Armstrong has thrown up his hands at reclaiming confirmed criminals and promises in the future to make his reformatory appeal only through his plays. Henry Grady, a well known St. John man, who has been on the stage for several seasons, is playing at present with the Adam Good Stock Co. in Gloucester, Mass. They are playing to large business, and Mr. Grady, his friends here will be pleased to learn, is making a fine impression.

A picture of John Bunney, who is well remembered as a Harkins favorite in St. John, appeared in last week's New York Mirror, in characteristic attitude. He is now a favorite comedian with the Vitagraph Motion Picture company. What is more, he is captain of the company's baseball team.

Dustin and William Farman, who have appeared here with Harkins, and who are to co-star next season in Edward Popple's "The Little Rebel," will open in Buffalo early in September. A. H. Woods has engaged Percy Haswell, an old favorite in St. John, to play with them.

Frank Porelli, who was a popular member of the Harkins Company here several seasons ago, sailed for Europe recently for a vacation. He has been playing with motion picture companies, and of late has been making a huge success in directing the presentation of canvas playlets.

Rumor has it that Margaret Anglin will make a tour of the Pacific Coast next season in Henri Bernstein's "The Thief," in which Kyrie Bell and Margaret Anglin were notably successful. It is a fact that the play has been withdrawn from stock production on the coast.

Halifax Recorder—Kirk Brown will remain here for a brief rest, sending his theatrical effects through to New York in advance of him. The members of his company will go to their various homes to enjoy a brief holiday of three weeks, after which they will open their regular season in Philadelphia.

With the Colonial Stock Company, which has been playing in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia towns, is a local young lady, whose stage name is Elizabeth Linn, and who has won much praise for her fine work in the various parts assigned her. Of her playing in Emeralds recently the Newscaster Advocate says "Nora Desmond," a part second to none in the cast, was excellently played by Miss Elizabeth Linn. Her friends in St. John will wish her continued success.

It is announced that Anna Held will, early in September, appear in New York under the direction of F. Ziegfeld, Jr., in a French farce by the authors of "The Pink Lady." The American version is to be made by George V. Hobart. Raymond Hubbell will furnish the score.

"Under the Cabin," which is being presented at the Opera House beginning on Thursday, Coronation Day, and closing on Saturday night, "The Girl in the Taxi," which made a hit in the States, and where has been booked for the Opera House in August, will include Paul Gilmore, who will probably be seen in "The Bachelor."

Charles Frohman retired this week from Europe and made several announcements of interest regarding his plays for next season. Some of them are of interest to St. John theatre-goers. Speaking of a former St. John man, who at one time lived in North end, he said: "I shall present Donald Brian as a star at the Knickerbocker Theatre at the end of August in a new musical play by Leo Fall and others, which has been named 'The Siren.' It has fine orchestration, remarkable musical finales and love scenes. His leading roles will be played by Miss Sanderson, and the comedians will include Frank Moulan and Will West. We have another musical comedy, 'The Doll Girl,' entirely different in treatment. The English versions of both plays are the work of the same man. Among a lot of announcements he made of his plans, one of the most interesting was that Miss Maude, who has been here for long expected appearance in London. At the end of her next American season early in July, she will follow with productions of 'Chatterbox' and 'The Legion.' Plans for Miss Adams are that she shall appear in New York again in 'Chatterbox.'

London, June 21—After a year spent in making elaborate preparations, England is at last ready for the official crowning of King George V and his consort, Queen Mary.

This great event which has been looked forward to with such eager expectancy by British subjects all over the world, will undoubtedly be recorded as one of the most magnificent spectacles in the history of the British Empire. No detail has been left unattended to, and while precedent has been strictly adhered to, it is safe to say that no coronation in the 900 years of history of the British Empire has in any measure approached the coming one.

A fact which has increased the enthusiasm of British subjects is the comparative youth of the new king and queen. While the late King Edward was immensely popular his feeble health cast a shadow over his coronation in 1902. King George, however, is only in his fourth year, and from all accounts in the best of health, and his reign is looked forward to as a long and prosperous one.

Although festivities incident to the coronation have been under way for several weeks, the official ceremonies did not begin until Monday, when the representatives of the various European countries arrived. The great spectacle will come Thursday, when the king and queen will be crowned in Westminster Abbey, and from then until the 26th it will be one continuous round of social functions, pageants, reviews, processions, exhibitions, contests, etc., such as have never been witnessed.

London a Riot of Color

In honor of this great event London is a riot of color. It is estimated that at least $10,000,000 has been spent in decorating the city. Magnificent archways span the routes along which royalty will travel during the ensuing two weeks, and every building and memorial of importance is outfitted with electric lights.

Immense stands from which to view the procession on Thursday and Friday line every street along the route, and completely hide the churches, public buildings and private residences. There is not a foot of available space along the entire route that is not occupied by stands of some kind, and the architectural beauty of the ancient city has suffered somewhat as a result. It would be difficult to form an idea of the enormous horde of visitors that has invaded the great metropolis. They hail from every country on the globe and number at least a million.

London at night resembles a fairy city. The millions of electric lights that have been strung in every conceivable place, with an eye to the artistic, convert darkness into light, and the main thoroughfares are changed into a glowing mass of humanity. No similar spectacle has been witnessed since the crowning of King Edward in 1902.

As had been expected, every hostelry and boarding house within the city limits is overrun with guests. The proprietors have been forced to come down a little on their prices, owing to the protests on the part of the police, but they are still getting between 2 and 3 times as much as they ordinarily do. A number of the hotels are renting for $200 for coronation day. For an entire flat, the price runs from $1,000 to $5,000 for coronation day.

The police army of police is having its hands full in looking after this invasion of humanity. Naturally, all the crooks and confidence men that have been in London, and Scotland Yard is having a busy time. The work of keeping the crowds back in the streets will be done largely by the soldiers. There are in the neighborhood of 30,000 visiting soldiers from all parts of the British Empire, and at least 100,000 home troops. These are all under the command of Lord Kitchener, and are camped in the parks and on the outskirts of the city, and while the majority will be used in the various processions, several thousand are assigned to police duty.

In addition to the police precautions the authorities have issued pamphlets, printed in every known tongue, containing a list of "don'ts" to be observed during the festivities. Among other "don'ts" the guards of the peace, in all seriousness, advise the visitors, "not to let a stranger take your watch," "never, on any account, carry your money in your hand, someone may steal it," "don't accept jewelry of description in the street," "keep your diamonds on your fingers," and many others that savor of the obvious.

7,000 to See Coronation

The number of those who will witness the actual coronation ceremonies totals 7,000. This number includes members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

7,000 to See Coronation

The number of those who will witness the actual coronation ceremonies totals 7,000. This number includes members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

7,000 to See Coronation

The number of those who will witness the actual coronation ceremonies totals 7,000. This number includes members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

The coronation ceremony will begin about 12 o'clock, and will last until 1:30. Both the king and the queen will be crowned by the Archbishop of Canterbury, while the members of the royal family, members of foreign royalty, peers and peeresses, ambassadors, and the members of the army and navy, spiritual peers, clergy, privy councillors, representatives of the army and navy, civil service, counties, and municipalities, and "other guests."

WHISKERS MUST GO; BARRED FROM THE DAIRY