The Late Earl of Fernhurst.
It may not be generally understood that the Earl of Fernhurst, whose death took place in England on Monday last, was a connection of the Ward family of St. John. Capt. Wallis, whose regiment was stationed in St. John, married a daughter of Major Ward and had two sons by her, Barton and Newton, who will be remembered by the old inhabitants. Capt. Wallis, who died and was buried in the old burial ground, was if we mistake not a brother of the father of the late Earl—and he of his eldest son, Newton, would have succeeded to the Earl's dukedom had not been cut off by a mere direct heir.

A FATAL FALL.

North End Man Falls Out of Window and is Killed.
Mr. Leonard Brown, a well known man who lived on Harrison street, North End St. John, was killed Tuesday night by a fall from a four story window of his woodhouse. His late wife's niece, Miss Annie Anderson, who has been taking care of him for a long time, says that Mr. Brown has been of unsteady mind for some years since his wife died. He never spoke of falling himself any injury and was always quiet, but talked in a vague way of "going home." He was forgetful and when on the street would not know his own house when he came to it. He went quietly to bed about 8 o'clock Tuesday night. Miss Anderson laid down in the kitchen about 10.30 and seemed just about going to sleep when she heard a crash and a cry for help. Much frightened she arose and went to Mr. Brown's bed and found it empty. She heard his knee from the yard, and rushing down found the old man lying on the ground at the end of the woodhouse below the four story window. She called help and on getting him upstairs sent for Dr. Christie. Mr. Brown had fallen a distance of about fifty feet. His legs were broken, his head was cut and although his injuries were so serious that he died shortly before midnight. "I am going home," he said as he passed away. He had put on his pants and socks on rising, had walked unaided past Miss Anderson in the kitchen and passed through the woodhouse and out of the window to his death with the one idea of going home. Deceased was 76 years of age.

It was occasioned by a man named Geo. Long, who entered the school and demanded a girl whom he claimed as his daughter, but while the years had been adopted by a family named Crawford. The teacher remonstrated with Long but to no purpose, for he seized the girl and took her out of school. He then placed her in a wagon and drove off in the direction of Chatham. At the latter place he put his horse up at Inspector Winterson's. The official enquiring of the facts of the case, warned Long that if he attempted to take the child further he would have him arrested. In the 2:40 class there were four entries but only three started. This was the most exciting race of the day. The Hon. Ed. ## LAST WORDS TO FRANCE.

The Political Testament Left by the Late Gen. Boulanger.

Brussels, Oct. 1. Following is Boulanger's political testament:

"This is my political testament. It is my desire that it be published after my death. I shall kill myself to-morrow. I am convinced of the future of the party to which I have given my name. I cannot bear the thought of the misfortune which befell me two and a half months ago. I have tried to get the better of it, but have not succeeded.

"I am persuaded that my followers are so devoted and so numerous that they will bear me no anger for disappearing on account of a sorrow so great that all work has become impossible to me. Let them remember the maxim, 'Unus est non deficit alter,' and may they continue to act against those who, in scorn of all laws, force me to die far from my country.

"To-morrow I shall be a dead man; to-day I have nothing to reproach myself with. All my life I have done my duty, and nothing but my duty. My death is no shame to myself, but it is shame for my prosecutors, those who sought to brand a loyal soldier by the judgment of a political tribunal.

"I desire to recall the fact that I have many times offered to constitute myself a prisoner if they would accord me common law judges. This the holders of power have always refused. Thus acquittal was not possible. In quitting life I have but one regret,—that I have not died on the field of battle, fighting for my country. The country at least will permit one of its children at the moment of returning to nothingness to recall himself to the memory of all who love a free Patrie.

"I live in France, vive la republique.

"Done and signed under my hand, on the eve of the day of my death.

EREST BOULANGER."

"Say, waiter," exclaimed an impatient customer, "I've been here a full hour."

"I've been here since seven this morning," answered the waiter; "firemen ain't it?"
