ACCOMPLICES IN FRAUD ARE SENT TO PRISON.

Sequel to Blacksmith's Claim to Title and Estates of Spanish Marquis.

Priest Who Engineered Plot is Sent to Penal Servitude for Eight Years.

MADRID, Jan. 24.—An echo of the remarkable case in which a blacksmith made a fruitless claim to the title and millions of the Marquise de Casa Riera was heard in the Barcelona courts today, when the persons concerned in the claim were sentenced to various terms of imprisonment.

The story is a Spanish counterpart of the English Tichborne case.

The blacksmith, Pedro Riera, learned from his relatives in youth that he was connected with the marquise of the same name. By some process of reasoning he began to think that he was the real heir to the title and the estates, which have an estimated value of at least $50,000,000.

Pedro first mentioned his claim in 1878, but the Marquise refused to see him or listen to his story. In 1881 the old marquise died, and the title passed to his nephew, Jose, who enjoyed it only a few months, when the estates reverted to his brothers Alejandro and Gonzales. In a few years Gonzales died and Alejandro came into sole possession.

The claimant declares that both Alejandro and Gonzales died some time before their brother Jose, and that the holder of the title was really the son of an old family steward.

A claim in the courts having failed, Pedro made the acquaintance of Abbe Gouverd, Emilio Soulere and Louis Prouhet, a genealogist. The abbe was the brains of the party. He came to Paris, and succeeded in enlisting the sympathies of several wealthy men, including the Marquis de Dion, the motor-car manufacturer and M. Faure, the anti-Jewish agitator, who advanced considerable sums of money.

To prove the case false entries were made in the municipal register of Santa Margarita y los Montes, showing that the death of Gonzales Riera had been registered before the old Marquis died. It was alleged also that the Marquis used to lend securities to Mme. Humbert to put in her famous safe in case the officials should ever inspect it.

Several members of the Riera family were also bribed with considerable sums to withhold evidence. In spite of all, the claims failed entirely.

Today Soulere was sentenced to eight years' penal servitude for making the false entry. Huguet and Balado, who assisted him, received similar sentences. Jose Arbas, an accomplice, was also sentenced to a term of imprisonment.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE

Opening Yesterday Was a Brilliant Spectacle—Some of the Important Items Mentioned

TORONTO, Jan. 24.—The opening of the Ontario legislature today was a brilliant spectacle with military guard of honor and many uniforms. The Liberals will meet in caucus tomorrow to elect a leader in place of Hon. G. W. Ross. The speech from the throne contained the usual reference to the prosperity of the country. Items of the most interest mentioned, were the great value of mineral deposits in the Cobalt district becoming more and more evident, and the future is full of promise both to the investor in mining properties and the people of the province. "The rights of the province in these deposits have been kept steadily in view by my ministers and accordingly a measure providing for the taxation of mining properties will be submitted to you for consideration. I think it well to draw to your attention the fact that the tendency to hasty and reckless investment and speculation is abroad, and it is to be hoped will be kept in check by the good sense of the people. Amendments of the last session to the public school act have given general satisfaction.

"The experience of the past year with reference to the working of the act has shown certain amendments to be desirable. A measure embodying them will be laid before you. The education department is now dealing with the question of the price of text books, and expects during the present session to make a satisfactory ararngement with reference to this very important matter.

"My ministers have for some time past been considering the question of prison labor with a view to avoiding all possibility of its being put into competition with free labor. It is a subject of the utmost importance and cannot be dealt with hastily. Some facts with relation to it will be laid before you."

ADMIRAL POND AGAIN ON THE WARPATH

After the Scalp of Van Buren Bridge Owner

Says the Structure is Chiefly Used to Transmit Booze, and it Interferes With His Operations

A civil action of international importance is about to be taken in the courts of both New Brunswick and the State of Maine. "Admiral" L. W. Pond of Edmunston, who earned fame and a honorary title during the lumbering war at Van Buren a couple of years ago, said to the Sun yesterday that he intended to bring action for $10,000 against the owner of a certain bridge at Van Buren. This bridge since its erection three years ago, Mr. Pond claims, has caused him an annual loss of $5,000 by hindering the progress of the St. John River drives. The structure is of three spans and according to the "Admiral" was erected for no other purpose than to enable Maine Yankees to quench their burning thirst with Madawaska county booze. It is a toll-bridge for foot passengers only, its owner ferrying vehicles and horses at a place a little farther down the river. A nickel is the toll each way on the bridge, so it is easily seen that the toll-collector is getting wealthy by taking advantage of the dryness of Van Burenites.

The building of this structure, Mr. Pond maintains, violates the provisions of the Ashburton treaty, which stipulates that the waters of the St. John must not be obstructed.

Legislative action upon this side of the line is impossible, Mr. Pond declares, on account of the opposition of a certain member of the Canadian senate. Consequently the governor of Maine is to be approached and it is thought that that official's leaning toward prohibition will cause him to take steps toward the removal of this enemy of Maine's sobriety.

But Mr. Pond has yet another resource should no action be taken by Augusta. A few dynamite cartridges placed in the proper places would effectually remove the offending bridge, so it is quite possible that the war clouds may again hover over the Upper St. John.

A sequel to "Mr. Barnes of New York," Archibald Clavering Gunter, is announced by Dodd, Mead & Co. It bears the title "Mr. Barnes, American," and will be illustrated by B. Martin Justice. "Mr. Barnes of New York" has probably had more readers and been published in more different languages than any other novel in the past 30 years. On the day it was issued not a single copy was sold, but within seven months the sales amounted to one hundred thousand a month. "Mr. Barnes of New York" has also been extraordinarily successful as a play, and is still being performed. At one time no less than ten companies in England were giving various versions of it, the copyright not being protected there.

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 12.—The Rev. Moffatt Gautrey, the new minister of the Brunswick church, Birkenhead, forbade kissing games at he church circle, which it has been the custom to hold on boxing night. The young men of the church protested, but the minister refused to alter his decision.
