OLIVE DEFEATED HUNTER LAST NIGHT

Two very interesting races were pulled off at the Queen's Rollaway last night. The first was a boys' half mile race won by Gleason, second a mile race between Olive and Hunter and won by the former.

In the boys' race the starters were Gleason, Dearborn, McGowan and Nixon. In the second lap McGowan fell and Dearborn followed suit in the next lap. Both got to their feet and continued skating, but did not succeed in being placed. The result was: Gleason, 1st; Nixon, 2nd.; time 1.58 1-2.

The mile race in which Olive and Hunter were the contestants was the second of a series between these two skaters. The start was a scratch and for three quarters of a mile the race was close and interesting. In the last quarter Clive forged ahead and won by a good margin in the time of 3.27. The officials were: Fred Logan, starter; A. McCaw and F. L. Potts, judges; W. Campbell and B. Olive, scorers; A.

At the close of the race it was annunced that Olive had accepted Alward's challenge to skate a series of three one mile races, the winner to take two out of the series.

THE TURE

TORRYBURN RACES. The horse races which were to have been held at Torryburn yesterday af-ternoon, could not be pulled of, owing to the fact that the tracks were blocked with snow. They will be held on Saturday afternoon, if the conditions are favorable. Particular interest centres in the free-for-all, in which Walter K. and Kaiser G. are expected to minutes this evening the House of Commons suffered an agony of terror under the belief that not only the precincts of the House but the sacred chamber itself had been invaded by suffragette.

Undisguished even with male clothes or shortened hair a well dressed woman walked collectedly through the doors of the Chamber and began to move towards the speaker's chair. An intrepid attendant pounced upon the intruder, seized her by the arm and hastily led her back, while the shrinking legislators timorously watched, expecting that the fiery Pankhurst crew would rush to her rescue.

Mr. Kennaway, the nearest member, rushed boldly after the retreating woman, followed in hot haste by the sergeant-at-arms, whose arduous duty it is to maintain decorum in the Chamber and its approaches.

Happily the peril passed. The members recovered their equanimity upon learning that the petticoat invader was innocent of offence, having mistakenly followed Mr. Kennaway, who had come to procure her a ticket of admission to the Women's Gallery.

The lady, who was unfamiliar with the topography of the House, was covered with confusion when she realized the enormity of her unpremediated intrusion and hastened blushing, under Mr. Kenneway's escort, to comparative privacy behind the grille which shields the Women's Gallery.

FROM "SPOTTED FEVER"

EDINBURGH, March 21—Professor Osler, being on a visit to Edinburgh, gave a lecture to the university medical students. He said in New York some 3,000 deaths had occurred in the last two years from the epidemic known as "spotted fever." The disease was not pandemic, but one of its peculiarities was to appear in widely separated places. Its mortality as an acute affection almost equalled that of plague. They knew of no disease which struck a patient with such lightning rapidity. It had probably the same degree of infectiousness as pneumonia in home epidemics. Many instances proved it could be communicated from one person to another. At present it was not widespread as an epidemic in Brittle and there was no reason why it not widespread as an epidemic in Brit ain, and there was no reason why i should be. It was not likely to prevai should be. It was not likely to prevail beyond the winter season. As to treatment, it had been found that frequent hot tubs were a great comfort to patients. Professor Osler thought it a hopeful feature that a serum had been prepared which had rendered monkeys immune, and it was not unreasonable to look for the elaboration of a similar serum for use in man. serum for use in man.

BERLIN, March 21—An upholsterer named Karl Wagner, living at Munich, has constructed a violin entirely out of wooden matches.

The instrument has a good tone, and the back is ornamented by a picture of the tower of the famous Frauenkirche.
Wagner first made a model of the parts in cardboard, and then glued over them the matches, which are perfectly joined. The cardboard was then removed and the parts put together.
Ten boxes of matches supplied the necessary wood, and Wagner was engaged for a year on the work. He has presented the violin to his son, who is a promising musician.

THERAN, March 21. — The Mushtahed, the chief priest of the Mohammedans of the Shiah sect in Theeran, has taken refuge at Shabdolazin, with 300 followers, as a protest against the action of the new parliament. This is the customary Persian mode of demonstrating discontent.

The premier was closeted last night with the Russian minister, and the latter had audience of the Shah for over an hour at noon today.

The general opinion among the wellinformed is that a coup d'etat is in preparation. Everything points to the occurrence of some extraordinary event in the next few days.
