LIVERPOOL WHEAT MARKET.

LIVERPOOL, May 14.—Wheat futures opened 1/2 to 3/4 lower on the Corn Exchange today, on disappointing cable advices, and further declined on general realizations. This afternoon's futures were quoted about 1/8 lower than yesterday evening. Mais opened unchanged, and this afternoon was about 1/4 lower, in sympathy with wheat.

NEW YORK, May 14.—The market opened easy. A wide decline in Canadian Pacific was the feature of the opening dealing in stocks. That stock ran off 2-3/4 and there were sharp declines in other speculative favorites. Reading lost 1 and Union Pacific, Northern Pacific and Amalgamated Copper 5/8, there were a few points of resistance to the declining tendency. American Smelting rose 3/4 and then losing its gain. The market was dull and narrow.

U. S. AND GERMANY.

BERLIN, May 14.—The Reichstag today without any further discussion passed the third reading of the commercial modus vivendi between the United States and Germany. The bill will now go to the emperor for his signature.

HIGHER PRICES IN SCOTLAND.

GLASGOW, May 14.—In sympathy with the soaring prices in the United States, Scotch holders of wheat are demanding substantial advances. The stocks on this side are light and the large cargoes usually expected at this time of the year are not materializing. Home millers therefore are protecting themselves and the Scotch bakers have raised the price of bread on account of the increased cost of flour. Germany is a factor in the situation, large quantities of Australian and Scotch wheat being purchased for that country.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

CHICAGO, May 14.—A recurrence of yesterday's frenzied excitement characterized Trade today, but the opening quotations showed a much narrower range than did the first quotations of the previous session. The tendency at the start was towards higher prices, but enormous realizations sales quickly carried prices down from 1 to 3 cents per bushel. From 9:14 to 9:17 the opening quotations on July, the price dropped back to 94-3/4. Sept. opened at 97-1/2 to 98 and declined to 96-1/4. December sold off to 98-1/4, after opening at 99-1/2 to 99-1/4.

SEEDING IN THE WEST.

WINNIPEG, May 12.—The very backward spring, which has greatly hampered agricultural operations through out western Canada, has been causing considerable anxiety in business circles, which are so vitally interested in the crop. With a view to ascertaining the exact condition The Free Press today received despatches from all the leading points in the wheat areas of the three provinces, and these, while not sanguine, are certainly even more encouraging than was anticipated. Summarized the reports received indicate that in Manitoba 15 per cent. of the wheat has been seeded, and in Saskatchewan about 10 per cent. No growth is reported from any point, with one single exception, but everywhere the ground is in splendid condition to receive seed, and there will be plenty of moisture to carry it well into the second week of June. The area sown will be considerably larger than last year, and that of last year, instead of fifteen per cent. greater, as it would have been had there been much rain in the spring ploughing. There will be a largely increased acreage sown to barley and oats, and the operations of June will probably be larger than for some years. Given fine, warm weather from now on there is nothing to prevent the wheat from making a splendid crop. But in the words of one farmer, "there is not an hour to lose." At the present, on bright days, the west is enjoying about fourteen hours of sunshine out of twenty-four, and if the wind would but move to the south and stay there all would yet be well. In the meantime there is no cause for misgiving.

MEDFORD MILLS WERE DESTROYED BY FIRE.

MEDFORD, May 12.—The wood working mill of Shaw and Remby and a coal pocket owned by the Highland Coal Company were destroyed by fire tonight, occasioning a loss of $40,000. The fire at one time became so threatening that a general alarm was sounded in this city and help was sent from Somerville, the fire being within a few feet of the dividing line. The mill and the coal pocket were situated, besides the tracks of the southern division of the Boston and Maine R. R., all trains from the north were held up for several hours. Across the track is the big lumber yard of A. L. Littlefield and brands from the fire set several of the lumber piles in flame, but the Somerville department arrived in time to stop the spreading of the fire in that direction. In responding to the call for aid horse No. 7, of Somerville, lost a wheel and every man on the wagon was thrown to the ground with considerable violence. Two were taken to the hospital but later were sent to their homes. Hoseman Packer, of the local department was overcome by smoke and also treated at the local hospital. The loss of the mill will be $25,000, partly covered by insurance, while the coal pocket valued at $5,000 also partly covered by insurance.

OUR Remodelling Sale

Is a great success judging from the crowds that patronized it on Monday, and interest in it does not lag, as far as one line is sold out, others are marked down to take its place. So what may be regular price today may be put on special sale tomorrow. We never buy at random or resort to shoddy for the sake of cheapness. When we say prices have been reduced 10, 15 or 20 per cent. we mean exactly what we say. It is through adherence to this straight forward policy as well as to the high character of our merchandise that we attribute the large increase in our business making enlargement necessary.

POLICE COURT.

In the police court this morning one drunk was fined $4. Joseph Hadly, charged by Capt. George Blisset, of the Government Steamer Lanesville, for being drunk and refusing duty, was remanded to jail. Hadly attempted to take charge of the ship yesterday afternoon.

The greater part of the court's time was taken up with two cases of theft. Both were dealt with preliminarily to the prisoners being sent to a higher court.

Wm. Smith, a colored man, was charged with stealing seven suits of outskins from Sand Point fishermen on the 10th inst., a rifle and 25 cartridges from Harry Springer on the Government Dredge New Dominion at Sand Point, also on the 10th, and a raincoat and watch from Capt. G. E. Evans of the schooner Pardon G. Thomson lying at the ballast wharf on the 7th inst. The coat with another coat and pair of pants had been sold by the prisoner to Captain John Kirby of the packet schooner Florence now at South Market wharf. Lee identified the coat by a tear where a button had been torn off.

Commons, another fisherman, gave about the same evidence regarding his suit of outskins and identified a coat in court as one resembling that by a piece of string on it, also by some mud on the coat that had been on it Friday night.

Frank King told the court of losing the two suits of outskins from his boat one suit of a yellow color and the other black. His coat had brass buttons on it and as it had not been recovered by the police he could not identify it.

Capt. John Kirby of the schooner Florence testified that on Saturday morning last Smith went to the schooner at Market Slip and sold to witness two outskin coats and a pair of pants for a dollar. The garments were the ones exhibited in court. Smith said he was a sailor, was giving up going to sea and that was the reason he had for selling the goods.

Capt. Kirby said he lost his small boat Friday night, some person having stolen it from the vessel. Smith said he was the owner of the boat on a reef of rocks in the harbor.

Clarence Hayes a sailor on the Packet schooner Charlie Troop testified that on Sunday morning Smith met him on the wharf and offered for sale a pair of rubber boots for thirty cents. He afterwards sold them to the mate of the schooner Florence for 40 cents.

Smith also said he had a watch he would sell for $2.50 and he had a gun worth $15 he would sell for two dollars. He also said he had a pair of high rubber boots and a suit of dark outskins that he would sell cheap.

Smith was asked whether he would prefer going before Judge Forbes, or a jury. He said, "I'll take the jury."

The witnesses who gave evidence The witnesses who gave evidence were asked in the usual form if they were content to enter into recognizance to appear at a higher court to give evidence against the prisoner on May 28th. All nodded consent but John Commons, who did not seem to understand and he said he was not content.

"Then you can go to jail," said the magistrate, "and the rest can go."

"OK," he called, the name of William D. Haywood, charged with the murder of former governor Steinberg opens today at 10 a. m. with every prospect of a completed jury before the end of the week. It is admitted however, that it is difficult to forestall what may be the outcome of the examination of the witnesses summoned by the sheriff under the order for a special venire. Seldom does it was a penitentiary hearing been permitted in any court to search so deeply into the history of the present defendant as in the case of a prospective juror.

The prosecution has in every case endeavored to bring out the connections of the jurymen since the murder of the former governor, but when the talesmen have been turned over to the attorneys for the defense the range of the questions has invariably widened.

It is evident that the defense proposed to lay much stress throughout the case on the fact that the defendant had been interfered on the part of President Roosevelt and of Secretary Taft. The line of questioning invariably goes to the President Roosevelt's "undesirable citizens" letter, and into the speech delivered by Secretary Taft at Pocahontas during the last gubernatorial election in which Mr. Taft supported Governor Gooding and commended his attitude on what was then known as the "Haywood-Peterson case."

Up to the present no talesman has admitted that the expressions of either the president or the secretary would have any effect on his decision. It is made plain that the range of reading of the talesmen is not wide. Most of them take one or the other of the local papers and admit that they have read all about the case in the papers. Some of them say that they have been impressed by these readings to a "certain extent." They admit that the case has been discussed inside their own families or the neighborhood, but it is evident that within the twelve months this discussion has been limited.

Haywood is perhaps the most interesting personage in the courtroom. The man who has of late years been a dominant factor in the Western Federation of Miners apparently shows less intensity of interest in the proceedings than any one around him. Upwards of forty newspaper men are here to report the case. Cameras are trained upon him from all angles. His every movement is thus recorded, but except for the little red haired child beside him, for his invalid wife or for his counsel with now and then a glance at a talesman, Haywood shows no sign that he realizes his position. His youngest daughter sits beside him and generally has her arm on his big man's shoulder. Now and then he turns to her and smiles. She seems delighted with the attention and in turn will look at her mother who occupies an invalid's chair, and laughs outright. Once or
