33 Great Russell St., London, W. C. and which he (Tupper) had felt called upon to denounce was not the tariff of today. It was proposed by Mr. Fielding to give all low tariff countries a preference. After a time the government changed their views and did as the opposition insisted they should do in the first instance. He told Mr. Fielding that certain things could not be done and that the finance minister stated that they had been done. Mr. Fielding had since discovered that he was obliged to undo them all and refund the money which he had improperly taken. Sir Charles showed that there was no real preference to England, but instead a substantial preference to the United States. He showed that Mr. Fielding had added seven millions to the debt of Canada and was now making his boast that the amount of taxation was greater than ever before. The government could not point to one act of theirs which contributed in any way to the expansion of the trade of Canada. The boastel expansion of trade as far as Canada was concerned was due nainly to the great crops of wheat and its high price, and the increased exports from this province, to which Mr. Paterson referred at Gagetown, was largely due to the increased price of lumber, for which the government from falling, as it had done since. The mineral discoveries of Canada had led to the influx of thousands of people, and millions of dollars had been invested in the great mining properties of the country. Hon. Mr. Blair talked of the Drummond county railway and claimed credit for giving the I. C. R. an entrance into Montreal. Sir Charles again criticized the government's action with regard to their failure to secure or attempt to secure a preference for Canadian goods in the British markets. In closing Sir Charles said he would never forget the reception accorded to him on this occasion. He would always stand ready to help St. John,

LESSON XIII - Sept. 25.

REVIEW GOLDEN TEXT. No good thing will He withhold from hem that walk uprightly -Psa. 84: 11.

The Review is usually the most difficult lesson of the quarter, the one most dreaded by teacher and by cholar; and yet a good review is almost essential to a clear comprehension and permanent impression. It should be not a retracing of our steps one by one, but a bird's eye view as from a mountain top of the hills and valleys, the roads and streams, among which we have been traveling. There ething to us, from a broad riew, which no amount of study of details can give us. The artist with hi landscape, and the physical geographer with his outlook over continents, can show us truths which no mere botanist or miner or mineralogist can furnish. So in our review we should learn the truths which the centuries teach us, which nations in a long history have worked out. This is the work of KINGS. During this time there were nineteer kings of nine different dynasties of families. So many changes of dynasies show the disordered state of the kingdom. It is well to have the scholars learn the chief names and periods to which they belong.

COURSES OF THE HISTORY AND

ITS MEANING. The problem was to prepare a na tion who would be fitted to carry on the kingdom of God, to receive His truth, to accept the Messiah, and proclaim salvation to the world. There were now two experiments, one with the northern kingdom, about which we have been studying; and the other with Judah, which form the subject for the next quarter's lessons.

1. The kingdom opened with the mest brilliant possibilities. Its territories were much larger and more fer tile than these of Judah. It inherited much of the glories, the power, wealth and literature of the kingdom which had burst into meridian splendour under David and Solomon. But its first king, a man of large capacity and great force of character, but more politic than religious, put in it at the very beginning the leaven of sin and

2. There were reforms and reform ers, especially Elijah and Elisha, who fearlessly proclaimed the truth, faced kirgs, and taught the people.

3. There was a reforming king, Jehu zealous and cruel, deing a good work in a bad way. He rooted but the thorns that choked the wheat, in the could hardly claim credit. If they family of Ahab and the priests of

5. They had examples of religious revival and prosperity in the southern 6. At times God gave them prosper ity and wealth, that His goodness might lead them to reventance. 7. They had many warnings, lesser evils coming upon them for their sins

These were the pains that told them of lisease within. 8. God sent them special prophets Jonah, Amos, and Hosea, who in every way, by words, by deeds, by visions, he would have been driven from public life. Sir Charles said he was not now speaking of dishonesty but of lack of business ability. Mr. Blair got a bill through the house which the senate threw out. Since then the minister of railways made a bargain with regard to the railway for $1,000,-000 less than his first proposition callby object lessons, warned and entreat-But in spite of all there things they refused to repent, they continued in evil ways, and at last they "ate the fruit of their own way and were filled with their own devices." They "set at naught all Wisdom's counsel, and would none of her reproof," till their "fear came as desolation, and their de struction as a whirlwind."

LESSONS FOR US. The Way of Transgressors is Hard Not only because of the awful punshment at the end, but because of the parriers God puts in the way of siners to keep them from walking in that way,—the love of God, the con ce and moral nature, the Word of God, the Holy Spirit, the sacrifice of Christ, the sense of honor, God's goodness, God's providence, early raining, the influence of religion

1. National Applications—God ha given wonderful possibilities to our nation, and we can make the Ideal to be Real if we will. Our only danger is in sin and irreligion,—in corruption, pride, luxury, oppression, selfishness, vice, neglect of duty. God is doing for the nations of to-day even more than for Israel, to keep them from the downward path. He gives prosperity and omforts. He lets hard times come wi ose meaning is ever that we should note where we have gone wrong, and repent, and do works meet for repent-

WELSHPOOL, Campobello, Sept. -A violent thunder storm passed over Campobello on Sunday night. At Harbor de Lute, the residence of James McGuire was struck. The lightning entered the southwestern end of the upper story through the window, ripping off the shingles and scattering the glass through the bedroom inside. A loaded gun standing in the corner was struck. Its stock was split off, but it was not discharged. The lightning ran down the partition, breaking off the laths and plaster, and striking the floor in a room down stairs, two or three feet from a sofa on which Mr. McGuire was lying. It splintered a chair and passed out doors, no one being hurt. The house was only slightly damaged. George Mallock, who has been living in Eastport for the last nine or ten years, is repairing his house on North road, Campobello, where he will shortly take up his residence. This house is one of the old landmarks of the island, having been built nearly a hundred years ago.

Dwelling House on the Ford Farm Burned—Prohibition Meeting.

NAUWIGEWAUK, N. B., Sept. 13.—About mon today fire broke out an the roof of the dwelling house on the well known Ford farm, now owned by John Montgomery and occupied by Mr. McCartney. Before ladders could be got ready the fire mede such headway that it was found to be useless to try to put it out, and attention was turned to getting things out of the house. By the help of kind hands, nearly all the moveables were got out, with the exception of nearly all his crop of potatoes, which were in the cellar. There being a strong wind, the house burned rapidly and was soon in ashes.

There was a large and enthusiastic meeting in the public hall of this place Tuesday evening in the interests of prohibition. Specthes were made by Rev. Mr. Camp of Sussex and Rev. Mr. McNeal of Hampton. Both gentlemen gave able and convincing addresses, showing many of the evils of intemperance and giving many good reasons why we should vote for prohibition. At the close of what might properly be called a very interesting and instructive meeting, Mr. Camp asked all those who were in favor of prohibition and would work and vote for it to stend up, and judging from the large number that stood, there can be no doubt as to the result of the vote cast by the people of Nauwigewauk or the 28th.
