Every building on the island has been swept away. The survivors took refuge in trees in which they remained until the storm wore itself out. The four lost were Greeks. Those drowned by the sinking of the King of Avon are: Captain Morris, wife, sister and three children; Mate Fleston, Halifax, N. S.; Boatswain Twoehey, Arthur Hayes, Harley Walsh and James J. Jennings, all of Weymouth, Eng., and Philip Gibault, of the Isle of Jersey.

WOODSTOCK, N. B., Oct. 1.—Before Justice McCormac this morning Edward Faulkner was brought on the complaint of one Alfred Geddes, who swore out information to the effect that on the 18th day of September Faulkner inflicted grievous bodily injury upon him by shooting him with a bullet from a revolver. The shooting affray took place in Grafton. Mr. Connell appeared for the crown and F. B. Carvell for the prisoner. After hearing the evidence of Bowles and Hamon, two eye-witnesses, and that of Dr. Prescott, who removed the bullet, the justice committed Faulkner to stand his trial at the supreme court, which meets at Upper Woodstock on the 15th, with Judge Gregory presiding.

MORE SENSATIONS IN LONDON ELECTION CASE

Chief Witness for Prosecution a Disappointed Office Seeker and a Blackmailer—Conservative Returning Officer Among Those Bribed—Evidence of General Corruption is Plentiful.

(Special to the Sun.) TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 1.—The London election charges were again heard in police court here today. William Mulloy and Daniel Wiley surrendered to the authorities this morning. George Ardy, W. J. Mulloy, W. Service G. Reid, D. Wiley and J. Ogor were arraigned and pleaded not guilty.

John Cox, of the Dominion House, London, told of receiving an envelope from William Mulloy with Trudell's name on it. Alexander Milne, stranger, who was deputy returning officer, said Jeremiah Collins, complainant, had instructed him to fold ballots in a certain unusual way.

Just before the adjournment this afternoon two witnesses admitted getting $10. It was put in an envelope before the election, held by some third party, and given after the election. Edgar Clark swore he was promised $10 in committee room by Collins, to vote for Hyman, and some man held it. Collins was called in, and swore this man was Wiley, but Clark declared he did not know the man, though he would not deny it was Wiley.

Requith Clark met Collins in committee room, and $10 was put in an envelope, and handed by a man. "Who?" asked the counsel for the prosecution. "Mulloy," and the witness identified the man as the witness.

"How did you vote?" "For Hyman. I would have voted so anyway." "When did you get the money?" "The night after the election." "Milne swore absolutely he had not practiced any crooked work in his part of the election." "William Trudell, of London, a moulder, whom Robinette characterized as 'an ordinary $10 liar,' told the story of how he had been approached by Prisoner Mulloy regarding his vote. Trudell swore he saw Mulloy put $10 in an envelope while he (witness) put his name on this envelope, which was handed to John Cox, presumably for delivery after election. It turned out that Trudell was scrutineer for Gray, the defeated Conservative candidate, and he also voted for Gray. However, he continued, that did not prevent him from calling for the $10 which he allowed was to have been paid for his vote. He did not receive the money. Collins' previous evidence was read in court, and then a letter was put in from Ogerman telling Collins that he (Ogerman) was sorry that a government job could not then be provided for him. Jeremiah Collins, when questioned by Robinette, said he had been promised a job worth $1,500 since 1905, though nothing had been said of it in the previous year. He mentioned Lewis, Mulloy and Reid in this connection.

"Mulloy said both him and me was to get jobs," said Collins. He denied that he had lost his license in London, but had sold out in 1904 order of Inspector Brown, an official of the Ross Government. It was then related that he (Collins) had gone to see lawyer Tooth in London, to issue a writ to get some reward for his services.

REV. MR. SAVARY'S WIFE AND MOTHER STILL TRUST HIM

Won't Believe Elopement Story — Expected Him Home This Week—Wife is Dying, Mother is ill—Would-be Bigamist on His Way to St. Martins to Face the Music.

PLYMOUTH, Mass., Oct. 1.—Rev. Harry S. Savary, whose elopement with a young girl of St. John, N. B., is reported from that city, is well known here, where his family are respected about a job, and he asked me if I wanted to get anybody into trouble. Then he asked me if I wanted some of Hyman's money. I said if I got it I would be out of the country. Gibbons told me he would see me in hell before I got a cent. I wanted to go to the Northwest.

Robinette questioned the authenticity of the poll book exhibit, but Collins said that he had made a copy of the original "in case of accident." However, he afterwards said the marks in the book had been made by inside scrutineers. Robinette read a record of Collins' previous offenses, most of which were denied by witness.

The case goes on tomorrow, when Robinette will make another effort to have it moved to London, as there is no reason, he says, for hearing it at Toronto. Sifton and Lewis, two other men accused, are expected to give evidence in the case.

Harry S. Savary was born here 24 years ago and was educated in the schools of the town. After an intermission he obtained his theological education at the Wesleyan University in Bangor, Me. He has never been regularly settled in this section and the statement which comes from New Brunswick that he was lately pastor of the Baptist church in Bangor, N. B., has ever been associated with his name.

Mrs. Savary the mother, is not strong and the condition of the unfortunate girl makes the story a particularly sad one.

TELLS ANOTHER STORY AT HAMPTON. (Special to the Sun.) HAMPTON, N. B., Oct. 1.—H. S. Savary, the man who was charged with saving from committing bigamy, much against his will and intention, arrived in Hampton this afternoon. He failed to get the C. P. R. train when it left for the purpose of his journey, but by the self-conscious wrong of which he had been guilty, that he did not notice when Hampton was reached, and so was taken on to Norton, from which place he was driven back by the hotel-keeper there.

He paid visits to the jeweller, milliner and registry office, with the expectation of squaring himself financially for the purpose of his journey to state, except to say a good word for the minister by whose prompt and energetic action on Saturday evening a serious crime was averted.

Much of the governor's time today was occupied in receiving officials of the various departments and judges of the courts. With the members of the supreme court Governor Taft held a prolonged conference concerning the drafting of a proclamation of general amnesty. This decree is of the utmost importance in view of the fact that at many points on the island, notably Chateaufort, many persons are in jail awaiting the disposition of political charges. The governor today also appointed Major Eugene F. Ladd and Alexander Gonzales a committee of audit to audit the accounts of the treasury.

Jose J. Montenegro and Carlos Hernandez, members of the disarmament commission, left here tonight to receive arms from the rebels at Santa Clara, Chateaufort and other points in the centre of the island. The laying down of arms by the rebels in the vicinity of Havana will begin tomorrow. HAVANA, Oct. 1.—The first anti-American demonstration occurred in Havana this evening at 7 o'clock when 150 academy students and other youths straggled through some of the downtown streets shouting "Viva the Cuba Republic; down with American control." This demonstration was not treated seriously. The crowd received few concessions.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Today being the first anniversary of the laying of her keel plite, the battleship Dreadnought left Portmouth for her steam and gun trials. The Admiralty attaches such importance to the trials that the results will be kept secret.

REMEMBERED BY THEIR FRIENDS Golden Wedding of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. B. DeVeber

Mr. DeVeber Presented With an Address and Mrs. DeVeber With a Purse of Gold

A number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. B. DeVeber assembled at their home last evening, the occasion being the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding. Among those present were: James Lovell, M. P. E., Recorder Skinner, Senator Ellis, Ald. McDermick, Ald. Willet, County Secretary Vincent, Joseph A. Magilton, Dr. Thos. Walker and F. B. Blair.

The chairman then called on a number of those present and very pleasing speeches were made by Senator Ellis, Ald. McDermick, Ald. Willet, County Secretary Vincent, Joseph A. Magilton, and Dr. Walker.

The address was very neatly engraved by Mr. Willet and embossed with the DeVeber monogram and read as follows: To J. S. DeVeber, Esq., ex-M. P. County Treasurer of the Municipality of the City and County of St. John:

On behalf of the officers and members of the municipality of the city and county of Saint John. (Sgd.) JAMES LOWELL.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 1.—The oldest witness that ever appeared before a grand jury in western New York testified before such a body in this city today. She is Mrs. Mary Bean of Brockport, 104 years old. She testified against Roxo Halatoddy, who is accused of plotting the murder of the aged complainant's home. She drove the robbers from her premises by hurling a lighted lamp at their heads. Mrs. Bean came from Brockport unattended, and she walked up four long flights of stairs in the court house rather than trust herself to the elevator.
