

ST. JOHN CLERGY AND LAYMEN GOING TO CENTENNIAL OF QUEBEC CATHEDRAL

Oldest Cathedral Church in British Colonies—How the First Bishop Was Appointed—Triennial Meeting of General Synod to Meet at Quebec in Honor of Centenary.

Great interest is being displayed by the members of the Episcopal church and others in the centennial services to be held in the city of Quebec next month in commemoration of the erection of the cathedral in that ancient city. This is by far the oldest cathedral church in the British colonies, the next in order of time being the cathedral church at Fredericton, in this province, the corner stone of which was laid by Sir William M. Colborne on Oct. 15, 1845.

Next to Nova Scotia, Quebec is the oldest Anglican diocese outside of England. Dr. Charles Inglis, not long after his appointment and consecration as first Bishop of Nova Scotia in 1787, appealed to England for the division of his immense diocese, which included all British North America and the West Indies. In consequence the king in council agreed in 1788 that a division should be made, and Quebec was selected as the residence of the bishop of the new see.

There is a familiar story told in connection with the selection of the first bishop of Quebec. It is said that the nomination was in the hands of Mr. Pitt, who consulted his old tutor, Dr. Tomline, Bishop of Lincoln. The Bishop of Lincoln in turn called in his examining chaplain, Dr. Jacob Mountain. On being informed what the subject under consideration was, Dr. Mountain is said to have replied: "Say unto this mountain, be thou removed and be thou cast into this sea" (see), and the thing is done. This rejoinder was reported to the king, who laughed heartily and gave to the nomination of Dr. Mountain the royal approval. Dr. Mountain was consecrated on July 7, 1788, and embarked almost immediately for Quebec.

In honor of the centenary of the erection of the Quebec cathedral, the triennial meeting of the General Synod of the Church of England in Canada will be held there on Wednesday, Sept. 6, extending over the next ten days. The general synod includes twenty-two bishops, and nearly 100 clerical and an equal number of lay delegates. The clergymen who will go as delegates from Nova Scotia are: Rev. Dr. R. A. G. H. Dicker and Rev. Dr. Raymond, of this city; Dean Partridge, of Fredericton; Archdeacon Neales, of Woodstock, and Rev. J. R. W. Cowie, of St. John. The lay delegates are F. J. G. Knowlton, W. M. Jarvis, G. O. D. Otty, A. C. Fairweather, Judge Hanington and H. B. Schofield.

The topics to be considered at the approaching session are of considerable importance and include such matters as prayer book revision, the adoption of a standard hymn and the adoption of a distinctly Canadian name for the Canadian Episcopal church, which is now known as the Church of England in Canada.

FOREST FIRES THREATEN MILL

Moncton Man Takes Crew Out in Special Train to Save His Property.

Moncton, N. B., Aug. 27.—(Special)—Forest fires raging north of Moncton have been doing a great amount of damage. Today they threatened destruction to Geo. McSweeney's mill and lumber at Gallagher Ridge. Fearing that the property would be lost, Mr. McSweeney this afternoon hired a special train and took forty or fifty men to fight the flames.

The fire surrounded the mill, and the men had a hard fight to save the property. There is about 200,000 feet of sawn lumber, a mill and 200,000 feet of logs. Most of the sawn lumber was loaded and conveyed beyond reach of the fire. So far no damage has been sustained to Mr. McSweeney's mill, but about thirty men are still employed in keeping the fire in check.

If the wind should spring up, the mill will be in danger of destruction. It is stated that damage to the standing timber which is about 200,000 feet of sawn lumber, the last of the three Reid children, whose death by mysterious poisoning has attracted so much attention, was laid in the grave today. A post-mortem was held last night by Drs. Smith and McNaughton, and suspicion of death by poison was confirmed.

SHOT GLACE BAY GIRL WHO WAS BERRYING

Woman Arrested on Charge—Said She Fired Shot to Frighten Girl From Field.

Sydney, N. S., Aug. 27.—(Special)—A little girl named Katie McPherson, twelve years of age, was shot in the forearm in Glace Bay Saturday, while picking blueberries near the house of a woman named Mrs. Charles Adams. The shooting, it is alleged, was done by the Adams woman, at it thought, with the intention of frightening the girl away from the field.

The wound is a painful one and the girl is in a serious condition. The woman, it is said, fired from an upstairs window of the house. A day or two before, it is said, she fired a couple of shots in the air to scare some little boys who were picking berries in the same field.

Mrs. Adams was arrested soon after the shooting and a preliminary hearing will take place tomorrow. She came from Windsor (N.S.), about three years ago.

Woodstock: Farewell to Dr. Rankin.

Woodstock, N. B., Aug. 26.—Dr. W. D. Rankin left this afternoon for Vancouver, to practice his profession. Last evening he took leave of his friends at the Opera House citizens presented to Dr. Rankin a handsome cabinet of silver in a beautiful oak case. Mayor Jones presided and the presentation was made by B. Frank Smith, M. P. P.

THINK CANS IN WELL POISONED THREE BOYS IN ALBERT COUNTY

Two Little Sons of Warren Reed Dead; Third is Dying

MYSTERIOUS CASE STIRS COVERDALE

Doctors See Evidence of Arsenic Poisoning, But it is Hard to Trace Source of the Poison—One Boy Died Thursday, Another Yesterday.

Moncton, N. B., Aug. 25.—(Special)—A case of poisoning, the victims being three boys, from two to six years of age, sons of Warren Reed, a week ago last Monday the eldest boy was taken ill, and a day or two later the other two children were seized with similar symptoms. Dr. Smith and Dr. McNaughton were called, and the case baffled the physicians for a time. There were symptoms of arsenic poisoning, but search for poison of any kind failed to reveal a trace on the premises.

The children continued to grow worse, and Tuesday night the youngest died. Early this morning the eldest boy succumbed, and the third boy is at death's door, and it is feared cannot recover. The doctors have no doubt that death is due to poison, but where the children got it is a mystery. In searching the premises the well was dragged and a number of cans were fished out. The water is low, and a theory is that it was poisoned by the children in this way the children met death.

Previous to being taken sick the children drank considerable water, and it is thought a quantity before the well was suspected. As there was no other source from which it is thought the children could have been poisoned, the well theory is accepted.

The case is most remarkable, and the question of poison and source will probably be more fully investigated. The children were the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Reed, who have been living in Middle Coveale for a short time. Last spring Norman Reed, Warren's father, was killed by a horse. Mr. Reed was a farmer and stock raiser, and his farm and stock possession. With him lived his wife, son, and three young sons. The father of the dead children was working in Boston, and the mother in the meantime had been in the city. The names of the little fellows are Warren, Hersey and Joseph. The parents are almost heart-broken over the loss of their children, and the mother is on the border of illness herself. The Reids formerly lived at New Horton, Albert county.

G. T. P. Route to Portage La Prairie Will Stand.

Ottawa, Aug. 25.—(Special)—Your correspondent was informed this morning that the government practically decided that it will be impossible to build the G. T. P. route to Portage La Prairie. The G. T. P. plans were referred to a subcommittee of the committee on the G. T. P. route to Portage La Prairie, and it was seen that the route from Winnipeg west meant that the G. T. P. and the C. P. R. would not be very far apart, and the mother is on the border of illness herself. The Reids formerly lived at New Horton, Albert county.

JUDGE DODD OF CAPE BRETON IS DEAD

Sydney, N. S., Aug. 25.—(Special)—Judge Murray Dodd, of the County Court for District No. 1, Cape Breton, died this afternoon after illness extending over two months. He belonged to one of the oldest and most prominent families in Canada. His grandfather, Hon. Charles Archibald Dodd, was president of council for Cape Breton, and subsequently chief justice. His father, Hon. Edmund Dodd, was judge of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia for twenty-six years. Judge Dodd was educated at St. John's (N.B.), and was admitted to the bar on May 2, 1843. He was elected to represent Cape Breton in the Federal House in 1887 and was appointed judge of the County Court in 1889. Prior to this he was judge of probate. For the past three years he had been commodore of the Royal Cape Breton Yacht Club. His wife, one daughter, and three sons survive him.

Sydney Church Anniversary.

Sydney, N. S., Aug. 27.—(Special)—The fifty-third anniversary of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church was celebrated today. Rev. Clarence McKinnon, the late pastor, and now of Windsor, preached the anniversary service.

Father Bradley's Picnic.

Woodstock, Aug. 25.—The Newburg picnic was held Tuesday on the beautiful grounds of John McKenney, Newburg. The picnic was a success, and the day was realized about $400. The pastor, Father Bradley, was in town today and expressed himself as well pleased with the result. Between 500 and 600 were present. Refreshment tables in charge of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hourigan, John Gallagher, Jr., and Miss Augusta Gallagher. There were supplying the demands for ice cream and cooling drinks. The dinner and tea tables were set under a spreading tent and gave ample room for guests and waiters, allowing entrance to the cool and balmy breeze which made the dinner and tea more enjoyable. Dan Gallagher, principal chef, gave satisfaction in supplying the tables with his luscious beans cooked in the oven of Mother Earth.

There was a boxing contest for the most popular young lady among the parishioners, the prize being a handsome gold bracelet, presented by James A. Gibson. Miss Carrie McGuire won from Miss Eva Gallagher by a small majority; both young ladies are very popular and each polled a handsome vote. The contest was a success, and the prize was realized from this source was $64.

A lady's gold belt was won by Charles Hourigan, who very gallantly presented it to the victress, Miss Carrie McGuire. The dancing contest for a doll was won by Thomas McAfferty, of Woodstock—the name being in charge of Hugh Johnson, the prize being an expensive pair of boots presented by Coun. A. G. Bailey. This prize was won by John McGuire, Jr., of Newburg, defeating F. B. Carvell, M. P., by a few points.

The dancing pavilion, in charge of Frank Ryan, was well patronized during the day, and the "light fantastic" tripped to the delightful violin music of Albert Oser, Jr., and William Gallagher managed the bowling alleys, which were well patronized, and the proceeds satisfactory.

Sir,—From a sense of duty I hereby, through your paper, warn the public generally to beware of an impostor who travels from place to place under an assumed name, and obtains money by false pretenses and misrepresentation of person. He says his name is Thomas McLean, and that his home is at Amherst (N. S.). This is false, his name is Joseph Pascoe, originally of Dunsmuir, about six miles west of Amherst station. He is an adept in lying, and can tell a plausible story. He says he is a member of the Orange society, and by fraud, he sometimes succeeds in getting money from members of that fraternity. On the last night, he got money from three persons, if not more, at Petitcodiac. He tried his game at other places. Last Saturday a woman at Amherst made another complaint, charging the obtaining of money by misrepresentation or worse. The man is about forty-seven years of age, stands about five feet six inches in height, and weighs about 200 pounds. It is time he was arrested. ## STRANGE DEATH OF CAPTAIN McMANN

Fell Overboard in Miramichi Saturday, Was Rescued; Overboard Again, and Dead When Taken Into Boat.

SEES LITTLE TO BRING UP RECOLLECTIONS

Talks of the Stage People Who Were Then Entertaining St. John with High Class Productions—He Has Been for Many Years with Frohman.

It will be interesting to St. John theatre goers to know that there is in the city at the present time an actor who was under engagement with James Lanegan, of Lanegan's Theatre, King square, away back in the seventies. Henry Harwood, of Charles Frohman's list of actors, is the one in question.

Mr. Harwood, who is staying at the Dufferin, talked very interestingly to a Telegraph reporter last night of the days when Lanegan's and the Academy of Music were in full swing. Mr. Harwood was with Lanegan in 1874 and with Wm. Nannery, of the Academy of Music, the two years following—1875 and 1876. "This is my first trip to St. John since seventy-six," said Mr. Harwood, "and I hardly realize the time has gone. One of the first places that I looked for was the Victoria hotel, but I find on looking up the street, that there is nothing but a vacant lot to mark the location, about opposite the customs house. Then there was the Waverley House, King street, and I found that the Victoria hotel stands where that well known hostelry was. I also looked round for some of the old residents—Dr. Bayard and the Rev. Mr. Macdonald. I find that the reverend gentleman is dead, but was exceedingly surprised to find that Dr. Bayard was quite active."

When asked regarding the times when he was playing in the city, Mr. Harwood said: "I spent one year with James Lanegan, and another with Wm. Nannery. We used to call him 'Don Caesar,' as he used to play in Don Caesar de Bezan. Those were the days when you had really good players. You don't have them now, because there are so many stars. They were none in those days, but now if they get as far as Portland (Me.) they think they are pretty good. I have them now. Mr. Harwood says that when he was under engagement with Lanegan there were playing with the veteran at that time Rachel Noah, John B. Fuller, Joe Whitney and Shirley France. Of this number France is dead, Rachel Noah is teaching school in Massachusetts, and B. Fuller is in Ireland, and Joe Whitney is an old man residing in New York.

"William Nannery," said Mr. Harwood, "was a treasurer of the Academy of Music, and I filled a two years' engagement with him in seventy-five and seventy-six in the old academy. I remember Neil Warner, Wm. E. Sheridan, Mosse Fiske, Wm. F. Owens and Frank Rosche, Mrs. Frank Murdoch, Gertrude Kelly, Eugene McDermott and Frederick Robinson. Many of these have now passed away."

After leaving Mr. Harwood went to St. John, and was there for two days—seventy-seven and seventy-eight, going from there to New York, where he has been for the greater part of the time since. His engagement with Lanegan, Frohman, being for part of the time with John Drew, who was under Frohman's management.

In 1888 he went to England to support Leslie Carter, and Mr. Harwood was also in the company in which Miss Ethel Barrymore started her career in Rosemary. Mrs. Harwood is a comedian, and has made a success on the stage. He will leave on Monday on his return to New York.

$20,000 FIRE AT NEWVILLE

Lumber Company's Mills and a Million Feet of Lumber Destroyed—One Man Seriously Burned—Some Insurance Carried.

Amherst, Aug. 27.—Word was received here last evening of a disastrous fire which was raging at Newville, a station on the Cumberland Coal & Railway Co.'s line between Springfield and Parroboro. At the time word reached here the large mills and outbuildings and large quantities of lumber had already been destroyed, while the store, cookhouse and blacksmith shop were in immediate danger.

The property belongs to the Newville Lumber Company. It was purchased about two years ago by Messrs. Kirkpatrick and Spicer from Wm. W. Black, of Amherst, and is one of the most valuable milling and lumbering properties in the county, consisting of gang and rotary mills, planer, lathe mill, etc., all thoroughly equipped. The loss at this season will be a most serious one. It is understood the company carries some insurance. Alex. Fowler, the surveyor, was seriously burned. The fire is supposed to have caught from the sawdust furnace.

Later advices today say that the store and blacksmith shop escaped. About 1,000,000 feet of lumber was destroyed, a very small quantity being saved. The loss in mill and lumber will be in the vicinity of $20,000. Alex. Fowler, the injured man, is suffering very much today and his recovery is doubtful.

HELPED A BARQUE

Government Steamer Towed the Italian Maria Out of Trouble Down the Bay.

The steamer Lansdowne returned Saturday night from Gannet Rock, Machias, Seal Island and other places in the bay where government work is being done. The betterment of navigation. Inspector of Lights John Kelley was on board.

The Lansdowne reports having lent a helping hand to the Italian bark Maria on Friday last. The vessel was bound from the continent to Eastport with a cargo of salt, and had drifted in between Grand Manan and the Mair Ledges during a thick fog. There was little or no wind and the control of the bark was lost, and there was great danger of her remaining on the ledges and being wrecked. The Lansdowne towed her out far enough to insure safety.

The pilot reports that the Maria has arrived safely at Eastport.

"I heard somebody say something about Mrs. Jones the other day," said a Cleveland leader.
