Slavin and Kennedy to Meet on Night of Sept. 25

In Fifteen-Round Go at Savoy for Entire Gate Receipts—Both Men Mean Business.

The preliminary skirmish is ended and no one was hurt. Slavin and Kennedy met last night at the Bonanza saloon and signed articles of agreement for a contest for a decision. Slavin found Kennedy waiting for him and at 8 o'clock to the minute the big Australian stalked into the appointed meeting place and was taken in charge by a corps of his adherents. Kennedy's men were out in force also—as well as a room full of rubbers who craned their necks in an attempt to hear all that ensued between the men and possibly witness an impromptu battle royal. As there was no one present save newspaper men who could be counted on to be entirely non-partisan one of the same was chosen as master of ceremonies and the two men would make their demands or concession through him, the principals entirely ignoring each other. After a long and at times exciting debate the scribe wrote out the articles of agreement which was finally accepted by both men. Kennedy was the coolest man in the bunch and to the withering sarcasm of Slavin would return the retort courteous in a manly way that won him many friends for his apparent sincerity and candor. At one time it looked as though the match was off for Slavin insisted on making a side bet which Kennedy was not prepared to cover. The latter, however, said that in the event of his winning the coming wrestling match he would put up all the money he won less $75, the same to be applied to his passage out of the country and further that he would agree to box Slavin for the entire gate receipts, the winner to take all. That declaration suited Slavin and he had no more to say. Following are the articles of agreement signed by the men. If this match is not worth seeing then the manly art is a dead one as far as Dawson is concerned:

Dawson, Sept. 18, 1907.
We, the undersigned, agree to meet at the New Savoy theater in this city on next Wednesday night, September 25th, there to box 15 rounds for a decision, under the Marquis of Queensbury rules, the winner to take the entire gate receipts, less the necessary expenses. We further agree to meet in the ring at 9:45 p. m. on the night of the contest. Referee and timekeeper to be chosen by the principals at the ring side. In the event of the principals not agreeing upon a referee William Jackson is authorized to appoint the same.

F. P. SLAVIN,
FRANK KENNEDY.
Witness: FRED J. WILSON.

ADMISSION TOO SMALL

For Three-Cornered Wrestling Match Says Col. McLaughlin.

It is feared that the wrestlers made a mistake when they agreed upon the price of tickets for their contest. Col. McLaughlin says that nowhere in the world has three men so evenly matched been pitted against each other and that in no other country would these men show for such an insignificant sum, comparatively, as will be awarded the winner of this contest. "There is not a nigger fighter in the country but would get $2, $3 and $5 for a few minutes slugging," said the colonel, and men of reputation should be awarded more money than Manager Jackson can give us from the gate receipts. The house won't hold the people who will desire to witness the event."

Marsh is around offering to bet his usual thousand on the outcome and Kennedy is doing nothing but smiling and looking wise. The contest will commence Saturday night at 9 o'clock sharp, New Savoy theater.

William Ogilvie.
Toronto, Aug. 29.—Mr. William Ogilvie, formerly governor of the Yukon, who is here, stated in an interview that his resignation was due simply to his desire to leave that district. He would not stay there another winter, he said, for $25,000 a year, as there was the biggest lot of kickers in the Yukon he ever saw in his life.

Mr. Ogilvie was a guest at the director's luncheon at the exhibition today, and gave interesting information regarding the Yukon in the course of a short speech.

Another Capias.
A capias was issued last night at the instance of the N. C. Co. for one Carkeek, who it is alleged is in their debt $1379.96. Carkeek, it is said, left for the lower river yesterday in a canoe and it is expected to intercept him at Fortymile.

Delage vs. Wade.
The gold commissioner's court is occupied in hearing the case of Delage vs. Wade, the dispute being the boundary lines of the left limit hillsides of 53 below on Bonanza.

ANDERSON FINED $75

For Brutally Beating Chas. Hansson in Dawson Hotel Bar.

A negro candidate for congress from a Southern district once said in making a speech: "De greatest trouble wid my people am, sah, dat in odah to get an idea into dah-heads, it am fust necessary to open dah heads wid a crow-bah."

Chas. G. Hansson was in police court this morning with his head in a sling, the result of it having been opened with a whisky bottle in the hands of Freeman Anderson, bartender at the Dawson hotel bar, on the morning of September 13th, but even the opening of Hansson's head did not appear to put any ideas in it or in anyway relieve the abruptness of its square corners, for in his evidence he was about as dumb as any witness the box has contained for a large number of moons. About all he could say was "Ae been purty drunk at da time, an' Ae not yust ramamber." The substance of what Chas. apparently wished to say was that he was endeavoring to get a friend out of the bar room in question when Anderson objected to his actions and a mixup occurred in which after a few passes had been made by both parties Anderson seized a whisky bottle, and brutally beat Hansson over the head and face with it, smashing the bottle in atoms, a piece of the bottle nearly as large as a Dawson restaurant steak in '98 being buried in Hansson's face from which it was afterwards removed by a doctor. But worst of all, the whisky the bottle contained was all spilled; therefore, lost to humanity. Several other witnesses, including the prisoner, were called in the case, but the preponderance of evidence went to show that the nature of the assault was wholly unwarranted and Magistrate McCauley decreed that Anderson pay a fine of $75 and costs, also Hansson's doctor bill and hospital expenses, or in default of payment of such fine, costs and incidental expenses to be imprisoned at hard labor for a period of six months. Those who heard the evidence and saw Hansson's face, or that part of it which protruded from the sling, are of the opinion that the court dealt quite leniently with him.

The case of the crown vs. Finn and Tomlison, charged with the theft of timber from government land on Stewart river, which case was to have been heard this afternoon, was postponed until tomorrow at 10 o'clock, the lawyers interested having business this afternoon in the territorial court.

DAWSON FIREMEN

Form a Relief Association for Charitable Purposes.

The fire laddies of Dawson have formed an association for mutual benefit to be known as the Dawson Fire Department Relief Association. The object of the same is to relieve sick or disabled members, to care for the dead and to relieve bereaved relatives of deceased firemen in case of want. Up to the present time no provision has been made for sick or disabled members and this association will undoubtedly be the means of doing a great deal of good in its own particular sphere of action. Similar organizations are found in every city in the world almost without exception and have proven of incalculable benefit to the members of the different fire departments. The officers consist of a president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer and a management committee of three members, the president, vice-president and secretary acting as ex-officio members of the same. The following officers were chosen for the ensuing year:

President, H. A. Stewart; vice-president, A. B. Clark; secretary, treasurer, L. U. Bullock; management committee, W. J. Vachon, Hugh McKenzie and J. P. Stingle.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT

Foreman Upp of Light Plant Has Peculiar Experience.

Mr. D. C. Upp, foreman of the line work of the Dawson Electric Co. met with an accident at the power house yesterday, which, though, not being of a serious nature, was very painful and will lay him up for several weeks.

He was at work making a new connection on the switch board when the knife he was using slipped out of his hand and struck across two of the switch points and immediately the bench in open court had been given to the referee by him.

While the momentous five minutes were passing Woodworth arose and asked that he be allowed to secure Mr. Davey as his counsel in the matter, and also inquired as to whether or not the affidavit of Mr. Noel would be allowed to be filed. In reply Justice Dugas reiterated his statement that no private instructions or any instruction other than such as were delivered from the bench in open court had been given to the referee by him.

"When I say that such and such is the case that is sufficient. Shall this court be compelled to defend itself by stopping to file court affidavits?"

Woodworth suggested that as the clerk was more or less concerned he could doubtless clear the matter up if he were brought into court.

"I'll clear it myself," said his lordship in tones which indicated that he meant what he said. He ordered that portion of the affidavit in controversy stricken out and declared Mr. Woodworth in contempt.

At this juncture Mr. Davey appeared and after a hurried consultation with his client, the court gave him a half hour in which to prepare his defence, which a moment later was enlarged until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

His lordship was on the bench at the appointed hour this afternoon but it was 15 minutes later before Attorney Davey for Mr. Woodworth put in appearance and an additional three or four minutes before Woodworth appeared in person.

Mr. Davey then addressed the court and stated that in behalf of his client he would withdraw the offensive affidavit but wished to file in its stead another affidavit covering the first five sections of the original one, which five sections contained no reflections on the court.

Justice Dugas re-asserted his statement of this morning that the reflection was wholly uncalculated for and in addition said:

"Not again should a court of justice be put in position to defend itself, and I hope no repetition of the charges contained in the affidavit this morning will ever occur in this court. The matter is now off."

Permission was granted to file a second affidavit from which it is safe to say all matters of a reflecting nature will be carefully eliminated.

Should Challenge Live Wire That Put Out Three Men and Horse.

The strong wind blowing last night created considerable havoc with the electric wires about town. The wire which furnishes the light to the White-croze stables on Third avenue became crossed with another wire and instead of the usual power of 100 it was increased to over 2000 volts.

The wire on the inside of the building in some manner became loose from its fastenings and as the ceiling is very low was hanging low enough to interfere with walking. Jack Buckingham, one of the men in the stables reached the wire to replace it on the wall and no sooner had he touched it than he was lifted off his feet and dashed to the floor. His injuries consisted only of a few small burns on the hand where he touched the wire and several large bumps on his body where he touched the floor, and he was very glad to get off so lightly.

Mr. S. Tarr, a blacksmith on Third avenue, came to the rescue and made an attempt to replace the wire and he received a dose similar to the one given Buckingham. He was a little more cautious than the former and escaped with only a few bruises.

An electrician was called to fix the wire but it proved too much for him and he likewise lasted but one round. By that time the current had burned the wire in two and one end dropped onto a horse which was standing underneath and before he knew what had happened he was clear out of the door onto the sidewalk. The shock did not injure him and he was led back into the stable. Passing again under the wire, the other end which had been overlooked happened to touch him and down he went again. After this experience the wire was treated with the greatest respect and consideration by everyone present and held the complete right of way for some time. The electrician finally made another attack upon it and by some skillful maneuvering succeeded in getting the wire out of reach and securing it so that no further injury was done.

whom he was endeavoring to protect and that he was within his rights and had no retraction to make.

Mr. Woodworth, said his lordship, "I'll give you five minutes in which to withdraw." To the clerk, "Bring me Rodgers on slander and libel."

While the momentous five minutes were passing Woodworth arose and asked that he be allowed to secure Mr. Davey as his counsel in the matter, and also inquired as to whether or not the affidavit of Mr. Noel would be allowed to be filed. Concert Next Week.
A grand concert in honor of the arrival of the new organ will be given by the choir of St. Mary's church some evening next week. Rehearsals are now being held and the concert promises to be one of excellence. It is the desire to have as large a chorus as possible and all who can do so are requested to attend the practice which will be held at 8:30 tomorrow afternoon at the church.

The new organ has a beautiful tone and is a great acquisition to the church and is sure to receive the appreciation which is justly merited.

BURWASH IS HOME

From Cruising Trip on Stewart and McQuesten Rivers.

Mr. L. W. Burwash, crown timber inspector, to whom has been assigned the arduous task of looking up the available timber of the district is back from a cruise of 32 days on the Stewart and McQuesten rivers and their side streams. He went to the headwaters of the McQuesten and up the Stewart only a short distance above Fraser falls. He says the supply of timber on both the Stewart and McQuesten is limited, after going up certain distances the growth being of a scrubby and scraggy nature. He says at present the country here is in a veritable hunter's paradise, all kinds of game being found in abundance.

Mr. Burwash is the crown's most important witness in the case against Finn and Tomlison, charged with stealing sawlogs from government land on the Stewart river, which case is on trial today.

The Fall Exodus.
Never in the history of the Yukon has the fall exodus been so heavy as this year. Hundreds of people who come in '98 and '99 are going out now for the first time and on many creeks the winter population will be fully one-half less than during the past summer and previous winters.
