LETTER BOX

LATTER DAY SAINTS.

To the Editor of The Planet:

Dear Editor,—Permit me a small space in your interesting paper regarding the opening of the church known as the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, situated on Head and James streets, North Chatham, which opened commenced October 25, 1903. The first meeting opened at 9 a. m. For prayer, a testimony, this was preceded over by Elder R. C. Evans, president of the Canada Mission and second councillor of the church. He was assisted by Elder A. Leverton, president of the Chatham District. This meeting was much enjoyed, for at the same evening was given that the spirit of God was present, and richly enjoyed to the comfort and edification of the Saints, as in Bible times we could not help but express our love to God for this great favor, and was led to sing Praise God from whom all Blessings Flow. This meeting lasted till ten minutes to eleven; a short interview, then at eleven a. m. preaching by Elder R. B. Howlett, missionary of Chatham District, assisted by Elder L. Lamont, president of Chatham branch or church here, and Elder F. P. Bennett, a missionary in the London District. Elder Howlett took his text from II Cor. 13th chapter, part of 6th verse, "Examine yourselves whether ye be in the Faith, proving from the Bible we were commanded to contend earnestly for this faith, which was once delivered to the former day Saints; then proving that Paul preached it, though he once sought to destroy it—Gal. 1, 23. This faith he proved was the gospel of Christ, proving from the scriptures that faith, repentance, baptism, laying on hands, resurrection of the dead, and eternal judgment was the gospel of salvation, the faith the Latter Day Saints were contending for. A lot was taken, amounting to $7.

At three p. m. preaching by Elder R. C. Evans, as stated above, assisted by Elder T. H. Tynnell, Bishop's agent of the Chatham district, and Elder L. H. Bacon, of Blenheim. Elder Evans took his text from Psalm 127, 1. Except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain that build it. This was a masterly address, given with much power of his high calling, proving from the Bible that God is but one Church, the Church of Christ, and all the material in that church is placed there by God, coming through revelation from Him to man. Much could be said upon this great subject, but as I do not want this to go to the waste basket we must say that for two hours he kept the people with the best of attention, and we are satisfied much good was done in proving which was the true church or building of God in those latter days. A collection amounting to $10. The church at this meeting was full.

At seven p. m. the stand was taken by Elder A. Leverton, as stated above, assisted by Elder E. W. Long, of this city, and Elder B. St. John, missionary in the London District. Elder Leverton took his text from St. John, 17, 17. Sanctify them through thy faith, thy word is truth. This, too, was a great subject, proving that sanctification was a growth, and that we would have to obey the first principles of the Gospel of Christ. Then go on to perfection, and that God had set up His church or Kingdom on the earth and placing therein apostles, prophets and others, by which this was to be reached to enable us to receive our greater schooling when Jesus comes to earth and reign with His Saints, and then this condition will be obtained; then and not till then will the church or kingdom be presented to the Father, as proven by the Apostle Paul; found in I Cor. 15, 24. Much could be said along this line in proof of the great effort put forth by the speaker. A collection of $5.00 for debt of church. This closed the eventful day of the first church erected by the Latter Day Saints in the city of Chatham.

Meetings are being continued from Monday, Friday by Elder R. C. Evans at eight p. m. the following week; Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. and each following evening at eight by Elder R. B. Howlett. All welcome.

ELDER R. B. HOWLETT.

THE ALASKAN TREATY.

To the Editor of The Planet:

Dear Sir,—That the Alaskan boundary contention has gone against us, as some contend, what I ask, is the use of howling about it? We submitted or put our case in the hands of a tribunal and we are obliged to stand by their decision. The arbitrators or tribunal were to define the interpretation of a treaty, and no sane Canadian or Briton can for a moment, I hope, entertain the idea that Lord Alverstone would give away Canadian territory to appease the wrath of Uncle Sam. Some of our Canadian newspapers are, in my opinion, going too far in their accusations against the British Government, Chamberlain and Lord Alverstone. What in the universe has "Joe" Chamberlain to do with the interpretation of the treaty? And, again, to say that the Chief Justice of England in the face of his oath would act crooked is the rankest ingratitude

THE GIRL.

There exists often a very beautiful companionship between the mother and her daughter. The intimacy is frank, free and sympathetic. But some day the mother feels as if something had chilled this intimacy. The child is silent and sad and seems to shun her mother instead of seeking her.

This change very often occurs when the young girl is crossing the border line of womanhood. She is morbid, nervous, fearful, as she enters upon this new experience.

The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription at such a time will do more than restore the normal balance of mind and body. It will establish the womanly function upon a basis of sound health, as well as improve the appetite, nourish the nerves, and promote the general physical health.

"Two years ago my daughter's health began to fail," writes Mrs. Dan Hall, of Brodhead Green Co., Wis. "Everything that could be thought of was done to help her but it was of no use. When she began to complain she was quite stout; weighed 170—the picture of good health, until about the age of fourteen; then in six months she was so run down her weight was but 120. I felt I could not give her up as she was the only child I had, and I must say, Doctor, that only for your 'Favorite Prescription' my daughter would have been in her grave today. When she had taken one-half bottle the natural function was established and we bought another one, making only two bottles in all, and she completely recovered. Since then she is as well as can be."

and injustice, let the animadversion come from where it may. If the American Republic had consented to leave the settlement of the whole affair to Lord Alverstone, don't you think that the Canadian Government would acquiesce with both hands? Then where would this squealing come in? Aylesworth and Sir Jette have not heeded anything to their credit in refusing to sign the award.

Suppose, for a moment, that the decision were against the Republic, what would we think of the agents of the U. S. if they refused to sign the award? We would say, in sporting parlance, "that they were cowards and sneaks."

Now, we have not lost everything, and what is better, no bloodshed will take place over a few flint rocks in the land of nod. Were our arbitrators or commissioners, Aylesworth and Sir Jette, less biased than their opponents? Is it not better to have a decision than no decision at all? Lord Alverstone, and Lord Alverstone alone, was the only one of the arbitrators who had a free hand. That is to say, his mind was free from prejudice to a greater degree than the other commissioners. We should judge so, at least. Let us not be like children, but like men. It may, to some, seem a misfortune, but it is not a disaster. We can make a disaster out of it if we act surely. Some wiseacres are crying independence, more autonomy for Canada. Without the Empire what could Canada do in a tug of war with the United States? Might as well try to blow down a Chinese wall with a swarm of fire-flies. The territory we never occupied, so it is only a hope unrealized. Is there a man, born or dead, that would like to see a conflict between the Republic and Britain? Not but that Britain could take care of herself, but what pen could describe the horrible fiasco of such a calamity. If our forefathers made a treaty Britain has never been known to violate any treaty.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's speech in the House of Commons relative to the award, is a cracker-jack. Sir Wilfrid—we haven't heard from Sir Richard as yet—gave us a piece of his mind the other day in the House relative to our friends across the pond, referring to them "as a grasping nation." Sir Wilfrid didn't think so in 1892. He regrets that we have not more autonomy, so that we could make our own treaties and run our own affairs. What difference would that make on the Alaskan finding? Sir Wilfrid assisted in framing the agreement under which the dispute was settled. Why kick now? Had Messrs. Aylesworth and Sir Jette signed the award or finding it would have been more manly. It is even reported that they snubbed the King. Sir Wilfrid wants things changed; that is, he wants power to make Canada ada's treaties, especially reciprocity treaties. Sir Wm. Mulock says that Laurier made Canada a nation, but Sir Wilfrid is sorry that we are only a small colony alongside a big, 80-million, grasping neighbor.

All treaties are expected to be laid before Parliament. The Washington treaty which referred the question of compensation for the use of the fisheries by the United States to arbitration could not have become operative without parliamentary sanction. The over-riding of Parliament is a serious matter and, strange to say, Laurier and his wiseacres didn't see that when they agreed to the terms of the treaty. It's a pity that the Hon. Stratton wasn't in Laurier's cabinet. Mr. Stratton & Co. know how to make piano deals.

The theatre-going people of Chatham will find an interesting repast awaiting their attention at the Grand on Saturday evening. The distinguished illusionist and conjurer, the Great Powell, who as a necromancer is more than simply clever. He captures his audience not only by his wonderful tricks of juggling, but by his inimitable manner and pleasing refinement. His ability as a prestidigitator and illusionist borders upon the supernatural, and his performances keep every member of his audience in a state of intense surprise and profound wonderment. Whatever he does is so deftly and naturally accomplished as to seem easy and the more mysterious. Mr. Powell is not one of the common genus of jugglers who create momentary amazement merely, but he may be justly ranked as the worthy successor of such masters of his art as Houdin, Heller or Hermann. His illusions are of such a surprising character and so usually executed that they invariably carry the minds of his audience with him, so inexplicable do they seem. Mr. Powell comes direct from the principal music halls of London, Paris, Berlin, etc., where he met with the most flattering success. While abroad Mr. Powell became the master of many marvellous illusions which have never before been produced before an American audience. "Powell" is in fact very unlike all other magicians who give to the public revamped and rehearsed programs. Being an inventor and a thorough genius enables him to keep well in the lead of them all with new and effective novelties. Feats of prestidigitator differ in illusionary excellence according to the dexterity of the performer—Of Mr. Powell it can truthfully be said—that he is one of the most skilful and adroit of prestidigitators.

Servantless London.

London—what is London? To begin with, London is a conglomerate of 800,000 families, if we average five persons to a family, of whom 698,000 have no servants.

While only 85,000 families enjoy the luxury of a domestic servant 3,371,789 persons—men, women and children—wake every morning in London knowing that in the course of the day they will have to do all their own work with their own hands, while only 476,325, or 11 per cent of the whole, are in a position to employ any of the 205,358 persons of the servant class.

Of these 3,371,789 of the servantless class nearly 500,000 are pigged together in a room, while 375,000 have half a room each; 354,000 belong to the very poor, 900,000 to the poor.

The poor we have always with us to the tune of 30 per cent. The poor and the very poor outnumber all the men, women and children who find themselves on Sunday in church or chapel. There is no overcrowding in the house of God, but the houses of men are inconveniently full.

A Monster Farm.
The Oklahomans claim to have the largest farm in the southwest. It is the 101 ranch in the Ponca reservation, and is so big that it is necessary to plant several varieties of wheat in it, one of which ripens several days later than the other, in order that all of them may be harvested at their prime. On this farm the wheat fields are of 1,000 acres each, the cattle pastures are of 1,000 to 1,500 acres each and pasture 6,000 head annually, the corn rows are one and a half miles long, requiring 500 mules and 300 men to handle the crop, and it takes thirty self binders three weeks to cut the wheat crop and a dozen or more steam thrashers forty days to thrash it. There are 50,000 acres in the ranch.
