P. C. Deschêta ran across two lads on the street playing with air guns. He at once confiscated these dangerous weapons. This morning, the guardian of the lads came over and explained that the guns were just being used by the lads for a drill being prepared for St. Patrick's concert.

The police on condition that the lads should not be allowed to carry them on the street. It does not seem to be generally known that it is against the law to sell or give a revolver or air gun to any child under 16 years of age. Parents are just as liable under this act as are the store-keepers.

John Harvey, son of Silas Harvey, of Charing Cross, died on Friday in the Western States, whether he had gone for his health. Mr. Harvey left for the West last October, and his wife followed him a couple of months ago. Word was received of his death last Saturday. The body will be taken back to Charing Cross. Besides a wife, deceased leaves two children to mourn his loss. He was well known in Charing Cross, and the family will have the sympathy of the entire community.

Elijah Wicks, Murray street, died yesterday, aged 75 years. Deceased came to Chatham about 47 years ago and settled down on a farm in Chatham township. Seven years ago he moved to this city and took up his residence on Murray street, where he has lived ever since. A wife and eight children survive him. The funeral will take place Tuesday morning at 10.30 the Maple Leaf cemetery.

Myrvin Pope, a former employee of The Planet and Banner-News, died this morning after a short illness of a few weeks. He was aged 17 years, 9 months, and 2 days. The funeral will take place from the residence of his grandfather, James Winless, Colborne street, on Wednesday, at 2.30 to Maple Leaf Cemetery. Rev. Robert McCosh will perform the ceremony. Word has been received from deceased's father in Montana that he will not be able to attend.

William J. Davis, who for a number of years, managed a barber shop on Fifth street, died yesterday at his home on Forest street. Deceased leaves a wife and five children to mourn his loss. He was born in Indiana and came to this city 25 years ago. He has been ill for the last two months. The funeral will take place to-morrow at 2.30 to the Maple Leaf Cemetery. Bishop Wilmore will conduct the services.

DEATH VISITS

MANY HOMES

Series of Sad Bereavements at the Hand of the Grim Monarch.

Brief Record of Lives which are at an End—Young and Old Taken to the Unseen.

Miss Anna Louise Vavasour Noel passed quietly away this morning at the residence of her sister Mrs. (Dr.) J. L. Bray, King street, after a long and painful illness, borne with Christian fortitude and great patience. Miss Noel was an active member of Christ church, and was especially interested in the women's Auxiliary, of which she has been vice-president for some years. Her death is particularly sad, owing to the fact that her sister died but a few short weeks ago. Her death, while not entirely unexpected, has come as a shock to the surviving members of the family, who have the sincere sympathy of a large circle of friends.

Three sisters, Mrs. J. L. Bray, Miss J. V. G. Noel, of this city and Mrs. Hainesworth, of Montreal, survive to mourn her loss.
The funeral will be held on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, to the Maple Leaf Cemetery. The funeral will be private.
