

A GRAEFUL LETTER

A Prince Edward Island Lady Speaks for the Benefit of Her Sex.

Had no Appetite, was Pale and Easily Exhausted—Subject to severe Spells of Dizziness, and Other Distressing Symptoms.

Dear Sir,—I see by your paper the names of many who have been benefited by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

I feel that I ought to let my case be known as I am sure that many women might be benefited as I have been.

A dizziness would Overtake me. I had a rearing sound in my head. I took medical treatment but found no relief.

After reading the above letter we sent a reporter to interview Mrs Perry and she repeated what she had already stated in her letter.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People make pure, rich blood, restore shattered nerves and drive out disease.

The following protest, addressed by women of New York to the constitutional convention of that state, expresses briefly and forcibly some of the reasons which lead the great majority of American women to object to having the great responsibilities of the ballot thrust upon them.

First—Because suffrage is to be regarded not as a privilege to be enjoyed, but as a duty to be performed.

Second—Because hitherto the women of this state have enjoyed exemption from this burdensome duty, and no adequate reason has been assigned for depriving them of that immunity.

Third—Because conferring suffrage upon the women who claim it would impose suffrage upon the many women who neither desire it as a privilege nor regard it as their duty.

Fourth—Because the need of America is not an increased quantity, but an improved quality of the vote, and there is no adequate reason to believe that woman's suffrage by doubling the vote will improve its quality.

Fifth—Because the household, not the individual, is the unit of the state, and the vast majority of women are represented by household suffrage.

THE WHITE RIBBON

"For God and Home and Native Land."

President—Mrs R. V. Jones. Vice-Presidents—Mrs Thomas Harris, Mrs R. Reid, Mrs L. Sleep.

Mrs Laura Ormiston Chaney, the well-known English worker for protection of the home, addressed the recent convention at Baltimore in a very acceptable manner.

One night in the earlier days when we used to go lecturing about the country on behalf of suffrage, we had a large meeting and I thought I had made a straight-from-the-shoulder, knock-you-down, bury-you-decent kind of speech.

When I was asked to address a meeting in a place where we took care, all of us women that were on the platform, to begin our speeches by saying, 'Mr President, all our souls were dinned before we came to this meeting.'

"Womanliness is not going to have any material changes except for the better. The freer women are, the greater their opportunities to accomplish the work that is engaged in their thoughts, the more tenderly and beautifully will they be able to fulfill the greatest duty of all, which is the making of the home, which, as we have heard, is the core and heart of the nation, and the better the home is, the better the nation will be, but it is no use making such a home if your making is to be undone by everything that is outside the home. And, therefore, in the name of those peaches which I have peeled, in the name of those socks which I have darned and washed, as occasion required, in the name of the making and mending, spring cleaning and dyeing, and in the name, also, of all the dear love that it takes to make a man happy for nearly nineteen years, and in the name of all that it takes to bring up four children, sweet-mannered, sweet-souled and gentle and loving, I say in the name of all that, I possess the greatest right in the world, more than any man living, to say how the outside world shall affect my children and my home."

Third—Because conferring suffrage upon the women who claim it would impose suffrage upon the many women who neither desire it as a privilege nor regard it as their duty.

Fourth—Because the need of America is not an increased quantity, but an improved quality of the vote, and there is no adequate reason to believe that woman's suffrage by doubling the vote will improve its quality.

Fifth—Because the household, not the individual, is the unit of the state, and the vast majority of women are represented by household suffrage.

Sixth—Because the women not so represented suffer no practical injustice which giving the suffrage will remedy.

Scraps for Odd Moments.

As land is improved by sowing it with various seeds so is the mind by exercising it with different studies.

"So this is the end of our engagement, is it?" "Oh, no, not necessarily. I shall be here again next summer."

"Maud—Did you notice how Algeron's face lights up when he talks? I'm only too glad to see them ma'am."

"Doting Mother—Tell me, Professor, is my son a deep student?" "Professor (dryly)—None deeper, I can assure you, ma'am; he's always at the bottom."

It is rather a thankless job for parents to rear their sons through all the dangers of whirling dervishes and chicken pox, only to see them fastened for life on the football field.

Professor Panton gives a list of a few insects which are our friends: Syrphus fly, trachina fly, tiger beetles, ground beetles, ladybirds, reduvius, soldier bugs, lace winged flies, wasps, cuckoo flies and ichneumon.

Maudy Ann—'Say, Rains, de Way-down furniture store is advertising mahogany ladies rockers for $1.57. You got to see 'em—'de white man mahony. You ain't no mahogany lady y'ouse ebony!'"

If your lung trouble is of scrofulous origin, Ayer's Sarsaparilla will cure you.

"Yes, me broaden'd, dey ain't done us right yet. De equality ob de race is not come. Day gine de white man $5 en de nigger only gins two, en' da nigger's vote count for just as much; en' it ain't square."

One of the least crowded and best paid professions for women is that of the trained cook, who, in a becoming cap and apron, goes out to private houses to prepare a dinner for her employer.
