The mercury officially registered 84 degrees in the shade in Boston on Thursday last. By special permission of the Mayor and Park Commissioner, thousands of suffering citizens lay on the ground in the public parks and squares through the city, trying to get a breath of fresh air and a little rest. It was the eighth successive day of almost unbearable heat. One at least committed suicide, and a woman became crazed and was confined in the city prison for safety, a woman fell from her truck and received a fractured skull and broken collar bone. About midnight the number of prostrations recorded at the hospitals and relief stations about the city had reached thirty. No doubt many more cases were not recorded. Reports of the mercury reaching the 100 mark in various parts of the city were current, while from Concord N. H. the record of 104 degrees was reported, and at Pawtucket R. I. 110 degrees were reported. The fire department was called out early in the night to flush the streets in the crowded moment before bedtime. New York was as bad as Boston, if not worse. Young children by the hundreds were dying from the effects of the dreadful heat.

Rev. John Carroll, Bishop of Helena, Montana, who had been on a brief visit to the Island, left on return for home on Tuesday morning. Bishop Carroll pursued his episcopal duties in the Grand Seminary, Montreal, and Rev. J. J. McDonald P. F. Shubert was his close aide and intimate friend. The friendship formed at the Seminary between the two ecclesiastics continued ever since, and the Bishop, being in Baltimore, strangled a point to satisfy his cherished desire to visit this Province and see once more his friend of Seminary days. He met him at St. Bonaventure on Thursday by Rev. J. J. McDonald, Rev. T. Campbell and Rev. Dr. McMillan, and all arrived here the same evening via Hasting. While in Charlottetown, Bishop Carroll was the guest of his Lordship, Bishop McDonald and Father John J. McDonald, who visited him and his family on Friday and Saturday. Bishop Carroll remained in Charlottetown on Sunday, when he was the guest of the Bishop and the Monsignor. A most beautiful and edifying discourse, Bishop Carroll who is still a young man, was appointed to the St. Bonaventure church, and he is a man of great intellectual gifts and profound scholarship. He is certainly a charming personality. He speaks in glowing terms of the resources and great future possibilities of his state of Montana, and expressed himself as charmed by his acquaintance with the representatives of our Island Province.

Dr. Norman Doherty of the South Kensington Physics Laboratory believes they were a display of the aurora borealis. Following scenes of exceptional beauty and twilight effects remarkable even in England, the northern sky at midnight became light blue, as if the dawn were breaking, and the clouds were touched with pink, in a marked a fashion that police headquarters was rung up by several people who believed a big fire was raging in the north of London.

It was an eloquent, beautiful, heart to heart sermon, in which he spoke in charming fashion of his desire, now fulfilled, of visiting this Island; of the pleasure and edification the visit had afforded him. He spoke of his vast desire to carry on the work of evangelization. He strongly recommended the installation of the voluntary agents in the young minds. He highly praised the good work he saw going on in this Province in the different institutions of learning, and expressed his deep thanks to the Bishop and clergy for their kindness and hospitality. He had been highly edified, he said, by the evidence of piety and devotion he had witnessed.
