We were we king them off as usual on Wednesday, has not Joe the Digger Indian as roller be, when Judge Shackawacksen made us a tail and jumped on our collar. Greatly to our surprise we picked the judge up and me pped him all over the office and tung him our doors. His boot heels, hind buttons, spectacles and tobacco box flew about, and alighted on the forms, and in our excitement we failed to notice The Arizona Ki and in our excitement we failed to notice The big hole in our editorial on the tariff

As Extreme Remedy.

It was time to go, by the steamer's clock, yet she lingered sill at her dingy dock, and the mate blasphemed, and the captain reared, and the rain it steadily poured and poured on the luckless men who still implored that distinate mule to go aboard. With rigid limbs and a stony stare, with ears firm set and its tail in the air, and an aw-he-haw-he lease and level that howelike mule defied the long and loud, that horrible mule defied the crowd; and heedless of hunch and kick and nudge, it stood stock still in the muck and sludge—a mule with an everlasting grudge, that had taken an oath it wouldn't budge.

drew near, and into the unresisting ear of the hapless beast he sang—for shame!—be sang of "The Letter That Never Came."

With a voice like a wheezy clarienet's be warbles the song, "Sweet Violets." Bewildered by the dismal sound, the tortured mule turns half way round, and full in its face the Dr. Dixon then came to the bat. He was dered by the dismal sound, the tortured mule turns half way round, and full in its face the man then sings the crowning wes they call "White Wings." With a trembling step at each fell note, the animal backs into the boat. Tis done. But the mule—ah! well-a-day. Tis its corpse the steamer carries away.—Chicago Tribune.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

A short time ago I was called upon by a committee of physicians and surgeons of Minneapolis, led by Dr. Hunter of that city, with a request that I would umpire a game ofbase ball to be played on the ensuing day between the Allepaths and Homocopaths of Minneapolis for the championship of the northwest, the proceeds to go to the Homocopaths homital northwest, the proceeds to go to the Homoso-pathic hospital.

I toid Dr. Hunter that an all wise provi-dence had not seen fit to endow me with a great deal of baseball wisdom, but that I was passionately fond of the game, recogniz-ing, as I did, that it denoted a wonderful de-gree of progress and a gradual leading up from bean bag and two-old-cat towards the earnestness, the throb and thrill and such things as that of the true athlete. things as that of the true athlete.
Dr. Hunter said I had the right idea of the game, he thought, and to would get Mr. Conlilin, of the Grand Opera house, to do the active part of the umpiring, leaving me mostly to sit under the shade of a large sun mostly to sit under the shade of a large sun umbrella, outside the orbit of hot balls and engaged in thought. He said that a great many people had noticed in me the faculty of being able to assume a thinkful air while really engaged in something else. He said people likel that in anybody, and especially in an unpire.

At 2:33 the rival clubs arrived in separate ambulances and chose up for "ins." The Allopaths got the bat.

Each club had a separate pail out of which they drank when in need of anything in that line. The Homeopaths took theirs at a third dilation every twenty minutes out of a "graduate," and the Allopaths drank out of a large tin dipper until relieved.

I presume the different players would not care to have me use their names here and so I will substitute fictitious names.

The Allopaths wore a uniform consisting of different hinds of clothes, but very becoming different kinds of clothes, but very becoming indeed. A few baseball uniforms scattered through the two clubs gave life and piquancy to the game and made it more diffi-cult for the umpire to tell which side was in. Dr. Gray wore drab small clothes, a light high hat with wide, black band and long, ashes of reses mohair duster, held in place by means of a string.

Dr. Windymeier wore a blue flannel sailor's suit, with inflamed revers of same. Dr. Pendergast wore a low neck and short sleeve knit lingeric, with checkered panta-loons and a wad of tule at the threat. He wore a tarpaulin hat and no ornaments.

Dr. Eleeker wore a pair of all wool trousers, with wedge of shrimp pink satin set in the back between his suspender buttons; white, open back shirt, pin stripe suspenders and Alpino hat.
Dr. Early wore a street costume, with fireman's hat and varioloid necktie. man's hat and variotod neestle.

Dr. Pangborn wore a Prince Albert coat, knickerbockers and fore and aft steamer hat of small blue and white plaid, with squirrel skin ear tabs tiel reguishly over the top. He were no ornaments at the beginning of the game, but at the third inning appeared in a stellated, comminuted contusion just east of behind prison bars.

While we feel tickled all over and can hardly sleep nights, we can't accept the office nor leave Arizona. Just pass the place along to some other man and leave us to do our work.—Detroit Free Press.

The appearance on the beautiful green ball ground, but generally perished before he reached second. In batting Dr. Pemberthy almost always struck at the ball after the almost always struck at the ball after the catcher had it in his pocket, and he always erred in diagnosing the general direction of the ball, and his treatment of it was vision-the bail, and his treatment of it was visionary and theoretical in the extreme. I had to reprimand him three times for these things publicly.

The game was called at 3 o'clock, and with two large shingles to keep tally on, I told the boys to sail in.

Dr. Mills, of the Allopaths, went first to both the west dressed simply in a suit of blue.

bct. He was dressed simply in a suit of blue finnel, with richly beaded moccasins and high crowned stiff black shiny straw hat. He spat on both hands, then caught up a quart "Let me take that mule," said a passer by; of sand, which he applied to the handle of the bat, breathed in all the air between himself and the center fielder, asked for an abdominal bearned some things not taught in the schools." The crowd made way and tho man drew near, and into the unresisting ear of Mr. Conklint og o on with the game. He weighed two or three pounds. He asked for a clavicle ball, which he missed by a right smart. The pitcher prescribed another cap-sule for him, which he struck at just a few moments before it got to him, and with such force as to whir! him around on the home plate with great violence. As soon as he had recovered from his gliddness and vertigo I recovered time again, and this time he swatted the ball so high that it was a glorious chance for the center fielder to get under it, as it was a long time in the air and came down as straight as a shot, but the center fielder was Tribune.

Space at this time will not permit an ex-tended description of the game as played, but a hasty recapitulation shows that the Allopaths are more in favor of outward application, and that they are further advanced perhaps, in the various methods of probing for the hall, while the Homocopaths are less liable to overplay themselves.—Bill Nye in New York World.

CAN'T SLEEP!

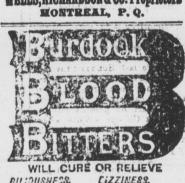

Sleeplesmess and fearful dreams are the earliest and surest signs of brain exhaustion. In healthy sleep brain force is being stored up to meet the next day's demands. But nowadays the nervous system has been so overtasked that it is unable to control the mind, and at night the worries, troubles, and work are as present as during the day. Hence the brain has not time to recuperate its energies. The proper medical remedies are sedatives, nerve tonics, laxatives, and regulators of the general functions.
