The Talent for Adventure.

By RUTH CAMERON.

"She has the talent for adventure," someone said to me the other day in describing a woman. I should like to meet her, shouldn't you?

It is a great talent, that talent for adventure. It may not be so readily convertible into money as some other talents, but what do we most want money for except to buy happiness, and this talent for adventure can be coined directly into happiness without being passed through the gross medium of money.

Of course you know what I mean by the talent for adventure—the gift of finding adventures not only in the out-of-the-way situation, not only in travel or in danger, but in everyday life.

Nothing Happened to Him While She Was Away.

Nathaniel Hawthorne once wrote to his wife:

"Nothing at all has happened to me since I left you. It puzzles me to conceive how you meet with so many more events than I. You will have a volume to tell me when we meet, and you will pour your beloved voice into my ears in a long stream; at length you will pause and say, 'But what has your life been?' and then will I look back upon what I call my life for three or four days past, and behold, a blank!"

It is evident from this and the rest of the letter that Hawthorne not only loved his wife dearly, but was very dependent upon her. He had a great and wonderful talent, but he didn't have the talent for adventure which she so evidently possessed, and he needed her to give flavor to his life.

They Give Flavor to Our Lives.

That is just what they do, the people with the talent for adventure; they give flavor not only to their own lives, but to the lives of all with whom they are associated.

I once spent a week end in a quiet little country town with a woman so talented. We were driven down to our camp by the hired man of one of the neighbors. The lady of the talent drew him out to talk to us, and behold, he proved to be one of the most interesting characters I had ever met—a man who had lived and travelled and dreamed and could tell about it all on the rare occasions when he chose to (we learned afterwards that his confidences to us were almost unprecedented).

The next day the lady of the talent warmly admired a beautiful dog we met on the road and that led to our being shown over his kennels by the master of some of the finest kennels in the country.

Besides these, we had two or three more adventures—all in a day and a half.

Even Poverty Can Be Made An Adventure.

Of course these things happened on an outing, but even in one's daily routine there are adventures for those who have the talent and the will to find them.

"It isn't sordid, trying to see what a quarter can be made to do," says one of Robert Herrick's characters. "It's exciting."

And again, he writes of this same character: "To her, poverty had not been limiting or grinding, but an exhilarating fight that taxed her resources of mind and body."

Of course that's in a book, but I know that there really are people so gifted that they can wrest adventure even from poverty.

It is a beautiful gift, the talent for adventure. Let no one who possesses it ever think himself poor.

Good Words From Ottawa.

The report just published by the Inland Revenue Department, Ottawa, states that Dearborn's "Perfect" Baking Powder contained 13.7 per cent. of carbonic acid gas, which is a higher percentage than claimed for it. The report also states that "this is a good powder," pure and unadulterated. Don't pay fancy prices for baking powder when you can get the "Perfect" for 40c. per lb. Two teaspoons full will do the same work as three of other brands, and do it better. nov.26.21.

Hr. Grace Notes.

Two loads of coal arrived to McEneaney Brothers, yesterday, and a great rush has since been on for the winter supply. Other cargoes are expected shortly.

Two loads of lumber arrived to the Horwood Lumber Co., yesterday. This Company is doing a good trade. Mr. St. George, the local manager, by his courteous manner is the right man to succeed in business.

The harbor ferry Muriel crossed the harbor at 7 o'clock last evening with people who were anxious to patronize the Sale of Work. The boat returned again at 10.30 p.m. Mr. Sheppard, the boat master, deserves the thanks of the people for his kindness in running the boat after hours for the benefit of the people, and that free of cost.

Mr. Frank Maher, Station Agent at Carbonear, is now taking his vacation. He was up to see his friends in this town yesterday. Mr. Maher is a most obliging and courteous official, and is very popular.

As we write another schooner is dropping anchor in the harbor with a coal cargo to Messrs. McEneaney. We are glad to see these men mean business in the coal line. Success to them. The Pleasure II opens for the season on Friday night. Five pictures will be shown.

Llewellyn Club.

A largely attended meeting of the men of St. Thomas's Parish was held at Canon Wood Hall, last night, to consider the formation of a Parish Club.

The Rector, Rev. Dr. Jones, occupied the chair, and briefly outlined the plans of the proposed Club which will work in conjunction with the Bible Class; and which will afford opportunities for an interchange of social gatherings once a month.

The Honorary President of the Club will be the Lord Bishop who has graciously consented to its being called the Llewellyn Club. At last night's meeting committees were appointed for the drafting of a constitution, the nomination of officers and the enrolling of the members of the congregation. The reports of those committees will be presented at a general meeting to be held on Dec. 16th, when the Club will be formally launched. At the first regular meeting of the Club which will take place in January next, His Excellency the Governor will address the members.

A Tribute to Mrs. W. C. Job.

Yesterday afternoon a pleasing little ceremony took place in the Social Room of the Girl's Department of the King George the Fifth Seamen's Institute. It is well known the deep interest Mrs. Job, the first President of the Ladies' Auxiliary, took in the well-fare and advancement of the Department, bringing to bear that kindly business-like way she always exhibits in everything she undertakes. With the support of a representative Committee she took the Department in hand at its start two years ago, and during that time established it on a firm and self-supporting basis. The accommodation was done at the time H.R.H. Duke of Connaught, K.G., was here. It will be remembered the Duke graciously declared the extension of the position of President. To show appreciation of Mrs. Job's goodness in all her endeavour and to permanently mark the appreciation felt, an enlarged portrait of her, by Holloway, which is an excellent likeness, was unveiled by Lady Davidson at the invitation of Mrs. W. G. Gosling, the new President, in the presence of the Committee, a number of ladies of the city, and the new Matron, Mrs. Davidson. Afternoon tea was served in the Social Room which was prettily decorated with flowers. Afterwards the opportunity was taken by many of the ladies present to go over the department, and all were loud in their praise of the comfortable home, with every modern convenience, which is provided for the girls. The beautiful prospect was greatly admired. Kind wishes for every success were expressed to Mrs. Davidson.

IN THE TRENCHES.—Lieut. Max Johnson, son of Mr. Justice Johnson, is now in the trenches near Givenchy. Lieut. John Clift, son of Mr. J. A. Clift, K.C., is in the same company. Both are ex-pupils of Bishop Field College, and are fighting side by side with the 4th Cameron Highlanders to which regiment they belong.

YOUR BOYS AND GIRLS.

When the weather is very cold, when the snow is melting, or when there is a heavy storm in progress or a high wind blowing quantities of dust about, it will be best to give the baby his airing indoors or on a protected porch. Dress him as for going out, open all the windows wide, and let him remain in the fresh air for some time.

Very young or delicate babies require much heat and must be very warmly covered to protect them against being chilled, and a baby under three months of age should not be taken out in severe weather, although plenty of fresh air is essential to all babies. Do not allow the baby to lie staring up into the sky even when the sun is not shining.
