

Wall Paper Department!

Announcing a Shipment of Plain Wall Papers.

Customers who have been waiting for Plain Wall Papers can now be supplied as follows:-

PLAIN INGRAIN PAPERS—Shades, Blue and Green, 30 inches wide, at our usual price, 50c. per piece, Friezes to match.

PLAIN OATMEAL PAPERS—Shades, Blue, Buff, Green and Rose, 30 inches wide, at our usual price, $1.00 per piece, Frieze to match.

Also, our usual assortment of Fancy Flowered and Striped Wall Papers with Frieze and Two Band Borders to match.

We Make Wall Papers a Specialty!

CONSULT US BEFORE YOU PURCHASE ELSEWHERE.

Marshall Bros

JUST TALK.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

What is the use, what is the sense of talking about things you know nothing about? The other night I heard a man criticizing a certain well known author. He called him cheap and sensational, he said he didn't think he could paint a real man and that his words were namby-pamby. He was amusing and rather witty in the violence of his dislike. And then someone asked him if he had read the author's latest book.

He had not. The one before that? No. Well, what had he read? And then he named two of the author's first books.

Even as I—and you! And on the basis of that and of a criticism he had once read (also written some years ago) he presumed to judge the writer.

Isn't that absurd? And yet isn't it usual? I have been in the habit of saying that I didn't care much for a certain humorist who is considered by the majority among America's best. By virtue of the illustrations I happened to get interested in an article written by him in one of the monthly magazines and found myself laughing aloud at the supreme tribute of the reader to the author. And then in honesty I asked myself what I had based my prejudice upon. And though I had read articles by him they were so far in the past that I couldn't name them to myself or even remember just what they were about.

Religion is a favorite subject for the Ignorant Talker.

Religion is a favorite subject for the talker who does not like to bother with facts as bases for his prejudices. I heard a man making himself most amusing by drilling holes in the creed of a modern religion that has hundreds of thousands of converts in this country. When he had finished and left the room I asked another man if he did not think his arguments had been very clever and very convincing.

What is the use, what is the sense of talking about things you know nothing about? The other night I heard a man criticizing a certain well known author. He called him cheap and sensational, he said he didn't think he could paint a real man and that his words were namby-pamby. He was amusing and rather witty in the violence of his dislike. And then someone asked him if he had read the author's latest book.

He had not. The one before that? No. Well, what had he read? And then he named two of the author's first books.

Even as I—and you! And on the basis of that and of a criticism he had once read (also written some years ago) he presumed to judge the writer.

Isn't that absurd? And yet isn't it usual? I have been in the habit of saying that I didn't care much for a certain humorist who is considered by the majority among America's best. By virtue of the illustrations I happened to get interested in an article written by him in one of the monthly magazines and found myself laughing aloud at the supreme tribute of the reader to the author. And then in honesty I asked myself what I had based my prejudice upon. And though I had read articles by him they were so far in the past that I couldn't name them to myself or even remember just what they were about.

Religion is a favorite subject for the Ignorant Talker.

Religion is a favorite subject for the talker who does not like to bother with facts as bases for his prejudices. I heard a man making himself most amusing by drilling holes in the creed of a modern religion that has hundreds of thousands of converts in this country. When he had finished and left the room I asked another man if he did not think his arguments had been very clever and very convincing.

What is the use, what is the sense of talking about things you know nothing about? The other night I heard a man criticizing a certain well known author. He called him cheap and sensational, he said he didn't think he could paint a real man and that his words were namby-pamby. He was amusing and rather witty in the violence of his dislike. And then someone asked him if he had read the author's latest book.

He had not. The one before that? No. Well, what had he read? And then he named two of the author's first books.

Even as I—and you! And on the basis of that and of a criticism he had once read (also written some years ago) he presumed to judge the writer.

Isn't that absurd? And yet isn't it usual? I have been in the habit of saying that I didn't care much for a certain humorist who is considered by the majority among America's best. By virtue of the illustrations I happened to get interested in an article written by him in one of the monthly magazines and found myself laughing aloud at the supreme tribute of the reader to the author. And then in honesty I asked myself what I had based my prejudice upon. And though I had read articles by him they were so far in the past that I couldn't name them to myself or even remember just what they were about.

Religion is a favorite subject for the Ignorant Talker.

Religion is a favorite subject for the talker who does not like to bother with facts as bases for his prejudices. I heard a man making himself most amusing by drilling holes in the creed of a modern religion that has hundreds of thousands of converts in this country. When he had finished and left the room I asked another man if he did not think his arguments had been very clever and very convincing.

What is the use, what is the sense of talking about things you know nothing about? The other night I heard a man criticizing a certain well known author. He called him cheap and sensational, he said he didn't think he could paint a real man and that his words were namby-pamby. He was amusing and rather witty in the violence of his dislike. And then someone asked him if he had read the author's latest book.

He had not. The one before that? No. Well, what had he read? And then he named two of the author's first books.

Table Butter!

5 only 60 lb. Boxes 1 lb. Slabs.

5 only 30 lb. Tubs.

10 only 60 lb. Tubs.

Soper & Moore

Just Folks

Edgar Guest

THE BURDEN BEARER.

There are days that end in grieving, days that often end in prayer.

When the little faithful worries seem to drive the light away.

But I leave them all behind me when I reach the little street.

Where the children run to meet me with their happy flying feet.

And I wave farewell to trouble and I toss my cares aside.

When I reach the little dwelling where the doors are open wide.

Oh, I let no trouble follow o'er the threshold of the place.

That is lighted by the sunshine of a youngster's smiling face.

And I tell no dismal stories to the gentle mother fair.

Who has all the hurts and bruises of the little ones to bear.

I won't carry home the sorrows of a day that's gone astray.

And make old folk out of children that are hungering for play.

I won't still their merry laughter with my whimpering tale of woe;

They'll have time enough to suffer when the years of childhood go.

I won't rob their youth of sunshine with my clouds of fearful care,

And bid them shoulder burdens that are mine alone to bear.

Time shall bring life's trials to them with the passing of the years,

But I'll never mar their playtime with a flood of needless tears.

With the Rod.

There is very good salmon fishing at the lower pools in Harry's River, but the fish have not yet reached the upper pools in any large quantities.

Faunce landed a 34-pounder from Harry's Brook on Sunday week, after working with it for an hour and a half.

Silver and Jones, of Halifax, landed 35 salmon from the pools of lower Harry's, the heaviest tipped the scales at 25 lbs.

Phelps up to Monday had landed about 60 salmon from Robinson's, Fischel and Middle Baracholtz for three weeks' fishing.

The Upper Humber continues very low, while the water in the Lower Humber continues high but is gradually dropping, and good fishing is expected there in a week or two.

By Rail to-day:

8 Cases

FRESH COUNTRY EGGS.

T. J. EDENS,

Duckworth St. and Rawlin's Cross.

E. Bowring, M. T. and H. Winter, and R. Lilly in three days' fishing landed 15 salmon from the pools of Grand River. They camped at South Branch—Western Star.

Milady's Boudoir.

HOUSEWORK AS A BEAUTIFIER.

Among these many duties of the housewife who does her own work, none of these equal sweeping as an exercise and a general vitalizer of the whole body. To gain the most benefit from this exercise, the shoulders should be well thrown back and the hands should grasp the broom firmly.

With each stroke the whole body should sway, which movement will add grace to the figure. In fact, in performing housework, one may so direct their efforts that the labor becomes a body builder—and, besides, one has the satisfaction of knowing that the home is spick and span.

It is quite true that the tight lacing of the waist is responsible for many cases of indigestion. The necessity for tight lacing is an ill proportioned body, usually due to neglect or over-indulgence. The stomach rebels at being confined when performing the labors and announces its displeasure by not taking proper care of the food consumed, which results in discomfort and eventually indigestion.

Housework may here be utilized to such a degree that tight lacing will be unnecessary. For instance how often each day does the housewife find it necessary to pick up articles from the floor? If instead of lowering the body, as most women do, by squatting, she would lean forward from the waist and at the same time keep the knees from bending, the movement would act directly on the muscles of the waist and hips.

The value of housework as a form beautifier and a preserver of health should not be underestimated.

HOUSEWORK AS A BEAUTIFIER.

Among these many duties of the housewife who does her own work, none of these equal sweeping as an exercise and a general vitalizer of the whole body. To gain the most benefit from this exercise, the shoulders should be well thrown back and the hands should grasp the broom firmly.

With each stroke the whole body should sway, which movement will add grace to the figure. In fact, in performing housework, one may so direct their efforts that the labor becomes a body builder—and, besides, one has the satisfaction of knowing that the home is spick and span.

It is quite true that the tight lacing of the waist is responsible for many cases of indigestion. The necessity for tight lacing is an ill proportioned body, usually due to neglect or over-indulgence. The stomach rebels at being confined when performing the labors and announces its displeasure by not taking proper care of the food consumed, which results in discomfort and eventually indigestion.

Housework may here be utilized to such a degree that tight lacing will be unnecessary. For instance how often each day does the housewife find it necessary to pick up articles from the floor? If instead of lowering the body, as most women do, by squatting, she would lean forward from the waist and at the same time keep the knees from bending, the movement would act directly on the muscles of the waist and hips.

The value of housework as a form beautifier and a preserver of health should not be underestimated.

HOUSEWORK AS A BEAUTIFIER.

Among these many duties of the housewife who does her own work, none of these equal sweeping as an exercise and a general vitalizer of the whole body. To gain the most benefit from this exercise, the shoulders should be well thrown back and the hands should grasp the broom firmly.

With each stroke the whole body should sway, which movement will add grace to the figure. In fact, in performing housework, one may so direct their efforts that the labor becomes a body builder—and, besides, one has the satisfaction of knowing that the home is spick and span.

It is quite true that the tight lacing of the waist is responsible for many cases of indigestion. The necessity for tight lacing is an ill proportioned body, usually due to neglect or over-indulgence. The stomach rebels at being confined when performing the labors and announces its displeasure by not taking proper care of the food consumed, which results in discomfort and eventually indigestion.

Housework may here be utilized to such a degree that tight lacing will be unnecessary. For instance how often each day does the housewife find it necessary to pick up articles from the floor? If instead of lowering the body, as most women do, by squatting, she would lean forward from the waist and at the same time keep the knees from bending, the movement would act directly on the muscles of the waist and hips.

The value of housework as a form beautifier and a preserver of health should not be underestimated.

HOUSEWORK AS A BEAUTIFIER.

Among these many duties of the housewife who does her own work, none of these equal sweeping as an exercise and a general vitalizer of the whole body. To gain the most benefit from this exercise, the shoulders should be well thrown back and the hands should grasp the broom firmly.

With each stroke the whole body should sway, which movement will add grace to the figure. In fact, in performing housework, one may so direct their efforts that the labor becomes a body builder—and, besides, one has the satisfaction of knowing that the home is spick and span.

It is quite true that the tight lacing of the waist is responsible for many cases of indigestion. The necessity for tight lacing is an ill proportioned body, usually due to neglect or over-indulgence. The stomach rebels at being confined when performing the labors and announces its displeasure by not taking proper care of the food consumed, which results in discomfort and eventually indigestion.

Housework may here be utilized to such a degree that tight lacing will be unnecessary. For instance how often each day does the housewife find it necessary to pick up articles from the floor? If instead of lowering the body, as most women do, by squatting, she would lean forward from the waist and at the same time keep the knees from bending, the movement would act directly on the muscles of the waist and hips.

KULTUR.

You ask me what this "kultur" means, that's boomed by Prussian kings and queens? Well, slaying babes with submarines, that's kultur. I make a solemn pledge to-day, and later think it may not pay, whereat I throw the pledge away—that's kultur. I see the Red Cross banner fly above a shed where sick men lie; I bomb the shed, and they all die; that's kultur. I line myself with brutes and beasts, I give the vultures daily feasts, I burn down churches, hang the priests—that's kultur. At every hour to God I cry, I'm always pointing to the sky; in every act God I defy—that's kultur. I send my neighbour's sons to fight against the sacred cause of right; but mine are safe at home each night—that's kultur. I claim that butchery is wise, that tears are good for human eyes; I swear to all ungodly lies—that's kultur. Oh, think of all that's wrong and foul, of sins that travel cheek by jowl, of kings who strut while subjects howl—that's kultur. And think of all the homes destroyed, the fair fields now an aching void, of those by treachery decoral—that's kultur. There is an evil fiend abroad that knows no conscience, truth or God; we go to strike it to the soil: it's kultur.

KULTUR.

You ask me what this "kultur" means, that's boomed by Prussian kings and queens? Well, slaying babes with submarines, that's kultur. I make a solemn pledge to-day, and later think it may not pay, whereat I throw the pledge away—that's kultur. I see the Red Cross banner fly above a shed where sick men lie; I bomb the shed, and they all die; that's kultur. I line myself with brutes and beasts, I give the vultures daily feasts, I burn down churches, hang the priests—that's kultur. At every hour to God I cry, I'm always pointing to the sky; in every act God I defy—that's kultur. I send my neighbour's sons to fight against the sacred cause of right; but mine are safe at home each night—that's kultur. I claim that butchery is wise, that tears are good for human eyes; I swear to all ungodly lies—that's kultur. Oh, think of all that's wrong and foul, of sins that travel cheek by jowl, of kings who strut while subjects howl—that's kultur. And think of all the homes destroyed, the fair fields now an aching void, of those by treachery decoral—that's kultur. There is an evil fiend abroad that knows no conscience, truth or God; we go to strike it to the soil: it's kultur.

KULTUR.

You ask me what this "kultur" means, that's boomed by Prussian kings and queens? Well, slaying babes with submarines, that's kultur. I make a solemn pledge to-day, and later think it may not pay, whereat I throw the pledge away—that's kultur. I see the Red Cross banner fly above a shed where sick men lie; I bomb the shed, and they all die; that's kultur. I line myself with brutes and beasts, I give the vultures daily feasts, I burn down churches, hang the priests—that's kultur. At every hour to God I cry, I'm always pointing to the sky; in every act God I defy—that's kultur. I send my neighbour's sons to fight against the sacred cause of right; but mine are safe at home each night—that's kultur. I claim that butchery is wise, that tears are good for human eyes; I swear to all ungodly lies—that's kultur. Oh, think of all that's wrong and foul, of sins that travel cheek by jowl, of kings who strut while subjects howl—that's kultur. And think of all the homes destroyed, the fair fields now an aching void, of those by treachery decoral—that's kultur. There is an evil fiend abroad that knows no conscience, truth or God; we go to strike it to the soil: it's kultur.

KULTUR.

You ask me what this "kultur" means, that's boomed by Prussian kings and queens? Well, slaying babes with submarines, that's kultur. I make a solemn pledge to-day, and later think it may not pay, whereat I throw the pledge away—that's kultur. I see the Red Cross banner fly above a shed where sick men lie; I bomb the shed, and they all die; that's kultur. I line myself with brutes and beasts, I give the vultures daily feasts, I burn down churches, hang the priests—that's kultur. At every hour to God I cry, I'm always pointing to the sky; in every act God I defy—that's kultur. I send my neighbour's sons to fight against the sacred cause of right; but mine are safe at home each night—that's kultur. I claim that butchery is wise, that tears are good for human eyes; I swear to all ungodly lies—that's kultur. Oh, think of all that's wrong and foul, of sins that travel cheek by jowl, of kings who strut while subjects howl—that's kultur. And think of all the homes destroyed, the fair fields now an aching void, of those by treachery decoral—that's kultur. There is an evil fiend abroad that knows no conscience, truth or God; we go to strike it to the soil: it's kultur.

KULTUR.

You ask me what this "kultur" means, that's boomed by Prussian kings and queens? Well, slaying babes with submarines, that's kultur. I make a solemn pledge to-day, and later think it may not pay, whereat I throw the pledge away—that's kultur. I see the Red Cross banner fly above a shed where sick men lie; I bomb the shed, and they all die; that's kultur. I line myself with brutes and beasts, I give the vultures daily feasts, I burn down churches, hang the priests—that's kultur. At every hour to God I cry, I'm always pointing to the sky; in every act God I defy—that's kultur. I send my neighbour's sons to fight against the sacred cause of right; but mine are safe at home each night—that's kultur. I claim that butchery is wise, that tears are good for human eyes; I swear to all ungodly lies—that's kultur. Oh, think of all that's wrong and foul, of sins that travel cheek by jowl, of kings who strut while subjects howl—that's kultur. And think of all the homes destroyed, the fair fields now an aching void, of those by treachery decoral—that's kultur. There is an evil fiend abroad that knows no conscience, truth or God; we go to strike it to the soil: it's kultur.

KULTUR.

You ask me what this "kultur" means, that's boomed by Prussian kings and queens? Well, slaying babes with submarines, that's kultur. I make a solemn pledge to-day, and later think it may not pay, whereat I throw the pledge away—that's kultur. I see the Red Cross banner fly above a shed where sick men lie; I bomb the shed, and they all die; that's kultur. I line myself with brutes and beasts, I give the vultures daily feasts, I burn down churches, hang the priests—that's kultur. At every hour to God I cry, I'm always pointing to the sky; in every act God I defy—that's kultur. I send my neighbour's sons to fight against the sacred cause of right; but mine are safe at home each night—that's kultur. I claim that butchery is wise, that tears are good for human eyes; I swear to all ungodly lies—that's kultur. Oh, think of all that's wrong and foul, of sins that travel cheek by jowl, of kings who strut while subjects howl—that's kultur. And think of all the homes destroyed, the fair fields now an aching void, of those by treachery decoral—that's kultur. There is an evil fiend abroad that knows no conscience, truth or God; we go to strike it to the soil: it's kultur.

KULTUR.

You ask me what this "kultur" means, that's boomed by Prussian kings and queens? Well, slaying babes with submarines, that's kultur. I make a solemn pledge to-day, and later think it may not pay, whereat I throw the pledge away—that's kultur. I see the Red Cross banner fly above a shed where sick men lie; I bomb the shed, and they all die; that's kultur. I line myself with brutes and beasts, I give the vultures daily feasts, I burn down churches, hang the priests—that's kultur. At every hour to God I cry, I'm always pointing to the sky; in every act God I defy—that's kultur. I send my neighbour's sons to fight against the sacred cause of right; but mine are safe at home each night—that's kultur. I claim that butchery is wise, that tears are good for human eyes; I swear to all ungodly lies—that's kultur. Oh, think of all that's wrong and foul, of sins that travel cheek by jowl, of kings who strut while subjects howl—that's kultur. And think of all the homes destroyed, the fair fields now an aching void, of those by treachery decoral—that's kultur. There is an evil fiend abroad that knows no conscience, truth or God; we go to strike it to the soil: it's kultur.

KULTUR.

You ask me what this "kultur" means, that's boomed by Prussian kings and queens? Well, slaying babes with submarines, that's kultur. I make a solemn pledge to-day, and later think it may not pay, whereat I throw the pledge away—that's kultur. I see the Red Cross banner fly above a shed where sick men lie; I bomb the shed, and they all die; that's kultur. I line myself with brutes and beasts, I give the vultures daily feasts, I burn down churches, hang the priests—that's kultur. At every hour to God I cry, I'm always pointing to the sky; in every act God I defy—that's kultur. I send my neighbour's sons to fight against the sacred cause of right; but mine are safe at home each night—that's kultur. I claim that butchery is wise, that tears are good for human eyes; I swear to all ungodly lies—that's kultur. Oh, think of all that's wrong and foul, of sins that travel cheek by jowl, of kings who strut while subjects howl—that's kultur. And think of all the homes destroyed, the fair fields now an aching void, of those by treachery decoral—that's kultur. There is an evil fiend abroad that knows no conscience, truth or God; we go to strike it to the soil: it's kultur.

KULTUR.

You ask me what this "kultur" means, that's boomed by Prussian kings and queens? Well, slaying babes with submarines, that's kultur. I make a solemn pledge to-day, and later think it may not pay, whereat I throw the pledge away—that's kultur. I see the Red Cross banner fly above a shed where sick men lie; I bomb the shed, and they all die; that's kultur. I line myself with brutes and beasts, I give the vultures daily feasts, I burn down churches, hang the priests—that's kultur. At every hour to God I cry, I'm always pointing to the sky; in every act God I defy—that's kultur. I send my neighbour's sons to fight against the sacred cause of right; but mine are safe at home each night—that's kultur. I claim that butchery is wise, that tears are good for human eyes; I swear to all ungodly lies—that's kultur. Oh, think of all that's wrong and foul, of sins that travel cheek by jowl, of kings who strut while subjects howl—that's kultur. And think of all the homes destroyed, the fair fields now an aching void, of those by treachery decoral—that's kultur. There is an evil fiend abroad that knows no conscience, truth or God; we go to strike it to the soil: it's kultur.

KULTUR.

You ask me what this "kultur" means, that's boomed by Prussian kings and queens? Well, slaying babes with submarines, that's kultur. I make a solemn pledge to-day, and later think it may not pay, whereat I throw the pledge away—that's kultur. I see the Red Cross banner fly above a shed where sick men lie; I bomb the shed, and they all die; that's kultur. I line myself with brutes and beasts, I give the vultures daily feasts, I burn down churches, hang the priests—that's kultur. At every hour to God I cry, I'm always pointing to the sky; in every act God I defy—that's kultur. I send my neighbour's sons to fight against the sacred cause of right; but mine are safe at home each night—that's kultur. I claim that butchery is wise, that tears are good for human eyes; I swear to all ungodly lies—that's kultur. Oh, think of all that's wrong and foul, of sins that travel cheek by jowl, of kings who strut while subjects howl—that's kultur. And think of all the homes destroyed, the fair fields now an aching void, of those by treachery decoral—that's kultur. There is an evil fiend abroad that knows no conscience, truth or God; we go to strike it to the soil: it's kultur.

KULTUR.

You ask me what this "kultur" means, that's boomed by Prussian kings and queens? Well, slaying babes with submarines, that's kultur. I make a solemn pledge to-day, and later think it may not pay, whereat I throw the pledge away—that's kultur. I see the Red Cross banner fly above a shed where sick men lie; I bomb the shed, and they all die; that's kultur. I line myself with brutes and beasts, I give the vultures daily feasts, I burn down churches, hang the priests—that's kultur. At every hour to God I cry, I'm always pointing to the sky; in every act God I defy—that's kultur. I send my neighbour's sons to fight against the sacred cause of right; but mine are safe at home each night—that's kultur. I claim that butchery is wise, that tears are good for human eyes; I swear to all ungodly lies—that's kultur. Oh, think of all that's wrong and foul, of sins that travel cheek by jowl, of kings who strut while subjects howl—that's kultur. And think of all the homes destroyed, the fair fields now an aching void, of those by treachery decoral—that's kultur. There is an evil fiend abroad that knows no conscience, truth or God; we go to strike it to the soil: it's kultur.

KULTUR.

You ask me what this "kultur" means, that's boomed by Prussian kings and queens? Well, slaying babes with submarines, that's kultur. I make a solemn pledge to-day, and later think it may not pay, whereat I throw the pledge away—that's kultur. I see the Red Cross banner fly above a shed where sick men lie; I bomb the shed, and they all die; that's kultur. I line myself with brutes and beasts, I give the vultures daily feasts, I burn down churches, hang the priests—that's kultur. At every hour to God I cry, I'm always pointing to the sky; in every act God I defy—that's kultur. I send my neighbour's sons to fight against the sacred cause of right; but mine are safe at home each night—that's kultur. I claim that butchery is wise, that tears are good for human eyes; I swear to all ungodly lies—that's kultur. Oh, think of all that's wrong and foul, of sins that travel cheek by jowl, of kings who strut while subjects howl—that's kultur. And think of all the homes destroyed, the fair fields now an aching void, of those by treachery decoral—that's kultur. There is an evil fiend abroad that knows no conscience, truth or God; we go to strike it to the soil: it's kultur.

Parlor Suites and Odd Pieces!

We have in stock some extremely fine Parlor Suites in Mahogany (3 and 5 pieces), beautifully upholstered in Tapestries, Brocades and Silks of elegant designs and beautiful colorings. These are Genuine Mahogany, and are being offered at very moderate prices.

Also a large assortment of "Odd" Parlor Pieces, "Odd" Chairs, "Odd" Tables and lots of pretty "Odd" pieces, any one of which would be a nice addition to the Parlor. Come in and inspect them, you're sure to select from them.

U. S. Picture & Portrait Co.
St. John's.

THE PIANO PAR EXCELLANCE.

Emerson Piano Players,

Milton Piano Players,

Emerson Pianos.

Milton Pianos.

Terms and price the best. Second-hand instruments taken in part payment.

CHARLES HUTTON,

The Reliable Piano & Organ Store.

SLATTERY'S

Wholesale Dry Goods

Are now showing the following goods:-

American Millinery Hats, Boys' Cotton Suits, Ladies' White Skirts, Ladies' Hosiery, Misses' & Children's Hosiery, White Curtain Scrims, White Dress Crepe, 38 ins. wide; Colored Dress Goods; and a splendid assortment of Smallwares. Wholesale only.

SLATTERY BLDG., Duckworth & George Sts.

Branch Warehouses: Montreal, etc.

Advertise in the "Telegram."

ST. MARGARET'S COLLEGE CANADA
A RESIDENTIAL AND DAY SCHOOL FOR GIRLS
FULL ACADEMIC COURSE FROM PREPARATORY TO UNIVERSITY MATRICULATION.
FULL COMMERCIAL COURSE
MUSIC—ART—HOUSEHOLD
SCIENCE—PHYSICAL EDUCATION—GAMES—SWIMMING
Miss GEORGE DICKSON, President
Miss ISOBEL G. B