Brightening Up.

A more pronounced feeling of optimism is observable these days, and things generally are apparently beginning to brighten up. Trade does not appear to be so slack, though at this seaseptember "Jewish Day," under date september 5th, proves that an order son of the year it is not usual to can be obtained from the Soviet Govwitness any great rush, and the ernment under satisfactory terms. We published a letter from the Monthe more marked, and are evidences of a shaking off of the 000 barrels of flour. True the opening price for Shore is not what it was in years when Newfoundland controlled the whole European market, but it is a fair indication that all the fish caught this season will be held in the Methodist College Hall on to-morrow night, when Miss Bentham, who is visiting St. John's in the interest of Dr. Barnardo's Homes will lecture on this philanthropic movement.

Mr. Curtis asks for an adjournment until Friday, Sept. 30th. If we can get the whole catch into market and disposed of within a reasonable period there will not be any repetition of last year's congestion at hor and abroad, and the clearing the whole voyage will have marked effect on next year prospects. The view taken by exporters of the probability of opening up trade with Russia does not appear to be roseate, though the correspondence, published yesterday, between the Board of Trade and the High
