Rafet refused. He agreed to a further discussion of the subject tomorrow, with the Allied Generals. Rafet's concession of the right of Allies to prosecute their nationals and his seeming spirit of conciliation has eased the anxious situation momentarily. In the original demands of the Kemalists, Allied subjects were liable to arrest and imprisonment by the Nationalist police.

WIRTH CABINET RESIGNS.

Definite announcement was made to-day that William Randolph Hearst has purchased the Washington Herald, a morning newspaper, giving Hearst interest in two daily newspapers in the national capital.

MOTHER!

Clean Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, a teaspoonful will help to open the bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation, sour bile and waste from the tender little bowels and gives you a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful to-day saves a sick child to-morrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Sea Noises.

There can be few noisier spots than the deck of a vessel groping its way along one of the busy sea routes in a fog or when heavy snow or rain storms make visibility poor.

Sirens, whistles, fog horns, bells, and drums contribute to what to the landsman is a mere chorus of mournful sounds. But to the mariner each sound has a distinct meaning and gives him definite information.

Each vessel in a fog must make its allotted noise, and even the lad who hammers a biscuit tin in a dinghy is carrying out the regulations, which prescribe that a boat of less than twenty tons shall make "some efficient sound-signal."

Broadly, steamships use a siren or whistle and sailing vessels a fog horn. The liner, for instance, as she feels her way through the darkness must announce her presence by one prolonged blast of her siren, from four to six seconds in duration, every two minutes—the recognised signal of a steamship under way.

If the captain decides that he cannot safely proceed, and stops his engines, he must change his signal to two prolonged blasts, with an interval of one second between them, every two minutes.

If he anchors he must silence the siren and send his message by the rapid clanging of a bell for five seconds every minute.

A signal which always causes a captain anxiety is one long and two short blasts on a siren every two minutes. It may warn him of one of three things, each fraught with danger for his vessel.

It may be the signal of a vessel under way but out of control—a dangerous neighbour at any time, but a deadly menace in a fog; it may mean a ship engaged in laying or picking up cable; or it may indicate that hazy noise of the fog-bound mariner—a ship that has another in tow.

The sailing vessel in a fog makes far more noise than the steamship. At least once every minute she must sound her fog horn, according to regulations—one blast when she is on the starboard tack, two blasts in quick succession on the port tack, and three blasts when the wind is abaft the beam.

Two or three sailing vessels in a fog-bank will make as much commotion as a fleet of steamships.

Ernest Shipman's Big Production.

"GOD'S CRUCIBLE" AT THE NICKEL TO-MORROW.

Ernest Shipman, the noted Canadian producer, who was in this city a few months ago in connection with the establishing of a Nfld. Film Producing Company, has made a number of big photoplays dealing with the great outdoors, and has not a failure opposite his name. Very few Motion Picture Producers can say the same. Patrons of the Nickel have already seen some of these pictures among which are "Nomads of the North," "Back to Polling Day in Great Britain.

Conservative Majority Estimated--Earthquake Again Shocks Chile--Death Toll Set at 1500--Rafet Pasha Amenable to Reason.

BRITISH ELECTIONS TO-DAY.
LONDON, Nov. 14.
The electorate of Great Britain will go to the polls to-morrow to pick a Parliament from 1386 candidates vying for seats in the House of Commons. In 313 constituencies the fight will be between two candidates. In 60 other constituencies the battle is complicated by the presence of three or more candidates. The wisest political seers seem uncertain of the general result.

UNOFFICIAL ESTIMATES.
LONDON, Nov. 14.
While political managers decline to make official predictions as to the result of tomorrow's elections, the Star succeeded to-day in getting unofficial estimates from various headquarters of the managers expected to be returned to the House of Commons. According to the Star the Independent Liberals claim 145 seats, the Conservatives 365, the Labourites 160, the National Liberals 75, the Conservatives 365, the Unionists of all sorts. These figures total 645 and it is apparent that only 615 seats are to be filled.

RESULTS WILL NOT BE KNOWN TILL TOMORROW.
LONDON, Nov. 14.
Lloyd George's own headquarters conceded unofficially 320 Conservative seats in the next Parliament, but still the former Prime Minister will have between fifty and one hundred devoted followers behind him, with defections from the Conservatives will suffice to throw out the Bonar Law Government if it stands the test. Bonar Law himself is expected to have a hard fight in Glasgow where George Paish has developed unexpected strength. Lloyd George's tour wound up triumphantly in Lancashire midlands, moving throughout the working class districts, that he is still the little hero. Whether or not this heroism will cash in with votes for his candidates is more than doubtful. His opponents say the hastily improvised Lloyd George organization which was not able to produce sufficient nominations will be equally inefficient in getting voters to the polls. The figures showing the final result of the elections will not be shown until Friday night or Saturday morning. Only 220 Constituencies count their votes tomorrow night.

CHILE HAS ANOTHER EARTHQUAKE.
SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 14.
Chile was again visited by earthquake shakes last night. Severe tremors were felt at Lasarena, the capital of Combuco, at eleven, and half an hour earlier the seaport of Constitucion, capital of the Province of Maule, was shaken, according to advices received here. The town of Curihual, consisting mostly of copper mines, is reported to have disappeared, but no mention is made of the loss of life. Advances from Antofagasta, filed at 9.30 in tonight, said a strong earth-shock was felt at Taltal, a seaport with several thousand of a population, a few miles from Antofagasta. Consternation grows as the extent of the damage is revealed. The number of dead grows hourly as reports come in and if not exaggerated the total number will be over fifteen hundred. Many towns and villages have not yet been heard from. The Chilean Government has asked Congress to grant a million and a half pesos for relief and the reestablishment of public services.

A NEW TERROR.
COPIAPO, Chile, Nov. 14.
Further terror was spread among the inhabitants of the district (extending by earthquake by a phenomenon last night like a great ribbon passed along the horizon overseas from South to North and repeated every two or three minutes.

BUENOS AIRES TO SEND RELIEF.
BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 14.
A relief committee has been organized here to go to the aid of the earthquake sufferers in Chile.

EASING UP IN CONSTANTINOPOLE.
CONSTANTINOPOLE, Nov. 14.
Rafet Pasha, Nationalist Governor of Constantinople, to-day conceded in principle the right of Allied forces to exercise police control over their own nationals. The Allies are understood to have pressed for similar jurisdiction over minority populations, but
