GRIEF AND HORROR CAST GLOOM OVER THE MURRELL HOME

Parents Unable To Comprehend Action of Sons—Both War Veterans.

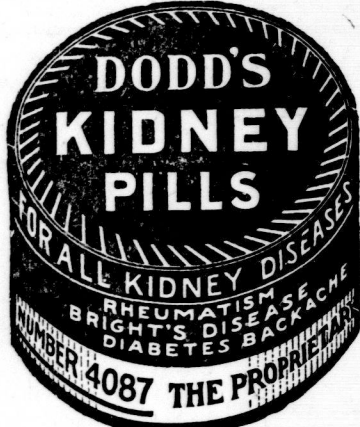

The home of Sydney and William Murrell, 216 Paddington street, presented a heart-rending scene last evening. The mother, father and ten brothers and sisters of the two boys were all at the home and told an Advertiser reporter that they could hardly believe the boys had committed such a deed.

"I cannot believe that Sydney would associate with such men," said his mother. "He was always a nice boy when around home and would do anything I wanted him to do. When I went to bed on Sunday evening he, Will and William were in the sitting room smoking and talking, and little did I think that the three of them were bound for such a thing."

Sydney enlisted in the Second Ammunition supply column in Toronto on November 21, 1914. Although he was only 15 years of age, he succeeded in going to England. In 1917 he deserted the army to join the navy. He was attached to the submarine fleet during the British attack on Saloniki. He was wounded while in service.

William joined the 33rd Battalion in this city on the same day his father did. He did not go overseas. He was 18 years old when he joined up.

A peculiar fact regarding the fatal shooting was made known last evening by the elder Murrell. Both were in training with the 33rd Battalion on Carling Heights prior to the regiment's departure for overseas.

LONDON CONVENTION EXCITES INTEREST OF GERMAN FIRM

Motor Club Secretary Gets Request For Photograph From Berlin.

It will be recalled that about a year ago attention was called to a device brought out by the public utilities department by which an appliance was fixed to a telegraph or telephone pole, and by means of this motors could be warmed up simply by attaching a tube. A photograph was taken of this apparatus placed in position by W. D. McGregor, who was on the staff of the hydro department at that time, and this picture has apparently attracted considerable attention in Europe. C. E. Bernard, secretary of the London Motor Club, has received a letter from the Atlantic Photo Company of Berlin, Germany, in which they inclosed a cut of the picture which had been reproduced in a Swiss newspaper, and asking Mr. Bernard to procure a copy of the photo, in which they were very much interested. Whether the secretary of the London Motor Club will comply with this request is another matter, but it is suggested that if this invention had made its appearance during the war, the kaiser might have found it useful during his hurried visits to various parts of the war zone.

ACTION DISMISSED IN COUNTY COURT

Litigation Over Sale of Automobile—Settlement in Two Cases.

An action brought into the county court by W. J. Gray of this city against R. W. Seed, also of London, over the sale of an automobile was dismissed with costs yesterday when it was tried before Judge Talbot Macbeth. Gray endeavored to regain the purchase money paid for a car which he bought from Seed on the grounds that the car was in bad condition when it came into his possession. J. M. McElroy appeared for Mr. Gray and J. B. McKillop defended Mr. Seed.

No announcement was made of the settlement of the action brought by the St. Marys Milling Company against Angus McMas of Elfrid Township. The plaintiffs claimed $316.33 as the rebate due them on the price paid the defendant for a car of wheat. It was alleged that there was a small shortage and that in addition it was necessary to reclean the grain with a certain amount of wastage. The defendant declared that there was no provision as to the quality of the grain.

Claiming breach of contracts which caused them damages to the extent of $348.50, M. White & Son reached a settlement with the defendants, the Brantford Metal Company. Originally the plaintiffs were given judgment on account of failure of the defendants to enter a defence but later, by consent of the parties, the Brantford company were allowed to put in a defence.

CLEVER PRODUCTION OF "THE OPEN DOOR"

One-Act Play Staged by the Drama League Enthusiastically Received.

When between 400 and 500 people crowded into the Croydon Memorial Parish Hall last evening to witness the presentation of Alfred Sutro's attractive one-act drama, "The Open Door," by J. Stanley Meredith and Mrs. Lynne-Evans, it was a public announcement that the London Drama League had increased its membership to an enormous extent during the past few weeks, for every one of the audience was a member. And rumor has it that also a large percentage of the new membership was unable to present last night.

The presentation of the play, however, and a dramatic reading of Browning's poem, "Toccato di Galluppi," which preceded it, further proclaimed publicly that the Drama League is an institution worthy of support, because it stands for the study of drama in its most artistic form.

"The Open Door" is a masterpiece of chaste dramatic art, and it had a beautiful setting last night, when into the "blue room" of the play, were whimsically introduced the old gothic windows of the church hall. Mrs. Lynne-Evans, as Lady Torminster, was a brilliant interpreter of the part. Her delightful language, her poise and her temperament made itself felt upon her audience, impressing them subtly with the character of the woman she portrayed.

Mrs. Lynne-Evans is a consummate artist, not only in the "getting-across" of her lines, and in her stage presence, but in the simple art of smoking a cigarette. J. Stanley Meredith, playing opposite her, was seen in a role such as the London public has not seen him in since the days of the governor-general's competition many years ago, and in which the London public might well wish to see him soon again. As "Sir Geoffrey Transome," the only other actor in the play, his work was indeed excellent. Still further to his credit goes the plans for the exquisite stage setting and the direction of the play.

The theme of the play is the common one of love for another man's wife, but with this difference, the little drama is played with an "open door" and bridled passion, finding its close in a chaste "farewell." At its exquisite little play in an exquisite setting, exquisitely well done, is what can be said of it.

The presentation of the Browning selection was also a piece of dramatic art. It was introduced by a delightful paper on the "Toccato di Galluppi" by Miss Grace Blackburn, who directed the presentation. Miss Gladys Wright acted as the reader, while prophetic voices from the scene rang forth from the dimly-lit stage, and then Miss Helen Baker, Miss Shirley White, Rev. G. Q. Warner, Mr. Reynolds and Bateman Edmonds were speaking. The musical accompaniment to the whole was beautifully rendered by Miss Madeline Simson. A group of piano numbers from Debussy by Miss Madeline Simson and a tenor solo, "Mother Earth," by Rev. G. Q. Warner, brought this most excellent program to a close. A pretty feature of the evening was the presentation of a large armful of roses to Mrs. Lynne-Evans and to Miss Grace Blackburn.

INFORMATION WITHHELD ON RAILWAY MEETING

Further Conference Between Company and Employees Likely This Week.

While a permanent wage agreement between the street railway company and its employees is believed to be nearer as a result of a conference of the company and union officials Monday afternoon, definite information has been withheld.

Another conference will be held in an attempt to reach final settlement, probably this week. No definite date has been set.

Manager C. B. King would make no statement as to whether any proposals from the company in regard to wages were submitted at the Monday meeting.

"DRYS" MAY APPEAL TO POLICE TO STOP WINDLE SPEAKING

Some Prohibitionists, However, Favor Equal Opportunity For Opposition Meetings.

The last regular meeting of the London Prohibition Association was held on Monday in the Bank of Toronto Building, when final arrangements were made for the voting day. It was suggested by some of the members that an outstanding speaker be brought to the city to address a mass meeting prior to the voting day. Hon. E. C. Drury was mentioned as being asked to come, or Hon. N. W. Rowell. The publicity committee was given power to act upon any of the suggestions or obtain a speaker other than those mentioned.

In the matter of Charles Windle coming to the city in the interests of the Liberty League, the association frowned somewhat on a man of the calibre of Windle being allowed to speak in the city. It was suggested by some that an appeal to the chief of police be made to prevent him from speaking, but others were in favor of letting the opposition have the same opportunity as themselves in bringing speakers to the city. The temperance leaders, however, will make known the character of Windle through the medium of newspaper advertising.

An appeal will be made in all pulpits next Sunday for every voter to visit the polls and vote "Fes" for prohibition. The temperance forces are anxious that an overwhelming majority will be the result of the vote, and so give a decisive victory for the cause. Emergent meetings will be the order of the day for the London Prohibition Association until the day of the vote.

It was reported that cards had been received by some people telling them that their names were not on the list, and that they could not vote, when it was understood that these names were on the list. These are thought to have been sent out by the opposition.

RATEPAYERS WANT INVESTIGATION OVER KNOLLWOOD SEWERS

Largely Attended Meeting Protests Against High Frontage Taxes.

Investigation by the city council of the cost of the Knollwood Park sewer system was demanded by a largely-attended meeting of the ratepayers in that district at a meeting in the Knollwood Presbyterian Church last night. The case will not be brought before the council, however, until the court of revision has made a decision in the matter.

Ratepayers believe that the court has no jurisdiction in the matter, and that they will have to lay their claims directly before the council, but they were willing to wait the efforts of the court to settle the matter.

The citizens at the meeting claimed that the sewer system laid there recently was to be charged for at the rate of $2.98 a foot frontage, or $5.96 for both sides of the street. The actual charge for it was $11.10, it is said. For a 25-foot lot it would cost $28.54 a year for ten years, they said, or more than the prices of $17.50 which was paid for the lot. One citizen, who bought four lots for $100 will have to pay $800 frontage taxes on them, he said.

Ald. F. R. Watkinson was the only member of the city council present, although several others were invited. A resolution, thanking him for his interest in the matter, was passed by the meeting.

TAKE CARE OF THAT COUGH

Some people get a nasty cough and don't pay much attention to it, saying: "Oh, it will wear away in a short time," but while it may wear off, serious injury may have been done to the lungs and respiratory organs by the prolonged, harsh, racking coughing.

On the first sign of a cough or cold get a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It will stop that nasty, troublesome cough, ease the tightness across the chest, and loosen the phlegm.

Mrs. Wm. Earnshaw, Apsley, Ont., writes: "Last winter I caught a bad cold, had a sore throat and a terrible hacking cough that I could not get rid of. I could not sleep at night. I tried quite a few remedies, but they did not do me much good until I got Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. By the time I had taken two bottles, my cough was all gone. I feel that Dr. Wood's has no equal."

When you get Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, you are not experimenting with new and untried remedy, but one that has a reputation extending over thirty years.

Pup up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price 35c and 60c a bottle, manufactured only by The T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.
