CHRONIC LARYNGHTIS.

past is years by our new system of Medicated Inhala ion, combined with proper constitutional remedies for the blood, etc.

Latyrgitis, like nearly all affections of the throat and nose, usually begins with a severe cold, and is must always attended with hoarzeness. It is more frequent a mere extension of catarrh of sore throat than an original disease, the irritation escaping down and fixing itself upon the delicate organism of this part, and then gradually journeying onward to the lungs. When it occurs as a consequence of catarrh or sore throat the symptoms are comparatively mild. There may be pain, but it is more common to find only a sense of tickling, which provokes cough. Many complain of a sensation as of something tickling there, to get rid of which they keep up a r-sping effort to clear the windpipe. The voice is always more or less affected, being rough in the early stage, but more feeble after the disease is established. There is often a slight tendenses over that prominence of the neck known as the "Apple of Adam" (Pomum Adum), a heat and a sense of tightness, and frequently some slight difficulty in swallowing.

In this form the disease is simple and readily removed in a few weeks. In all cases it must be treated by the direct application of astringents and alternatives by inhalation to the affected parts. Like catarrh and granular sore throat, it is a local affection and can only be cured by local treatment. There is no use of torturing the unoffending stomach for an inflamed condition of the vocal chords of the larynx. Change of air is equally unavailing, for there is no climate without dust and daughts of air sufficient to feed and keep the disease must be used morning and evening and every night before going to bed, and the larynx fumigated by warm, sedative vapors. Treated by these means there are few cases of Chronic Laryngitis which are not readily curable.

Inhalation is the only system which will cure entirely different. In the one we must allay the irritation, while in the other we must al THE TAYLOR PRINTING COMPANY NO. 92 irritation, while in the other we must stimulate a healthy action.

This will convince us of the necessity of fully understanding the system of Medicated Inalation in the treatment of the various diseases of the pulmonary organs, for when properly applied there is no system of medicine to be compared to it.

Those who desire treatment should spend no time in writing; if you can come to the Institute this month or this week it may be of the greatest possible value to you; it may be the turning point of your disease for fatality or recovery. RIOTING IN DUBLIN.

Rioting broke out on College street at 9 30 this morning. The mob was very vielent. Some of the policemen who remained on duty at College street station were brought out in a body, but they were obliged to retire before the mob. Troops have been sent to the scene of riot, as there are no police or special constables in Dublin, and the mob has complete possession of the city.

INDIGNATION OF THE MEN. On hearing of the dismissals some of the policemen on duty tore off their badges and swore they would not do duty until their companions were reinstated.

An approximate report from the demonstration committee was read. It gave the results as follows: gross receipts $900, expenditure $270, leaving a net balance of $630, together with some 640 tickefs yet to be accounted for by three unions. The treasurer reported that from his information he hoped to be able to make a final report at next meeting. The report was after some discussion received.

Under the head of correspondence the secretary read the following communication: urged.

MADAM'S SPRECH.

The woman is clever in more ways than one; her speech to the crowd was good but it was terribly butchered by the ex-minstrel singer who acts as interpreter. He' should be suppressed forthwith. She had been reading The World of yesterday and she took up the references to herself. A free translation of her remaks would run thus:

"They say that 1 am a charlatan; I am the daughter of the most celebrated physician in Italy. I am the seventh daughter, and I alone of the seven possess the gift. There is not another person, whether in Italy or Spain, or France, or England who can equal me. MORE TRETH DRAWING.

She thereupon began pulling teeth and operated on a dozen persons, drawing perhaps twenty-five dents. Everyone was clean and unbroken. Some of them were "molairs" of formidable size, and for these woman had seven cut and said she had suffered no pain. The business of teeth pulling has an amusing aspect, when viewed from a professional point of view. As soon as the forceps are inserted in the mouth she motions the band, who strike up a bar from "The Siren Wa'tz," or "When the Leaves Begin to Turn," which is supposed to act as solace for the patient and suppress when the day assault arrives, as we shall applause from the crowd.
