De St. Georges motion is knocked sky-high, and the Parliament of Canada has put itself on record as unquivocally opposed to Unrestricted Reciprocity, if not Commercial Union. In a house of 191 the Government came out with a majority of 57. It was a stirring night around the corridors of the House; all the excitement, or more properly speaking; fun, was in the cor-ridors and various resorts of the great building. Inside the chamber itself there was very little to attract attention. The speakers, as it were, sawed the air to deserted benches. Even the reporters would not listen to them. Hour by hour the night stole on, and hour by hour the crators held forth. One after the other they addressed themselves to the Hanard reporters alone. One by one they retold the dreary tale of Canada's woe, or on the other hand of the Dominion's greatness, fullness or prosperity. When Mr. Prefontaine had concluded a two-bours' talk in French, he

The Misses Hall of Sherbrooke, who are not straingers at the Queen City, remained in the House until about 1 o'clock; they did not "wait for the division," which seemed to be the watchword of the evening. For a certainty had not the ladies been there the night would have seemed a week. "God bless the ladies."

A Brokes Arrangement.

It had been arranged between the leaders that debate was to close at 3 o'clock ex-for several of them strolling into the chamber after midnight dressed in claw-hammers and white ties; some of them had been to Government House and others to private suppers. It was a novel spectacle to see an hon. M. P. getting up in his seat at 5 o'clock in the morning to wote on an important trade resolution, his figure fine made more resplendent in a full tress suit.

The reason that the debate extended over the time was this: Mr. Gillmor of Charlotte, N.B., was to be the last speaker. Mr. Prefontaine did not know of the arrangement, as he had strayed away from the gaze of the whips. Dropping suddenly into the chamber had been compared to imprisonment who was yesterday sentenced to imprisonment who was yesterday sentenced to imprisonment.

When Mr. Gillmor had stopped talking, Mr. Prefontaine spraing up like a jumping-inck and went at it in French he took his seat. When Mr. Gillmor had stopped talking, Mr. Prefontaine sprang up like a jumping-jack and went at it in French at a 2.10 clip. Nothing could stop him. This delayed the vote tor over an hour and called for an explanation from Whip Trow.

At 4.10 the division bells began to jingle all over the building. The whips salied forth to "call in the members." This takes about 15 minutes as a rule. While they were scurrying around the corridors the members who had

The Motion and Amendments. There was Sir Richard Cartwright's original motion, Mr. Foster's amendment and Mr. Jones' (Halifax) amendment to the amendment. They are as follows:

Sir Richard's motion-Sir Kichard's motion—

In Memoriam.
In Elm-street Methodist Church yesterday norning Rev. D. G. Sutherland, the pastor, preached an in memoriam service in relation to the late Mrs. Score and Mr. W. D. Matthews. He preached from the words, "There remainest therefore a rest for the people of God," and made reference to the life and labors of those whose recent decease had occasioned grief in many circles. The service was very impressive.

Robert Cochran received this despatch from his New York agents to-day:

New York agents to-day:

New York April 7.—Bulls were in high glee last night, They said that the position of the president is now clearly defined, and that whether he signs or vetoes the bond purchasing bill with the bank amendment, the fact remains that both Senare and the House agree that he has power to authorize the secretary of the treasury to buy bonds, and that this in itself will be sufficient to tump, people to become active in the market. The consequences must inevitally be that parties who hold Government bonds, falling to get the price they attach to their possessions, will sail them at market values, and relayest the proceeds in our first-class mortgages, or will buy dividend or other stocks. It is thought that Gould is behind the market. A improvement is looked for in the bank statement to day. Buying by Europe has been made light of, the certainty that the market has passed from a period of darkness to a period of sunshine. Commission people don't see why there should not be a general advance of many points. WALL-STREET GOSSIP.

At 4.10 the division bells began to jingle all over the building. The whips sallied forth to "call in the members." This takes about 15 minutes as a rule. While they were sourrying around the corridors, the members who had already gathered in the chamber were seized with a vocal vim. Mr. Jones of Gaspe led in "Brigadier" and Major Prior of Victoria (B.C.) "favored the House and galleries" with "The Midshipmite." Everybody joined in, and the fun was kept up until the whips seturn. Then the memorable vote was taken.
